LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE BRINGS GOAL NEAR

TWO BILLIONS WILL BE SUBSCRIBED BY END OF THIS WEEK

Saturday Night Set for the Attainment of That Figure and It Is Now Believed in Sight.

RETURNS SHOW EFFECT OF EFFORT

Washington, Oct. 19.—The Liberty Loan campaign continued its gains today and treasury officials announced that many estimates placed the total so far subscribed at about $1,750,000,000 and "within striking distance" of the $2,000,000,000 hoped for by Saturday night.

Unofficial figures made public by the department show that a minimum of $1,535,000,000 had been subscribed up to the close of business Wednesday night. The officials were optimistic that the $5,000,000,000 mark would be obtained at the close of the campaign October 27.

"More than $2,000,000,000 in subscriptions by Saturday night," today's announcement says, "is the rallying cry to liberty loan workers being echoed from coast to coast. Revelations that the combined totals of all districts are within striking distance of this mark—possibly up to $1,750,000,000—have given new courage to working committees and renewed their determination to attain the maximum of $5,000,000,000 by the close of the campaign Oct. 27.

"Many estimates placed the total for the country today at above $1,750,000,000. It may not have reached that point, but it certainly is well above $1,500,000,000. A carefully compiled total based on conservative estimates of sales yesterday and unofficially reported shows that a minimum of $1,535,000,000 has been established.

"Here are the unofficial figures: New York, $560,000,000; Chicago, $300,000,000; Cleveland, $115,000,000; Philadelphia, $115,000,000; Boston, $110,000,000; St. Louis, $80,000,000; Hammond, $75,000,000; Kansas City, $60,000,000; San Francisco, $50,000,000; Minneapolis, $45,000,000; Atlanta, $40,000,000; Dallas, $15,000,000."

HELD UMBRELLA IN FRONT OF HIS FACE

Joe January, foreigner, living at 215 Superior street, walked against an automobile Thursday evening, when he crossed Calhoun street at Lewis street, with an umbrella before his face. He was knocked down and sustained painful injuries. He suffers from a broken finger and many body bruises.

O. N. Crusier, 312 Lexington avenue, driver of the automobile, claims that January was responsible for the accident. The foreigner was taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where he is being treated.

SETTING UP ALIBI FOR BERNSTORFF IN BOLO PASHA AFFAIR

Amsterdam, Oct. 19.—Count von Bernstorff did not know Bolo Pasha, the Frenchman held as a spy in France, according to the Tageblatt. Discussing the Bolo affair, the newspaper says:

"In connection with the Bolo Pasha episode and the disclosures of Secretary Lansing concerning the part alleged to have been played by Ambassador von Bernstorff and Foreign Secretary von Tschammer and Arndt, we are informed by a reliable source that the ambassador did not have recourse to sources in the United States which might have been at the disposal of official quarters here.

"It is also established that the name of Bolo Pasha was never made known to von Bernstorff and his banker intermediaries did not mention him. Consequently the passage in the alleged telegram published by Secretary Lansing in which von Jagow asked von Bernstorff 'What is new about Bolo Pasha?' is false."

In a statement President Farrington said his action was prompted by a desire to save the miners of Illinois from industrial conscription, which he said would follow if paralysis of the coal mining industry continued.

Mr. Farrington's statement follows: "Reports coming to my office are

SUSPECT A PLOT TO BLOW UP U.S. ARMY TRANSPORT

New York, Oct. 19.—An alleged plot to blow up a United States transport is believed to have been frustrated when the police arrested today a Scandinavian charged with attempting to bribe a ship mechanic to go aboard the vessel.

The man arrested is Charles Wallman, a pauper, employed on a yacht owned by Harry Payne Whitney. The transport is a former German liner seized when the United States entered the war.

FORT WAYNE MEN HUNT SCREECH OWL

Something New Takes the Place of Old Stunt of Hunting Snipe.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 19.—The hunting of snipe is passe with Bluffton jokers and the hunting of screech owls is the rage. This stunt was brought into use at "Camp Baumgartner," two miles west of Linn Grove, where Bluffton men and their friends have been camping the last few days.

Dr. Miles F. Porter, Jr., and his brother, Charles Porter, of Fort Wayne, were the victims. Three times were the two young men led into the woods near the camp to shoot a screech owl, which they heard and each time they returned without their game. Orin Baumgartner carried the lantern for them, but, of course, was not able to help them in their hunt.

It was after the third hunt through the woods and when all the campers were sitting around the camp that Harry Starr of this city let out a "screech owl" call and the Fort Wayne visitors then tumbled.

Camp Baumgartner is located along the Wabash and is fitted up in fine shape for the fishermen. Dr. Miles Porter, Sr., of Fort Wayne, was also a guest at the camp, along with 25 Bluffton men.

UP TO CONSUMER TO KEEP PRICES DOWN TO REASON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—Unreasonable discrepancies between prevailing wholesale and retail prices on foodstuffs may be reduced materially if the consumer brings sufficient pressure to bear, Food Administrator Hoover admitted in an announcement in the approaching end of the high prices period. A gradual price decline is predicted between now and the end of the year. The stability of the food administration to act in the case of retailers doing a business of less than $100,000 a year, makes it impossible to control the great bulk of retailers.

Summary of the Day's War News

Russia's capital is soon to be removed to its ancient site at Moscow. The government's announcement of its decision to shift its activities from Petrograd to Moscow has been met with enthusiasm. The assurance simultaneously, however, of a statement that the civilian population of Reval, the Russian naval base on the Gulf of Finland, is being removed to the interior suggests that the decision was not unopposed by the German threat against Petrograd now being developed in the naval and military operations in the Gulf of Riga and northward.

Previous suggestions that the removal of the government to Moscow was contemplated had reference not only to the military situation but to the assumption that the government might be freed to pursue its work in Moscow than in the present capital, where extremist influences at powerful and turbulence more difficult of suppression.

While the small fleet the Russians had in Riga waters apparently has been penned in by the Germans as a result of their operations on Oesel and Moon islands and the disposition of their superior naval forces as strategic points off the gulf, the main Russian fleet remains in the Gulf of Finland, through which runs the water route to Petrograd. There is apparently no intention of sending it out to engage the Germans although the men of the fleet are reported anxious to fight.

On the western fighting front the French have been engaged in some intensive operations in the Alsace region centering in the district south and southwest of Laon. Extensive raids have been carried out after the guns had prepared the way and several scores of prisoners have been brought in by the French infantrymen who likewise inflicted notable damage while they were within the German lines.

The activity of the German infantry along the French front was apparently confined last night to the Verdun region. Here another local attack was made by the French lines east of the Meuse which the French repulsed.

Field Marshal Haig's report from the Flanders front today gave little idea of what is occurring in the important fighting area. Only the activity of the German artillery at certain points was mentioned. Berlin's statement, however, indicates that an extremely severe bombardment is in progress in Flanders, the area where the British gun fire is intensive, taking in the German lines.

Gathering Up Small Supplies.

New York, Oct. 19.—With wholesale sources of supply virtually shut off, and refiners unable to get the material, New York is threatened with a sugar famine. Many stores have been without sugar for several days and those dealers who have a supply on hand are limiting sales to a few pounds to each customer.

Alarmed at the scarcity many housewives went about the city buying a pound or two and carrying it home as fast as they could find it.

Prices have gone up and some sales as high as 15 cents a pound have been reported. Henry Moskowitz, the newly appointed city commissioner of markets, is trying to get the situation straightened out.

PENNSY MEN GIVE $33,800

Wonderful Spirit of Patriotism Being Shown by Boys in the Shops.

The men of the Pennsylvania shops are setting a splendid example of patriotic loyalty at the very beginning of the second liberty loan campaign. Even now, with the start of the bond sale several days away, the purchases made by the men in the Fort Wayne shops begin to approach the total of the first sale. Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, in describing the enthusiastic response of the Pennsylvania men, said this morning:

"Up to last evening a total of $33,800 worth of liberty bonds had been purchased by a comparatively few of the men in our departments. When we consider that the entire amount of the last sale among our men amounted to $50,000, it is easy to see that we will far outstrip the former effort. Only 529 men represent the amount already subscribed. We have made arrangements this time, also, that the Allen county will get the credit for the sale of the bonds to the local men. We believe our organization is a good one for the conduct of the campaign. First we held meetings of the foremen, gang foremen and others. Yesterday, following the meeting addressed by S. M. Foster and Harry H. Hilgemann, the real work started. At 1 o'clock today a meeting was held at the east car shops, followed at 4:30 by a meeting of the day round house men and at 8 o'clock by a gathering of the night round house men. Every man is shown the advantages of owning a liberty bond. We have arranged for payments in ten installments, the payments on the new bonds not to start until the holders have paid for their former bond purchases. The payments will be deducted regularly from the wages of the men who buy the bonds. Every present holder is urged to invest again. The seventy-five men in the operating department of the road on the division between Gary and Bucyrus will be visited personally by two special representatives who start out today. Also, every agent and office employee along the road, as well as the telegraph operators, car inspectors, engineers, firemen, brakemen, signal repair men, signal maintainers and all others employed along the system."

Mr. Griest added that in some departments where the work is progressing, the response is 100 per cent. strong.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company last week subscribed a total of $150,000 to the liberty loan campaign. The company's total subscription for the first sale was $150,000. The company's subscription for the second sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the third sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the fourth sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the fifth sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the sixth sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the seventh sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the eighth sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the ninth sale is $150,000. The company's subscription for the tenth sale is $150,000.

GOVERNMENT TO BE SHIFTED TO ANCIENT SEAT

Menace of the German Advance Has Caused Decision to Abandon Petrograd as Capital.

ROMANOFFS IN VERY HUMBLE ESTATE

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—The government has definitely determined to move to Moscow in the very near future. The newspapers publish an official announcement that the evacuation of the fortified port of Reval on the Baltic at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland has begun.

The schools at Reval have been closed. The inhabitants of the city are being sent to the interior of Russia. Announcement that the government will move to Moscow was made today by M. Kishkin, minister of public welfare.

After the capture of Riga by the Germans preparations for removal of the government to Moscow were begun. The failure of the Germans to develop their offensive after taking Riga, as well as the approach of winter weather making open campaigning impracticable, relieves the fear for the safety of Petrograd for the near future. Last week announcement was made that the preparations for transferring the seat of government had been stopped, as there was no prospect that such action would be necessary, at least for some time. The new offensive operations by the Germans, resulting in the capture of Oesel and Moon islands and the threat of an invasion of Estonia, again changed the situation, however, and may be responsible for the decision to remove the government to Moscow, the ancient capital. The turbulent political conditions in Petrograd and the presence there of large numbers of extremists and agitators may also have influenced the cabinet.

Reval, a town of about 55,000, two hundred miles southwest of Petrograd, is a naval station and with Helsingfors and Hangö on the northern coast of the Gulf of Finland guards the approaches to the gulf. The landing of German forces on the Estonian coast would menace this town from the rear.

ROMANOFFS USE FOOD CARD.

WIND REACHED A

Lives Lost and Much Damage to Property in Caribbean.

Georgetown, Grand Cayman, British West Indies, Sept. 29.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The island of Grand Cayman was visited by the most violent hurricane in its history on Sept. 24.

Wind of great velocity, a heavy rain and giant breakers on the Caribbean sea combined in a damaging shipping and property.

The property loss, exclusive of shipping, is estimated at $300,000. Two lives were lost. A watchman of a vessel in the harbor was swept into the raging sea and an old woman was crushed to death in the ruins of her home.

The damage to crops of all kinds as well as that to property was greater than in the hurricane of 1876 and the cyclone of 1903.

The outbreak of the tempest was preceded by a sharp change in barometric and atmospheric conditions. From September 13 on there were thunderstorms and the clouds were to be very dense. There were few breezes from the sea and the daily maximum temperature was from 85 to 90 degrees in the shade. To add to the unpleasantness the island was visited by a plague of mosquitoes a few days before the storm broke. In preparation for the expected storm, all the vessels in the roadstead of Georgetown were removed to the great sound on the northside of the island.

September 24 broke dark and dreary. The wind increased in velocity and here indicated that the meager supplies are held by retailers and that many places dealers are refusing to sell more than one pound to a customer. The sugar beet harvest is a long way off the west and the beet sugar to be manufactured in the west is not expected to be available until the middle of next year.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 21

THE TEMPLE REBUILT AND DEDICATED.

LESSON TEXT—Ezra 3:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise.—Psalms 100:4.

The remnant which returned had now become settled in their new homes. As it would be a considerable time before the temple could be rebuilt, arrangement was made for the religious life as early as possible, as religion was the very heart of the nation's life. They first set up the altar of the God of Israel (3:1-3) and offered burnt offerings thereon. They next revived the annual festivals (3:4-7) which had a powerful unifying influence upon them.

I. The Appointment of Officers to Set Forward the Work of the Lord's House (v. 8, 9). Overseers were needed to direct this great work. Rubbish needed to be cleared away so the building operations could begin; timber needed to be cut in the Lebanon forests and floated down to Joppa; stones needed to be cut from the quarries; intelligent and consecrated men were needed to direct this work, as it was needful that it be done with the utmost expedition. The Lord's house demands the most systematic adjustment of its labors. Mere zeal will not make up for lack of intelligence.

II. The Foundation of the Temple Laid (3:10-13). This was done amid great rejoicing. The consciousness that the Lord's house was taking shape, even though the mere foundations could be seen, provoked great enthusiasm on the part of the people. Musicians were appointed to furnish music while the work was being done. Under the influence of music men will do better work, armies will march and fight better when bands are playing. While there was great joy, there was also mingled sorrow. This was on the part of the elders who had seen the former temple. The meanness of the present temple in comparison with Solomon's temple caused their praise to be drowned with their sorrow. These people belonged to that class who think that nothing now is so good as in the former days. So completely were these voices commingled that the people could not discern the one from the other.

III. The Building of the Temple Delayed by Opposition. (Chapters 4 and 5). For a time matters went smoothly with them, but as soon as the work had taken such shape as to show that there was some prospect of success, the half-hearted Samaritans began to oppose them. No vital work of God will be allowed to go on without opposition. Satan resents and bitterly opposes all inroads upon his kingdom. These Samaritans sought to frustrate this work of God by:

(1) An Alliance With the Jews (4:2, 3). They wanted to bring the work in harmony with their own religious practices, as God's pure worship would be a constant rebuke to them. This is ever the way of the world, to seek to effect a compromise with God's children; but God's call is separation. "Come out from among them" (2 Cor. 6:14-18). Nothing so weakens God's cause as worldly alliance and compromise. There is but one answer to be given to such an offer of compromise. "Ye have nothing to do with us in building a house unto our God." We are in the world, but not of the world.

(2) Weakening the Hands of the People (4:4). Doubtless this included the withdrawal of supplies, the spreading of dissension among the workmen, and the employment of counselors against them.

(3) Letters of Accusation to the Persian King (4:6, 7). So severe was this opposition that the building was delayed for a term of years. These counselors succeeded in creating doubt as to whether Cyrus had ever issued a decree for their return. This wicked opposition resulted in the undoing of the opposers, for search was made and a copy was found. Darius confirmed this by his own decree, and directed that aid be given from the royal treasury so that the house of God might be built.

IV. The Temple Completed and Dedicated (6:14-18). The prophets Haggai and Zechariah now appear, and by warnings, exhortations and entreaties stir up the people so that the work goes forward to a successful completion. Without their aid probably the work would never have been completed. Human nature at times needs to be cheered and urged forward. These prophets did not themselves work in the building of the walls, yet their work was of even greater importance.

It is generally found that this is so with the religious leaders today. The words of cheer and encouragement of the Christian minister are needed daily for those who labor in the building of the Lord's house. Were it not for them many would give up the struggle. When the building was finished it was dedicated to God with great joy. This was possible because they had builded and finished their task according to the commandment of the God of Israel. The service of dedication was much after the order of that of Solomon's temple, only on a less magnificent scale.

A TARDY DENIAL.

In an affidavit Anselm Fuelber denies that at the Harmar school Cutshall meeting Monday night he used the language imputed to him in respect of the war. In affidavits four of the men present on that occasion—two of them candidates on the republican ticket and another a republican officeholder—affirm that Mr. Fuelber did not employ the words ascribed to him.

It has been charged that Mr. Fuelber said: "I am in favor of anything to get us out of this dilemma into which President Wilson has led us."

It should be borne in mind that the speech in question was delivered Monday night. The first publication of it was Tuesday morning. In its several editions of Tuesday The Sentinel carried editorial reference to the matter in form that was conspicuous and of tenor to arrest attention. On Wednesday morning there was further newspaper reference to what Mr. Fuelber is alleged to have said. The same day The Sentinel made further conspicuous editorial comment on the objectionable words it has been reported Mr. Fuelber had used.

It is not until Thursday that any attempt is made to refute the ascription of those words to Mr. Fuelber or to publish his denial or to furnish him the exoneration of the testimony of others. Thursday afternoon Mr. Fuelber came to The Sentinel editorial rooms and said he had "heard The Sentinel had printed something about his speech" on the day previous. A matter that for three days had been the town talk and the incitement to a furious indignation appeared to have but reached his ears, just as it appears to have just come to the attention of Mr. Cutshall and his campaign managers.

Why all this delay to deny and refute a charge and disclaim speech that if not falsely ascribed was damnable and damning? If Mr. Fuelber did not give speech to the sentiments it has been charged he did he could have as readily have set himself right in the columns of this newspaper on Tuesday as he did on Thursday.

Was there fear that by denial offense would be given to the handful of men in Fort Wayne who would approve and applaud such a sentiment if it were uttered? Did Mr. Fuelber at first think that what he declares is a distortion of his words had made a hit that might very well be left to stand? Did Mr. Cutshall and Mr. Cutshall's managers in the campaign for three days hold the matter similarly in view?

It is a strange, suspicious and unaccountable tardiness that has marked the steps taken to deny the words imputed to Mr. Fuelber.

There is the appearance that it was thought the sentiment was a good thing to have been said even though it had not been uttered and that at first there was the purpose to let the thing stand as it had been stated and "get by" with it.

IT DOESN'T REACH.

In another column of this page space is given to a statement by Mr. W. S. Cutshall, republican candidate for mayor.

It will be observed that Mr. Cutshall has begun to thunder somewhat in the index.

It will not so greatly matter as to that, however, if he make out in it to do what it is required of him to do.

The theatrical indignation that has been written for Mr. Cutshall will not cause a great deal of excitement. His literary man is pulling old stuff for him, albeit arriving at the liar and knave stage of the game a bit prematurely.

Mr. Cutshall nevertheless gets a step closer to what the loyal people of this city would have him say than he has made out to do on any occasion heretofore. But his declaration does not yet reach.

Are we "in bad" in the war, are we making strife wantonly and without warrant upon a government whose favor we should curry and whose mercy we should seek, or are we in a righteous war for the support of our national dignity, for the recognition of our national rights and for the security of our national future? What is Mr. Cutshall's view of the crisis as to those things?

In common we all honor the patriotism, the courage and the valor of Mr. Cutshall's father and uncles. They were good men and true and when duty called they answered. But Mr. Cutshall must speak for himself and we hope he yet will speak with certainty and fullness.

His patriotism has not been aspersed. He has not been "brutally insulted." Nor has he, we opine, spoken his last word upon this subject. It is an issue that cannot be dismissed until he has said as his opponent has said and as loyal citizens of this republic agree and proclaim that this war is a righteous war for the honor and safety of this beloved republic.

A half dozen words from Mr. Cutshall will dismiss the issue as a question in this municipal campaign and bring him and his opponent and the great masses of the parties of both of them wholly and heartily at one for the cause that is dearer to us all than victory at the polls or the possession of the offices.

Let Mr. Cutshall do that. Let him set his face fast and bravely against disloyalty and the support of disloyalists.

There is going to be no pussyfooting in this campaign for the favor and support of a few men whose hearts and hopes are fixed on the triumph of the Hohenzollern.

WHAT'S ON THE FLAG?

What poison has got on our flag that in this supreme crisis of the republic's life a republican candidate repulses it as an impropriety and indecency for him to uphold it before the people as the thing that next after the Almighty Father must be first in their devotions?

What ignominy has there come to be in talking during times like these of the great travail of the nation and the duty of all patriots in the stress that has come upon us?

In darkening hours when danger threatens and perils beset the way, the duty of leaders is to lead. The duty of those who would set themselves over us is to counsel us to our inescapable work, to encourage us to our sacred tasks.

Mr. Cutshall says he scorns to wrap himself in the flag. Well, let him then "uplift it high, unfurl it wide that all the world may know" that in this time when the souls of men are tried and the republic's very existence is at stake there are faithful hands to bear aloft the glorious ensign for whose honor a million of the nation's sons are in arms.

The republic's fate will not be much determined by what happens as to this municipal election. It will be determined by the spirit and devotion of its people.

Mr. Cutshall will not offend good taste, he will not offend propriety, he will not offend decency, he will not offend loyalty by taking Old Glory in his hands wherever he goes. He will offend no one save those in whose hearts is the poison of disloyalty.

The miners have been admonished that it is a case of produce coal or go to work for the government at thirty dollars a month. They may not like to do either, but there is no doubt which horn of the dilemma will be chosen by them. The country must have fuel and the miners must produce it from the mines. The question of fair wages is important, but it does not transcend the critical situation in which millions of people and even the government itself now faces.

Alien Born and the Liberty Bond

Never before in any connection have citizens of foreign birth or extraction been better organized than they are for the second Liberty Loan campaign. In Chicago alone the foreign-language division of Liberty Loan campaigners numbers more than 2,000, and committees are being organized in every one of the 500 counties of the seventh federal reserve district.

"The foreign division of the campaign workers," says Nels M. Hokanson, secretary of the foreign-language division of the Liberty Loan executive committee of the seventh federal reserve district, "will give such a good account of itself in the matter of rolling up subscriptions for Liberty bonds that the entire country will take its hat off to it. In all directions the enthusiasm and patriotism are pronounced, and the various nationalities will be solicited much more thoroughly than they were in the first campaign. On all sides there is a determination to prove that the foreign-born have the interests of the nation as much at heart as the native-born. The fellow who came over and took out his papers wants to show that the American blood in him is just as patriotic as that in the veins of the chap who came with pride to the fact that his people arrived in this land."

THE TRANSFER CORNER

By R E M

"Fare, please! All the glad ones, and the sad ones; all the good ones, and the bad ones—get on here!"

"GOODBY, SOLDIER!"

Let us don our soldier clothes, and forth to war be faring;
Roll the drums adown the streets—our bugles sound, "Advance!"
Kit and khaki we'll put on, for sad and savage wearing—
Take warm things to wrap us in, some-bloody-where in France!

Let the great bells clang, and blow the whistles—we are going!
Sound the loud alarms, we are marching to our goal!
Sweethearts, let us have our kiss—ah, how your tears are flowing—
Christ, it's grand to be a man, and quickstep off to war!

Now, the preacher lifts his prayer, and mumbles to the Giver;
Thousands wave their hands to us, and see we nothing lack!
God! Their love and roses flow like some enchanted river—
Let us take full joy in this, in case we can't come back!

"Goodby, soldier! Here's a kiss!" Ah, love, why are you weeping?
We are glad to go for you—we are the new world's breed;
Rise in us the hero-souls of soldiers who were sleeping—
Let your love go out to us to save us in our need!

"Goodby, soldier! Here's a kiss!" Ah, love, we'll take our fill—oh,
Think of us; we march away, where bullets dash like rain!
Should we fall the love of you must be our dying pillow—
Christ! This hour is worth it all, should we not come again!

So we don our soldier clothes, and forth to war be faring;
Roll the drums adown the streets—our bugles sound, "Advance!"
Kit and khaki we'll put on for sad and savage wearing—
Though we fall like blades of grass, we'll pay our debt to France!

Can it be true, asks a contrib, that a man named Immo Weak lives in Aspen street in Hendersonville, N. C.?

Oh, By the Way!

A well-known Fort Wayne business man is rather absent-minded, and has fallen into the habit of forgetting what he intended to say to complete a conversation.

The other day he was dining with friends, and some one asked him to say grace. Mr. B. M. readily began his prayer and finally paused in the middle of it with the signal of having completed his sentence.

In a moment, however, and just as the guests had begun to utter the "Amen," the absent-minded gentleman suddenly recalled that he had not finished grace.
"Oh, by the way," he remarked, "oh, by the way—amen!"

The Liberty Loan and the Farmer

BY HON. D. F. HOUSTON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

It is every citizen's duty to purchase a Liberty Bond if he is in a position to do so. Every patriot will regard it as a privilege to participate in the Liberty Loan. He will thereby contribute directly and effectively to the successful prosecution of the war which Germany has forced upon us. It faces you and me. If we do not win this war we must prepare ourselves for grave changes in our institutions and to lead a different sort of life from that which we had planned to live—from that which our forefathers died to give us the right to live. We shall indefinitely face the interference of the Prussian autocracy or bear permanently the intolerable burdens of militarism. To win this war we must have both men and money. I know that every farmer wants to do all in his power for the nation in this day of trial. He will not only labor to produce the necessary foodstuffs but he will generously contribute of his means to make it possible for the men at the front to achieve victory. I am confident that the farmers of the land will not permit any other class to take the leadership in supporting the government in this crisis, financially or otherwise.

STATEMENT BY MR. CUTSHALL.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:

I stated when I entered this campaign last spring that I intended to stick to the real issues and refuse to be diverted by the thrusting forward by my opponents of that which was alien to these issues. But right here and now, I want to depart from this policy long enough to cast the glove of challenge in the fact of any cowardly assassin of character who impugns my Americanism, my patriotism or my devotion to our common country in time of either peace or war. As I stated in my letter last week, I accept without proof the loyalty of every candidate on both tickets and I hold it an insult to this community to assert even by ugly inference that any man could hold a place here on either ticket who is in the least lacking in loyalty or who is not heart and soul with his country in this war we have undertaken to preserve our free institutions. Any man who intimates that I, as mayor, would not give our soldiers every possible assistance to bring this war to a speedy and successful conclusion is a liar and a knave. I wish to make myself clear on this point, for I do not want to refer to it again during this campaign. My father and my uncles were soldiers of the union and I think the loyalty of the Cutshall family needs no defense. I trust you will pardon this personal allusion, but a righteous indignation has caused me to speak as I have spoken. And I regret the brutal insult to me that has forced it. I have too much self-respect and too much respect for the American flag to wrap that emblem about me as a garb for the campaign, and I would rather go down in defeat than appear in the attitude of seeking the support of those who have sons in our armies by conspicuously parading myself as a patriot. To my mind nothing is more disgusting than an attempt to capitalize loyalty or to seek public office by proclaiming oneself a patriot. Professional patriotism is demagogic in its most objectional form.

SHERMAN CUTSHALL.

EDUCATION BY REPRISAL.

(Chicago Tribune.)
South Germany is beginning to discover that the liberality as well as the military facilities it has offered upon the German side are still what the tolerable that it was merely a question whether we would admit we were no longer a free nation or accept the challenge of the war-mad hypocritical and medieval Prussian militarists. There was one choice we could not make—we were incapable of making. We could not "choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored and violated." We are defending our rights as a free nation. We are resolved that there shall be an end of brute force in international affairs. What Germany's victory would mean to the world is plain. There would be no right except might, no peace save at the price of humiliation to be borne. Small nations could not exist. There would be sanctity to a pledge, no solemnity to a covenant. With the dominance of Prussian militarism, the Anglo-Saxon struggle for free institutions and liberty, persisting from Runnymede to Yorktown, with its many the rights of rights and schools were destroyed, that the sick, the wounded, old men and women and young children were maimed and mutilated and killed called forth no expressions of disgust in Germany. The uselessness of such schrecklichkeit as a method war did not then occur to the subjects of the Kaiser.

But now that British patience and long suffering in the face of wanton murder have been worn out Munich and the south German cities within flying range of the battle lines are suddenly prating of "the slaughter of defenseless persons." Can it be that an air attack on hospitals and German cities are the victims? Do Germans regard aerial onslaughts upon civilians strategically vain only when German civilians are involved? How do they justify their acquiescent silence while England and France and Italy were the sufferers?
In no allied country were reprisal air raids willingly undertaken. Not until further restraint appeared to be criminal neglect of peaceful people did the British and French governments seek protection for themselves by bombing German cities. The measure appears to have been immediately effective. Bombs stirred the slumbering German conscience. What a revelation of a people!

SIX MONTHS OF RECRUITING.

On figures for the regular army alone recruiting for the first six months of war has been satisfactory. Roughly it has averaged something well over an army division a month. On April 1 the army lacked 183,898 of the authorized war strength. This strength was reached more than a month ago and there is now an excess of 22,400 recruits.
Regular army figures do not tell the whole story. Sea forces and the National Guard, before its federalization, accepted more than 250,000 others and the grand total of accepted volunteers for land and sea establishments in the six months will approximate half a million when all returns are in. This does not include the thousands of men who have been and are now candidates for commission in the officers' campaign. The American spirit is still what the

PRIVILEGED SOLDIERS.

(Montana Record-Herald.)
The famous Russian "battalion of death" praised so highly outside of Russia, are being severely criticized by some of their fellow countrymen. The military section of the soldiers' and workmen's delegates has demanded the dissolution of these battalions.
"From the standpoint of principle," it is explained, "it is inadmissible that there should be in the army groups of privileged soldiers who arrogate to themselves the right to die for the liberty of the country, when that right belongs to all soldiers."

In other words, the men who take an oath to die fighting for Russia are taking an unfair advantage of the rest of the army. They are assuming a special privilege, and there must be no special privileges in the Russian democracy. What dying is to be done will be done by everybody on the same terms.

As long as there are thousands who insist on dying for Russia regardless of circumstances, and as long as the rest of the army indignantly refuses to let those thousands do more than their pro rata share of dying there's hope for Russia.

ARGENTINA ON THE FENCE.

(Springfield Republican.)
Argentina holds aloof from the pro-movement which has swept over most of Latin America, and a certain ill-temper which is to be noted is due to recognition of its isolated position. In the main this is a Latin-American question, and it is better for outsiders not to interfere, especially as a large part of the people of Argentina are out of sympathy with the attitude of their government. Whatever the German propaganda may have accomplished, it only needs enough rope to hang itself, as the Lunenburg affair illustrated.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

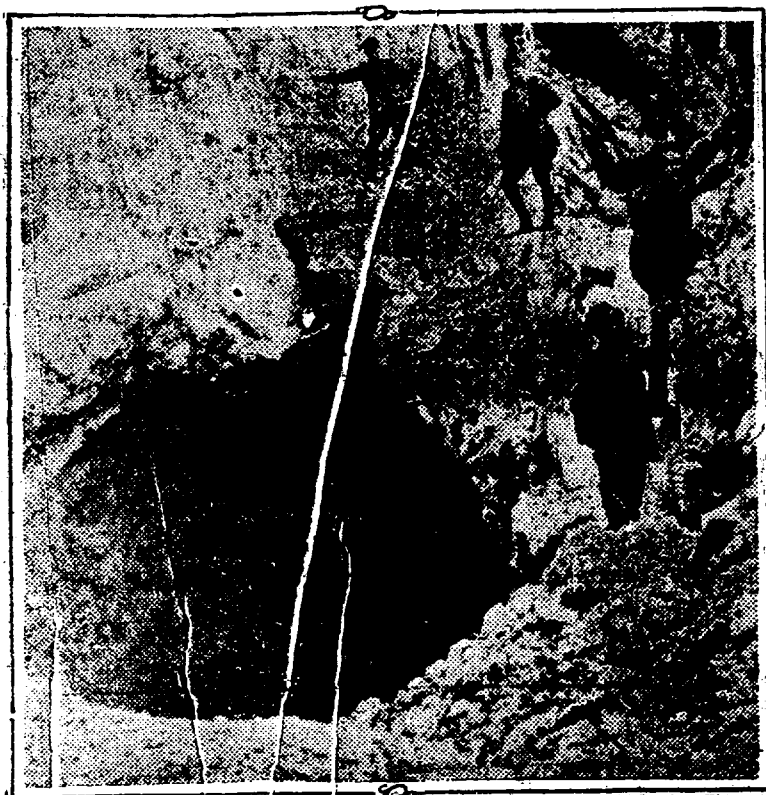

Mrs. Elizabeth Summers, who has been living near Monroeville, will move to this city this week and occupy a home on Colerick street.

The horse reported stolen from George Hoswell was found standing in front of the stable door. It indulged in a quiet runaway and went home.

William J. Shane, the young man who fell from a scaffold yesterday, was unconscious nearly all night and his recovery is doubtful. He has three ribs broken and is hurt otherwise internally. He is being attended by Dr. George C. Stemen, who has hopes of his pulling the unfortunate man through.

Mrs. Joseph Storm, wife of the well known Columbia street hardware merchant, met with a serious accident last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Storm had been out spending the evening and arriving home Mrs. Storm accidentally stepped into an open cellar door and fell a distance of some six or seven feet. She was seriously, but not dangerously hurt.
The housebreakers and firebugs who have been operating in Fort Wayne for some weeks past, had a narrow escape from capture early this morning. At about the hour of 1 o'clock Charles Compalet and C. W. Kerr, the Nickel Plate detective, were returning to their home after having spent the evening at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Manning Smith, 353 East Wayne street. They had gone a half a block south on University street when they discovered two men in the alleyway between the Wayne and Washington streets. The two men in the alley were either peeping into the window or were about to burglarize some residence in the neighborhood and the moment they saw Mr. Compalet and Mr. Kerr they ran up the alley toward the east. Both gentlemen gave chase but the burglars were too swift for them. The neighborhood was aroused, however, and the ten or twelve determined men began a vigorous search for the burglars.

ONE OF DEADLY CANNON CAVERNS IN PATH OF ITALY'S ADVANCING ARMY

The Italian advance against the Austrians, in the movement on Trieste, was over such traps as this cannon cavern, in one of the most difficult bits of fighting in the world. From Monte Santo to the main Italian objective, Monte San Gabriele, just taken, the Austrians had hollowed out of rocks of the mountainside secret gun positions, like this black hole. Some of them had been blasted out years before and covered with concrete, ready for use when needed.

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD ASKS WAR PATIENCE Must Give Up Luxury for Aid of Soldiers and Freight.

An appeal for war-time forbearance from the public is made by the Pennsylvania railroad in a pamphlet issued at the main office and which reached Port Wayne Thursday.

"In these trying months there will be belated trains and the embargo on certain shipments. We expect to do our best. The part of the public is patience. Patience is neither spectacular nor heroic, but it is mighty helpful in times like these."

The attempt of the railroad to explain to its patrons the exact status of war conditions is taken largely from an address by George Dallas Dixon, vice president in charge of Pennsylvania traffic, before the Pennsylvania Traffic club on October 8.

In his talk Mr. Dixon calls attention to the fact that luxury, one of the boons of the Pennsylvania road, must be surrendered until the war is over.

"In the future, and as long as the war lasts, you may expect to see in our trains a smaller proportion of parlor, club and restaurant cars, and a greater proportion of day coaches. You will also see smaller trains and fewer of them, and the sight of people standing in cars will not be as rare as formerly," says Dixon.

"Soldiers First; You Second!"

"To be perfectly plain about it, we have got to move the soldiers first and you second."

We have already taken off more than 100 trains a day on our lines east of Pittsburgh, and in the future will have to take off still more. We have greatly reduced the number of restaurant cars which we operate, and have practically discontinued the use of more than one restaurant car in a train. We have cut down the number in many instances have been obliged to deplete trains of day coaches to provide for the transportation of troops.

"By having our patrons ride in the ordinary coaches instead of parlor cars, by having them fill all the upper berths of sleepers instead of only the lowers, by asking them to wait a little while to get in the restaurant car, or perhaps get their meals at the station restaurant."

Instead of en route, we are able to carry more people to a train, and so reduce the number of train units which we have to operate to handle the traffic. This helps to relieve congestion of tracks and terminals, saves fuel, and releases locomotives for freight service and troop movements.

Freight Has Right-of-Way.

"In these days freight must be moved. In the old days freight trains were side-tracked to permit fast passenger trains to pass them, or to allow passenger trains to make up speed if they were late. But now freight has the right-of-way because national needs of the highest importance require it."

"So far as our internal needs go, the movement of foodstuffs and fuel to our great centers of population, and of raw materials to our centers of industry, must take precedence over all other forms of commercial traffic."

"In the conduct of the war, imperative necessity of the most urgent kind requires that all possible expedition and regularity shall be accorded to the transportation of munitions and army supplies for export, of materials and food for the cantonments, and of our soldiers to shipboard. These are the primary duties of the railroad, which must be performed ahead of all others."

"In everything we have done in the way of curtailing passenger service we have been guided by the desire to cause the traveling public as little discomfort as possible, consistent with doing all in our power to aid the government."

PASSENGER STATION DAMAGED BY TRAIN

Broken Wheel Derails Cars, Sending Them Against Building.

The brick passenger station of the Toledo Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, O., was in part demolished this morning when a number of cars crashed against it and knocked down the walls. Fortunately there were no persons in the part of the building wrecked and there were none injured. The train was a freight which was running at a good speed as it passed the station. A broken wheel caused a number of the cars to leave the rails and pile upon the passenger station and platform. The road was completely blocked and passenger trains had to make a detour of the scene.

AIRBRAKE TESTS.

Several Pennsylvania Company Men to Take Part Next Week.
The automatic airbrake tests being conducted at New York city by the railways will be managed next week by Pennsylvania men from the lines east and west of Pittsburgh. P. F. Smith, Jr., general motive power superintendent of the lines west of Pittsburgh; T. W. Demarest, motive power superintendent of the Northwest system; O. F. Reese, superintendent of motive power of the Central system, and Airbrake Instructor H. A. Burson, of this city, will be among those who will take part in the tests. These tests are of great importance because of the several vital questions involved.

ENGINEERING COMPANY HAS MANY ORDERS

Will Be Busy Rest of 1917 on Construction Contracts.

The Engineering company is one of Fort Wayne's busiest industrial plants, having orders for twenty-seven sterilizers and shakers combined, to be delivered this year. These machines are being turned out at the rate of one a week and will be shipped to all parts of the country, including several of the Pacific coast states. The firm also has many construction contracts which will keep a large force of men busy the greater part of the winter. At present they have the following contracts in the building line: Y. M. C. A. building at Anderson, Indiana, which is a $20,000 contract, the contract for the steel work for the new Tenth ward engine house, the Boss Manufacturing building at Bluffton, Indiana, a seventy foot guide derrick for the Perrine Armstrong company, the addition to the traction company power plant, new garage for the S. F. Bowser company, and the alteration to be made in the Citizen Trust building at the corner of Calhoun and Main streets, formerly the Hamilton National Bank building.

GO EAST ON VACATION TIME.

The Misses Sylvia Mulligan and Anna Scherzinger, of the motor department of the General Electric works, leave Sunday morning for a two weeks' vacation, which will be spent with friends in the east, including stops at Pittsburg and New York.

BOWSER MILITARY CLUB AND DRUM CORPS

Will Turn Out in Saturday's Parade in Full Strength.

The Bowser Military club and the drum corps which have heretofore taken part in every patriotic celebration held in this city, will again show its loyalty by turning out in full strength in next Saturday's parade. The military club, which is considered by many people as one of the best drilled and neatest uniformed clubs of its kind in the city, will not doubt again create an impression on all who will witness the affair. The drum corps, an organization composed of employees of the big plant, which is very proficient in the art of drum beating, will do its share in making the occasion a military one.

HAVE NICE UNIFORMS NOW.

Detectives and Information Agent of G. E. All Dressed Up.
Elmer Hathaway Brown, of "When He's All Dressed Up" fame, has "nothing on" William Wurtle, chief of the first department; William Garmian, chief detective; Paul Grimme, chief night detective; and Archie F. Rhodes, information clerk of the General Electric works. These gentlemen donned handsome uniforms this morning and were admired by all their comrades. The uniforms are constructed of fine blue cloth with brass buttons and lapel pieces indicating the department to which they belong. Each has a handsome blue cloth cap with a gold band and the insignia of rank.

conspicuously displayed in front. Each man is of fine physique and the pretty uniform makes him even more pleasing to the eye than he beholds him.

WAS PLEASANT EVENT.

It is estimated that during the evening over 200 people visited the ballroom of the Edison Lamp works on Holman and Clinton streets last night and the greater portion of the visitors remained and took part in the exceptionally fine dance and entertainment program. The affair was an advanced Halloween party and some of the decorations were of the character of those used Halloween night to give a weird appearance to the scene. It lacked the shivering effect, however, there being nothing but sunshine and happiness in the hearts of the jolly crowd. The singing of some songs by Mr. Moellen was an appreciated and highly enjoyed feature of the entertainment. "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile" were finely rendered and called forth much applause. The entertainment was the annual affair given by the Volunteer Fire company of the works.

PLENTY OF MONEY, BUT CANNOT OBTAIN GOODS

Holland Has Grown Fat and Rich from the War, Yet
is Suffering.

The Hague, Netherlands, Sept. 13.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The position of Holland is beginning to show an uncomfortable resemblance to that of Midaas, at whose touch everything turned into gold. Instead of the urgently needed goods, more and more gold, not to mention $200,000,000 worth of credit paper, has been sent to Holland by her belligerent neighbors.

This is far more than she can employ with the result that the gold stocks of the Netherlands bank have quadrupled since the outbreak of war, amounting now to some $265,000,000. This means that the central bank's directly callable liabilities in the form of banknotes and current account balances, are backed by gold to the extent of 77 per cent, which compares with only 17 per cent in Germany.

But of what use are our big gold reserves? Hollanders are beginning to ask, "if our productive capacity is being more and more reduced, ever more businesses are being brought to entire or partial standstill for lack of raw materials or coal, workmen dismissed, the supply of foodstuffs cut off, and our colonies, one of the nation's mainstays, likewise hard pressed by the prevailing circumstances?"

If he need further evidence that the world has turned upside down, the Hollander may find it in the curious fact that his normally much-coveted gold is declined with thanks in Sweden, whose gold exports to Spain are impossible on account of the obstacles in the way of shipment. The unpleasant result is that the Swedish exchange has risen. Holland's exports thither are too small to balance her imports from Sweden. Nothing would appear more logical than to pay in gold for the excess imports, but the Swedish bank refuses to accept it.

From practically the commencement of the war the Swedish government has taken the standpoint that it wants goods paid for in goods, the population needing foodstuffs and other necessities rather than gold. Hollanders are beginning to keenly feel the strange limitation which has been placed on the powers of gold.

Holland's national debt, which stood at $450,000,000 before the war, has nearly doubled in the past three years. The added burden amounts to date to $326,000,000. It is expected to go on mounting so long as the war continues, and an army of some quarter of a million has to be kept on a war footing as well as big sums spent on the provision of cheap food and other necessities for the people.

WHAT RUSSELL FOUND WHILE A GUEST IN WINTER PALACE

Showed for What Ends
Broken With Toil.

CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.
The suites of apartments at the winter palace, Petrograd, usually consist of bedroom, dining room, drawing room (or something of the kind), parlor, and a bathroom with defective plumbing.

Three of us were assigned to one of these suites on the third floor. It was a dwelling place grand, gloomy and peculiar. I do not know the name of the former inhabitant but it was evidently a woman because the bedroom contained five chiffoniers, three bureaus, two dressing tables, and mirrors in which you could not only see if your hat was on straight but if your back hair was done up en regle and au fait. There were many other things of which I did not know the names or the uses—but evidently designed to please the gentler sex; also there was a strong odor of patchouli that I could have gladly passed up.

In the entry near this room was a huge double chest of shallow drawers reaching to the ceiling with a ladder provided to get at the upper shelves. Each drawer bore a written label and I was assured that each had been dedicated to a separate costume of the fair inhabitant, most of them for court use. When I heard that I thought of the folk at home and made a note of the number of shelves. There were 18 in each pile. This eminent person, whoever she was, had 36 costumes going at once, to say nothing of the mystery of the chiffoniers and able peasants' sweat to pay for this branch of the show.

The bath room had a brick stove or oven about six feet high, six feet long and five feet wide. It had doors that opened in the corridor outside so that every morning some high private in the rear ranks of the army of servants could come along and light the fire and heat the water without disturbing the occupant.

On the other side of the hall was another set of apartments for the persons that used to wait on the occupant of this. I was told there were also kitchens and pantries and that sort of thing, and that each inhabitant of the imperial outfit of parasites had his or her own cooks and other servants. All of which I should think might be of considerable interest to the farmers and workmen that paid for it.

There was one great window in the bedroom and two great windows in each of the other rooms, and you couldn't have opened any of them with a jimmy, reminding one sharply of a Pullman sleeping car window at home. They were double windows, each immovable and caulked round every crack with much ancient putty. But in each there was a small hinged pane giving in the outside window and these together were supposed to furnish the ventilation. It was rather a violent supposition in July, but of course there is the Russian winter to be accounted with, and after you have had one good taste of that you do not wonder at any defenses that are set up against it.

All of the rooms except the bedroom were hung with great paintings, a few bad and some astonishingly good, the works of Russian artists. The drawing room had a magnificent great writing desk in the center of it and a lounge or couch about the size of a baseball diamond, marvelously upholstered and adorned.

But it was in the parlor of the suite that money had been spent through a hose. I have never seen elsewhere so many absolutely useless objects gathered under one roof. It looked like a kind of museum of insane devices. In one corner stood a kind of glass vase or Babylonian tower of glass vases, ten feet high. At the top was a thing like a gigantic glass goblet nearly three feet in diameter and more than two feet high. This was supported by a strong glass column that expanded below into another bowl something like a colossal champagne glass. Then there was another glass column and a great glass bulb. And so on to the ground I brought to the spot to view this singular contraption more than one expert in the recondite and the strange, but not one of them could suggest what it might be for or what possible use it served in the corner of that parlor or could serve anywhere—unless men should grow to be 50 feet high. The bowls and columns were highly decorated with gold and colored glass but that fact didn't contribute to the solution of the mystery.

There was also in this room an appalling glass table or something of the kind, about three and a half feet high and four feet in circumference. At least it looked like a table but might have been something else. You never can tell about things in a madhouse. The top of it was hollowed out like a huge shallow bowl and the legs and sides and top were covered with gold filigree and other ornaments. The would fall over and smash if anybody touched it or stared at it too hard, and I was always hoping that it would, but it never did. Some of us never have any luck.

There was another table, very delicate and fragile, made of some rare kind of wood, amazingly carved, inlaid and decorated, that had in its center a depression about three inches deep, like a dish or elongated soup plate. This puzzled every body until it was explained as a device to swim gold fish in, that constituting one of the intellectual and reasonable recreations of the persons that used to inhabit that place.

She doesn't inhabit it now, glory be. Empty are her 36 costume shelves, and vacant the long successions of apartments on apartments that formerly housed the 6,000. Vanished is the whole tribe, let us hope, forever. As I told you before, part of this wild extravaganzas of luxury is now used as a hospital. Into the rest the provisional government has moved its offices. Where a long train of imperial tax eaters used to wanton and wallow in the peasants' money, grave and earnest men now sit to do the nation's business.

Wonderful and significant change! Let us be grateful that we have lived to see it.

WHAT MUNICIPALITIES OF AMERICA MAY FACE

War Lessons to U. S.
City Governments.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—In a verbal message to United States mayors, Mayor Thomas L. Church, of Toronto, today told what Uncle Sam's entrance into the war may be expected to mean to American cities. He knows. For three years he has been mayor of Toronto and president of the Union of Canadian Municipalities. The points he emphasizes are:

The municipality in war time must cease expending money except for necessities.

It should not add to its bonded debt, except for revenue-producing works.

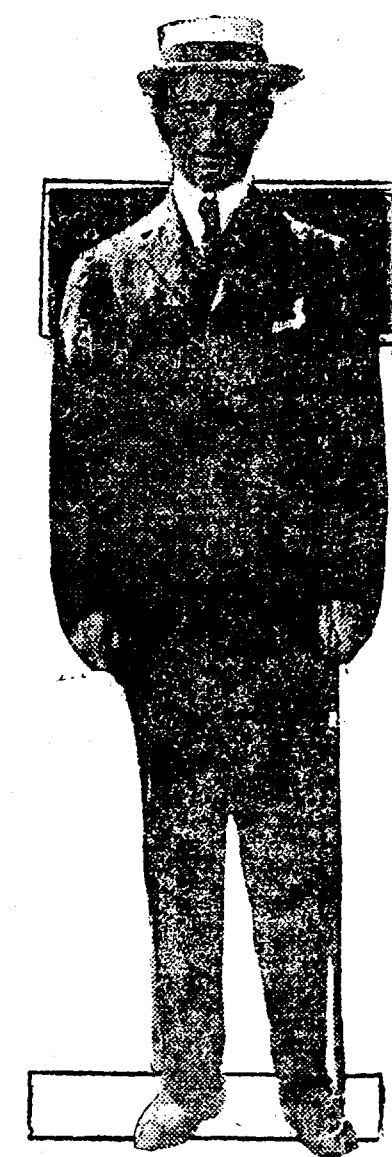

It should employ men who return from the battle front.

Any entertaining the city does as a whole should be in behalf of the soldiers.

Provision must be made for rendering aid to soldiers' dependents, without overlapping.

Every civic department must expect the war will increase its work tenfold.

The United States, Mayor Church points out, is not yet confronted by the problem of providing for returned soldiers—one of the largest tasks imposed on Canadian cities—but it ultimately will be encountered and the time to solve it is now. His message hits home because Toronto, which has furnished more men and money for the allies' cause than any other city in British overseas dominions, is more typically American than any other Canadian center.

"Chief among the lessons Toronto has learned," said Mayor Church, "is that in wartime the municipality should spend money only for necessities, not adding to its bonded debt except for revenue-producing works. For example, Toronto is building Toronto harbor at a cost of $20,000,000. The harbor commissioners, at huge expense, are reclaiming large tracts of land for factory purposes. We are expending $2,500,000 on a steel viaduct. Our new Union station is costing us $5,000,000 with an added estimated cost of $15,000,000 for a six-track viaduct.

"These works have not been halted. But we have found it inadvisable to go on with unnecessary local improvements, such as sidewalk and road-building. Labor is high. After the war it will be cheap.

"Furthermore, there will be thousands of men coming back from the trenches after the conflict which must be given employment. As a result, Toronto has appointed a commission of five, consisting of two controllers, the city treasurer, the commissioner of works and myself, to report on preparing Toronto to meet conditions after the war. This commission is meeting weekly.

"All public positions should be given only to returned soldiers. Those occupying public positions who have failed to do their duty during the war should vacate them at the war's conclusion, if they have been eligible for removal by resolution of council, is engaging no one except returned soldiers."

large, has found when men return from overseas they are no longer 100 per cent. efficient. Allowance must be made for this.

"In the important problem of looking after soldiers' dependents there should be no overlapping efforts. We have a patriotic fund bureau, a volunteer organization, and also a city bureau. The city pays $1,000 to the dependents of every soldier killed in the war who is a bona fide resident of Toronto. Ten-year debentures enable us to do this, for, though we try to pay as we go, we feel that posterity should pay some of the bills.

"War triples the work of a city's police department. The Toronto department has been cut from 900 men to a little over 450 men. The absent members have gone to the war.

"Our larger cities in winter become the training camps for soldiers. The city gives city property free to the government for use in housing soldiers, and the city's own car lines here in Toronto, since the war started, have allowed returned soldiers to ride free.

"Each returned soldier should be exempt from business assessment and income tax for two or three years after the war, and while on active service, if he is unable to pay his municipal taxes, he should be given time until after the war. While this depletes municipal revenues, the deficiency can be capitalized with short-term bonds of five or ten years. Many of our returned heroes are in arrears of taxes on their homes. Toronto has given them time in which to pay.

FLOWERS DEFY THE RUTHLESS INVADER

Lilies, Roses and Mignonette Bloom Amid Ruins of French Village.

London, Oct. 19.—A letter written by a young officer in the fighting line in Flanders, sent to the Times, varies the story of devastation daily transmitted from the front. The writer said:

"The other day we took over from a well-known Scottish regiment, whose reputation for making themselves comfortable was well known throughout the division, and when I went to examine my future abode I found everything up to the standard which I had anticipated.

"Standing on an oak table in the middle of the dug-out was a shell case filled with flowers, and these not ordinary blossoms, but Madonna lilies, mignonettes and roses. After having duly appreciated this most unexpected corner, I inquired where the flowers had been gathered and was told they had come from the utterly ruined village of Pampoux, close by. I set out to explore. Sure enough, between piles of bricks, shell holes, dirt and every sort of debris, suddenly a rose in full bloom would smile at me and a lily would waft its delicious scent and seem to say how it defied the destroyer and all his frightfulness.

"Among innumerable shell holes there was a small patch of ground absolutely carpeted with outcrops, over which blazed bright red poppies intermixed with the bluest of cornflowers. Here was a really glorious corner and how quickly came memories of home."

A GREAT CHANGE ENTERS INTO LIFE OF STOREKEEPER

A certain unassuming gentleman in this city who happens to be a prominent dealer in furniture and who up to a few weeks ago had become a recluse because of his physical condition tells this remarkable and most interesting tale:

"For a number of years," he said, "I have been so closely confined to my business working zealously to make my store representative in every respect that wear and tear finally got me, my face became drawn and haggard and my disposition seemed to urge people to evade me. It was then that I began to despise my own company. My bookkeeper who has been with me a long time one day suggested that I needed a rest and that my nerves required attention. She told me that her father had been in the state of health which I was experiencing and that he had taken Phosphated Iron. 'Look at him now,' she said. 'He works ten hours a day and appears to be the happiest man in the world which he believes he is, he says.' 'All this happened less than a month ago. I followed the advice and look at me now. Back in the harness with a smile all the while. I am feeling more fit than ever. When I see a tired looking face the name of Phosphated Iron immediately comes in my mind. I am convinced that it is converting many a worn out body into a life rich in thought, ambition and enthusiasm.'"

Special Notice.—To insure physicians and patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put up in capsules only do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets, insist on the genuine in capsules only.

Berne, Sept. 13.—The war has taught Switzerland that it is a mistake to be too dependent on foreign producers. In order to develop and encourage home manufacturers, the first step is to make consumers familiar with Swiss products. To do this it is proposed to devote a week in every year to exhibitions of Swiss goods, to be held simultaneously in all the Swiss towns and villages.

NEW LAW COMPLETES EMBARGO ON GERMANY

Trading With Enemy Act to Stop Supplies from Western Hemisphere.

By GILSON GARDNER.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—The "trading with the enemy" act promises to prove useful in cutting off from Germany and her allies, South American war supplies they obtained from friendly European neutrals.

"The embargo on exports from this country could not do this alone," explained Vance McCormick, chairman of the new board created to carry this act into effect. "That law checks the flow of supplies directly from the United States. There was a continuous flow of munitions, food and money from South and Central American countries where Germany had well established and prosperous commercial connections to European neutrals and, through these countries, to Germany. 'The trading with the enemy' law does not give the United States power to stop directly the export of these commodities from those countries, but it does give the United States power to limit it. Any German firms in these southern countries, wishing to do business with the United States will have to show such business is not going to aid Germany directly or indirectly. The law gives us power to license trading or to refuse such license."

"Many such concerns depend on the United States entirely for coal. By refusing them coal we can shut off their trade with neutrals that supply Germany. We can shut off profits which go to Germany, and we can dry up credits which Germany has in these South and Central American countries."

"We have no desire to interfere with legitimate trade between this country and our southern neighbors. We shall be glad to supply coal for the 46 German ships seized by Brazil if these ships are used to help our commerce and that of the allies; otherwise, we will keep our coal."

A large number of important medical preparations will be made available by the act. American patents have been used by German chemists to withhold from general use several of the most important remedies known to the medical world. This act enables the government to wipe out these patent monopolies and permit the manufacture of these compounds in American laboratories.

The formula known as "Salvarsan," a specific for the blood contamination known as the plague of all armies, and in peace time affecting the nation to the extent of six per cent. of its population, is one of the patent rights which will be the first to be wiped out. The anti-typhoid fever remedies also will be released for use.

The "trading with the enemy" act will be far reaching. Each case will have to be judged by itself. If there is a reciprocal advantage to be had by the United States for licensing and permitting the operation of some foreign corporation, a license will be granted. Even a German firm in Chile or Argentina, for example, might be supplying the United States with some commodity necessary to the manufacture of munitions, and this firm would be given a license to continue its American connection. Unless, however, some good reason can be shown, all these corporations will be refused licenses and a stringent trade embargo will be put into effect against business concerns whose profits go directly or indirectly to Germany.

FRENCH FISHERMEN SAVED BY AMERICANS

Set Adrift by German Submarine, were Fired Upon by U. S. Patrol.

Base American Flotilla in British Waters, Sept. 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Four French fishermen who comprised the whole crew of their fishing boat, Quatre Freres (Four Brothers), were landed here the other day by one of the American destroyers. The Quatre Freres, after being stripped of everything of value by the Germans, including the catch of mackerel, the fishermen's money and food supplies, was sent to the bottom by bombs from a submarine. The four Frenchmen were left to their fate, 150 miles from land, in a small open boat barely large enough to hold them all.

After rowing for several hours a breeze came up and the fishermen hoisted a sail, which spotted on the horizon by their American rescuers was thought to be a submarine and was fired upon. The marksmanship of the Americans was bad this time and the frightened Frenchmen hastily hauled down their sail and waved a white cloth. Half an hour later they were safely on board the American destroyer where they were given welcome in the form of a good meal and dry clothing. They could not speak a word of English but one of the American officers knew some French and they got along handsomely.

Ashore here the wife of a British sea captain acted as interpreter. She had lived in France and Belgium for many years and speaks French fluently. She had the fishermen at her house for tea.

Describing their treatment on board, the American destroyer, one of the fishermen said: "My, but those Americans made a great fuss over us. When we sat down to eat we had about ten of them waiting on us. I guess they were trying to show us how glad they were that they hadn't hit us. We will never forget their kindness."

When the Brittany fishermen of the type familiar in moving pictures, were set ashore at this village, they stood on the pier and gave three cheers for the Americans. "Vive la Amerique," they shouted as the blue-jackets waved farewells with their caps.

Why Colds Are Dangerous. It is not only the serious diseases that so often start with a cold that make a cold the most dangerous of the minor ailments, but the fact that when a child has a cold he is much more likely to contract germ diseases such as scarlet fever and diphtheria. For this reason every cold should be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained a wide reputation for its quick cures of bad colds. You will look a long time before you find a better preparation for that disease.—Advertisement.

EGG PACKERS BAWL FOR AID

Want Government to Make Eggs Army Ration to Give Relief.

VASTLY OVERDID SUMMER BUY-UP
Surplus of Eggs in Hand and No Demand for the Iced Supply.

New York, Oct. 18.—The use of cold storage eggs as army rations will be suggested to the government, it was learned here today, by representatives of the butter and egg exchanges of Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and New York and the mercantile exchange of New York.

A committee consisting of one member from each of these markets, plans to go to Washington with the further suggestion that the federal food officials fix a price which would be on the usual basis of cost, plus 10 per cent.

Chicago packers are said to own millions of cold storage eggs for which there is no demand because the supply today greatly exceeds that which existed at the time the eggs were put aside. The holdings are said to be 13.2 per cent. greater than a year ago and the market value is considerably less than when the eggs were put in storage. Wholesale prices are said to be facing millions of dollars in losses unless cost, plus 10 per cent, prices are fixed arbitrarily by the government. It was pointed out today that action making these eggs an army ration would take care of the over-supply.

MUCH OVERDONE.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 19.—Great interest was felt here in the meeting of representatives of various egg boners, including Chicago, to interest the government in a surplus of eggs on which holders are said to face a loss. John Lovett, speaking for the Chicago butter and egg board, said that this committee was scheduled to meet with Food Administration officials in Washington this afternoon. The peculiar interest here was due to the fact that the local butter and egg board yesterday gave out a statement which was accepted as prophetic of still higher prices to the consumer. This statement said that there were now enough eggs in store to give one egg to each person on every sixth day for the next six months. The statement said there were here ready for shipment abroad, sixty cars of eggs, forty-one sent a dozen for a dollar.

Mr. Lovett said these figures were not meant as an alarm as they showed a normal condition of supply. He was asked concerning the 13.2 per cent surplus over last year as reported from New York, and said: "Egg packers expected to be called upon to ship great quantities of eggs to Europe, but there has not been transportation for them. The packers are not trying to have the government pull their chests out of the fire. Eggs are now relatively cheaper than meat, and they are making the suggestion of an egg ration for that reason."

Although hens were reported laying patriotically during the summer, prices remained at or over the high level of the winter, and this at the time was said to be due to the supplies going into storage. It is now said the storage end was overdone and unless the government makes a ration the speculators in the aggregate will lose millions of dollars.

MILITARY NEWS

RED CROSS KNITTERS THANKED FOR WORK

Letter from General Mann, Chief of "Rainbow" Division Received.

A letter was received some time ago by Mayor Hoesy telling of the lack of sweaters and other knitted goods by the Indiana soldiers stationed at Camp Mills, and the mayor turned over the letter to the Red Cross, who had none of these goods on hand at the time. The Red Cross knitters allied with the Navy League knitters and made up as many sweaters, etc., as they could and sent them post haste to the soldiers.

Mrs. Fred E. Hoffman, of the Navy League, is in receipt of the following letter, thanking the patriotic women of Fort Wayne for their ready response:

"Headquarters, 42nd Division, Camp Albert Mills, N. Y., October 12, 1917.

"Mrs. Fred E. Hoffman, Fort Wayne, Ind."

"Dear Mrs. Hoffman: General Mann wishes me to thank you for the wonderful box of knitted articles you have sent to the men of this division. By hasty count, the following number of articles were found: Fifty-one sweaters, 73 mufflers, 45 wristlets (pairs), 11 helmets and ten pairs of socks. Coming from Indiana, we will send them to the Indiana artillery, and I assure you of their deep appreciation for each and every article.

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN E. COULTER, Captain.

"Cavalry, U. S. A."

"Aide-de-camp on staff of Major General William A. Mann."

A large amount of tinol has been turned over to the Red Cross and it is very acceptable since it can be sold for 35 cents a pound and the money is turned over to the work. The chapter is in need of a desk and anyone who has one they could loan, even for a short time, would confer a great favor upon the local workers. If they would notify the headquarters.

The packing boxes used in the shipment of the Christmas parcels were made by the boys of the high school manual training class. Those assisting Prof. H. (unidentified) Maurice Hermann, William Hale, Conrad Scott, Herbert Workman and Carl Wilty.

Will Visit Son.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, 308 Montgomery street, left Friday to visit with their son, George Sullivan, who is at Norfolk, Virginia, where he is in training in the hospital corps.

Engineers Wanted.

The recruiting station has received announcement that applicants are wanted for the Thirtieth engineers stationed at Washington, D. C. Men experienced as chemists, gas workers, steamfitters, mechanics, gas engineers, blacksmiths, plumbers, fire fighters and acid workers are desired at once. This is an excellent division for men experienced in any of these lines for they will see early service in France.

Colored Men Called.

A call has been issued for colored men to enlist in the service corps of battalion engineers. This is the best opportunity the colored men have had during the war for only a few divisions have been opened to them. These units will be stationed as follows: 505th and 506th engineers at Camp Lee, Pittsburg, Va.; 507th at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.; 508th at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.; and the 509th engineers at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Tex.

Previous Service Men.
Men who have seen previous service in the United States army can be assured of non-commissioned officer or reenlistment. This is an excellent opportunity to those who have been members of the regular army to get back in the harness.

Coast Artillery Open.

CUT AVENUE THROUGH HEART OF ORCHARD

Trees Are Small and Food Administrator Tolan Gives Consent.

City workmen are cutting a street through the heart of a young orchard in order to extend Boeger avenue from Piqua avenue to Calhoun street. Several young trees are being cut away in running the street.

Advice of City Sealer Tolan, deputy food administrator, was asked in the matter of destroying the trees. The trees are too young to bear fruit and yet too large to transplant with any promise of success. The food officer decided that since the trees are young and the roadway is a much needed improvement that the work could continue.

It is expected that a passable driveway will be laid between Piqua and Calhoun by the end of next week.

AL J. FRUIT ACCEPTS POSITION WITH OIL CO.

Civil Engineer With Northern Indiana Traction Since 1914.

Allen J. Fruit, employed with the Northern Indiana Traction company since his graduation from Purdue university, in the spring of 1914, has resigned as assistant engineer in the office of H. B. Northward, and accepted a position as chief engineer for Cosden & Co., oil refiners, of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Fruit will leave Monday to take up his new duties.

Fruit will be remembered as the engineer who had charge of the field work in the building of the Wildcat bridge on the Fort Wayne-Lafayette division of the traction company. This bridge marked a new era in bridge construction, as it was the first attempt in its line. The bridge was shoved in place on new construction work without stopping traffic. The shifting of the 337,000 pound structure from the temporary pilings to its new position took only two hours, the work being done by hydraulic pin-jacks. Fruit is now engaged in the field construction of the new addition at the power house.

RUNAWAY TEAM DASHES THROUGH NOON CROWD

William Ferris Is Thrown from Wagon and Seriously Injured.

A team of horses belonging to William Ferris became frightened at the corner of Wayne and Barr streets at noon Thursday and started a mad rush down West Wayne street, causing considerable excitement.

Mr. Ferris was thrown from his wagon and painfully injured, receiving a compound fracture of the knee and bruises on the arm. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital in the police ambulance. Internal injuries are feared.

The team continued its mad run on Wayne street crossing Calhoun street and succeeding in clearing a large number of automobiles that were lined up on both sides of the thoroughfare until Harrison street was reached when an automobile was hit and slightly damaged. The horses did not slacken their speed, however, later hitting a buggy, but doing no damage.

The team came to a stop at Fulton street and a passerby tied them to a post. The wagon was but little harmed and the harness was only broken in a few places.

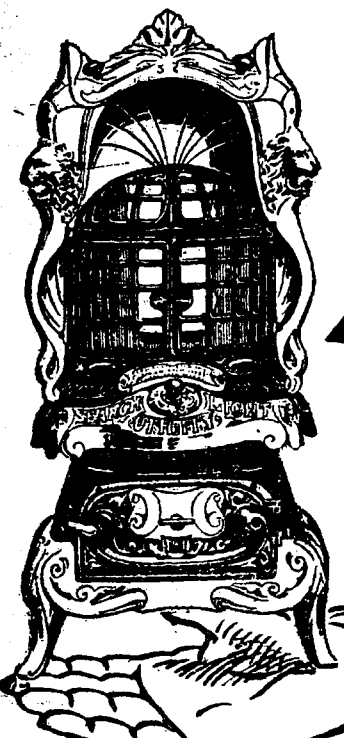

Ferris lives six miles out on the Decatur road, and had unloaded a load of oats at the Berghoff brewery. He was on his way to the business part of the city when the runaway occurred.

Members of Ben Hur coach and team will take part in the Liberty Loan parade Saturday afternoon.

J. B. Howard, Himself, Inventor of the Hot Blast Heater and the Searchlight Baseburner, Will Give a Sidewalk Denonstation of the Wonderful FLORENCE HOT BLAST HEATER And the Searchlight Baseburner for Hard Coal

Beginning Tomorrow, Saturday Noon } In Front of Our East } Continuing Until 10 p. m.
Berry Street Entrance

All Port Wayne is invited to witness Mr. Howard's remarkable demonstration of his two wonderful stoves. Mr. Howard, who is the greatest authority on combustion devices in the country today, will conduct this practical demonstration along purely educative lines, seeking to enlighten his auditors as to the true merits and demerits of various stoves and illustrating in vivid manner the broad differentiation between the so-called "Base Burners" and "Hot Blast Heaters" and the highly specialized Searchlight Base Burner and Florence Hot Blast Heater.

The Florence: Nemesis of Jack Frost

With wintry days coming on at a rapid pace, the thoughts naturally turn to warmth and comfort in the home. No need to worry about heating troubles further, however, if you own a FLORENCE HOT BLAST HEATER. The Florence ends stove troubles forever and besides insuring you a warm "comfy" house during wintry weather, it cuts a generous slice off your coal bills. Mr. Howard will explain the various features of the FLORENCE in his sidewalk demonstration today. Do not fail to hear him.

The Florence Idea Eliminates Puffing

During his demonstration Mr. Howard will explain fully and prove by an actual "live fire test" how the FLORENCE eliminates the "puffing" nuisance. If you have ever used Hot Blast Heaters of certain makes you will know that it was no uncommon experience to come home and find that the door of the stove had been "puffed open" and dirty black soot blown all over the house.

He will explain and prove by actual test that the Florence Hot Blast Heater is the only absolute smoke, soot and gas-consuming stove in the world. Furthermore, Mr. Howard will demonstrate fully why the fundamental principles of most base burners and hot blast heaters are wrong, being peurile imitations of the various J. B. Howard devices.

Mr. Howard, who is known as "The Stove Wizard," is a man of dynamic energy and great personal magnetism. His lectures are full of sound logic and sane reasoning and he never fails to impress his listeners through the force of his arguments and by the appeal of his unique personality. To the person who is considering the purchase of a stove this demonstration will prove profoundly interesting, while to others Mr. Howard's lecture will prove most entertaining and instructive.

Holds Fire Perfectly Over Night

The FLORENCE will positively hold fire over night. Just fill the firepot of the stove when you go to bed and in the morning you will discover the same even temperature that existed when you retired.

The Florence Means More Heat and Less Fuel

You can heat a five or six-room house all winter long for very little with the FLORENCE and use a very cheap grade of coal. And furthermore, no matter how cheap the grade of fuel used, the FLORENCE keeps clean. This is because it can burn hard or soft coal siftings, dust, slack, coke, sawdust or rubbish. Mr. Howard proves this by actual test in his demonstration today.

For another time it is emphatically stated for the benefit of Whitley county residents that the following rumors are absolutely false: That the government will seize canned fruits and vegetables for government use. The truth is that the government will take over a large amount of the produce of large canneries, and for that reason housewives are urged to lessen the domestic drain upon canneries by doing as much of their own canning as possible. Neither do soldiers have to buy the knitted wearing apparel made by the knitters over the United States, who turn their work into the Red Cross depots, to be distributed among the soldiers.

TWO BOYS ARE HIT BY AUTOS DURING STORM

George Adamson and Rudolph Stock Are Knocked Down by Cars.

Two boys, one riding a bicycle and the other on foot, were struck by automobiles during the dashing rainstorm Thursday afternoon.

George Adamson, 14, messenger, living at the corner of Maumee avenue and Edsall avenue, was hit by the machine of Dr. J. A. Chapman, 921 Columbia avenue, when the lad was riding on Berry street. The blinding storm is blamed for the collision. The youth's hands were scratched and his leg is slightly hurt. His wheel was damaged.

Rudolph Stock, living on Pittsburg avenue, was knocked down by an automobile while crossing Maumee avenue, west of Grand avenue, Thursday afternoon. W. C. NO NEW CORN RECEIVED AT THE CITY SCALES Government May Furnish Cars to Stimulate Early Movement of New Corn.

No new corn was received at the city scales Friday and only one load of old corn was bought, this bringing $1.75 a bushel. Twenty-eight loads of hay were bought at $18.00 to $20.00 a ton; twelve loads of oats brought 58¢ to 60 cents a bushel. The city scales will close Saturday at 1 o'clock on account of the Liberty Loan parade.

The food commission is making an effort to get lower prices for corn, mainly to stimulate feeding and breeding of live stock and also to keep wheat out of the feeding class. It is thought that the government may furnish a number of cars to stimulate the movement of new corn and oats so that it can not be accumulated in the country.

The purpose of this step is to get new corn in competition with old as soon as possible.

HARD COAL MINERS STRIKE

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 19.—Claiming they have received no satisfaction on adjustment of grievances, 2,000 anthracite miners at Hazleton and the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre coal companies at Audenore, Green Mountain and Honeybrook struck today. The chief complaint is in reference to payment for the removal of rock. The output of the operations is 2,500 tons a day. According to the men the company was given warning several days ago on what to expect in case of failure to adjust matters.

ORDERS ARE GIVEN TO POLICE OFFICERS

Entire Force Will Be on Duty During Big Liberty Loan Parade.

Chief of Police Lenz has issued the following order relating to the duty of all officers during the Liberty Loan demonstration Saturday afternoon:

The following streets will be kept open and no automobiles or other vehicles allowed to park thereon from 12 o'clock noon until after the parade is over.

Berry street, from Calhoun street to Fairfield avenue; Harrison street, from Main street to Jefferson street; Wayne street, from Calhoun street to Bwing street; Washington street, from Calhoun street to Ewing street; Court street, from Main street to Berry street.

The speaker's stand will be placed, if the weather permits, on the south side of the court house on Berry street, and you will, therefore, arrange to not allow automobiles or other vehicles to be parked between Calhoun street and Clinton street on Berry street during the course of this entertainment. Place officers at the various corners in order that automobiles or other vehicles may not be permitted thereon.

On account of not having sufficient officers to protect all these corners that I have been asked to protect, we will arrange to have one sergeant and possibly six patrolmen lead the procession. All other officers will be stationed by the captain and lieutenant at various corners in order that no vehicles may go through or park in such places and such streets that I have designated above for no parking.

All officers will be on duty until the performances are over or have been released by either the captain or sergeants.

LIBERTY BOND CRUSH.

SECRETARY LANE INDISPOSED.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Secretary Lane, forced to cancel his liberty loan trip today because of a heavy cold, was reported much better today and probably will be at his desk in a few days.

FRED KLINE MAKES SUICIDE ATTEMPT

No Longer Wished to Live When His Landlady Marries Another.

Fred Kline, aged 34 years, rooming at the home of Mrs. Frank Gunz, 1102 Hayden street, severely wounded himself in an attempt at suicide Friday afternoon. Kline had been rooming at the Gunz home ever since his arrival from Flint, Mich., about a year ago. He professes himself to be very much in love with his landlady and at her marriage to Frank Gunz in August, threatened to shoot himself. He has repeated this threat at various times, and Mrs. Gunz became alarmed and hid the bullets to a revolver that was kept in the house.

Friday afternoon he returned from work at the Heaton coal yards. Finding the house locked he hunted about the neighborhood until he located Mrs. Gunz at the corner grocery. He requested her to come home with him. Upon arriving at the house he immediately proceeded upstairs, while Mrs. Gunz stayed in the kitchen. A short time afterward she heard a report, and going to the foot of the stairs she called. Kline came to the top of the stairs and with the remark, "Well it's all over," placed the gun to his shoulder and fired. Mrs. Gunz ran from the house and summoned help. Upon the arrival of neighbors Kline attempted to reach for the gun, but was intercepted. The wound is a slight one. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital.

CHANCE TO THINK ON DUTY OF DEFERENCE

Warm Advice to Receive
Due Consideration.

"Honor thy mother," was the subject of a scathing prelection delivered by Judge H. W. Kerr to Clarence Osterman, West Superior street, in the city court Friday morning.

"The young man who has no respect for his mother is worse than a brute," said the judge, in the course of his remarks to Osterman. "Ponder over these things. You are fined $25 and costs."

The fine, which totals $25, was affixed with the purpose of giving the youth, who is alleged to have mistreated his mother, a chance to ponder in isolation. It is expected that Osterman will spend several days at the county jail.

The weeping mother told that her son has called her vile names and threatened to harm her. The young man, who is well known in police court, has faced a like charge before.

Its a Long Way.

"Where is your home?" asked Judge Kerr, of Mike Miller, 27, who was taken from a Wabash freight train Thursday night.

"Hamburg, Germany," was the broken reply.

"You are a long way from home," was the court comment.

Miller told that he came to Fort Wayne from Mansfield, Ohio, where he had been working for several weeks. He registered for draft in Mansfield, but had lost his card, the young man told. He was bound into the custody of federal authorities in order that his conscription status may be properly investigated.

Other Police Court Cases.

The case of William Ward, Martin Roy and James Roy, all living at 1513 Fletcher avenue, and who claimed to have engaged in a combat on Thursday afternoon, will be tried on Saturday morning.

Charges of public intoxication are: Charles Baus, fined $5 and costs; Erico Holmes, $5; Charles Harkensider, $5; Edward Nelson, $1. Walter Helwig and Robert Clark were released.

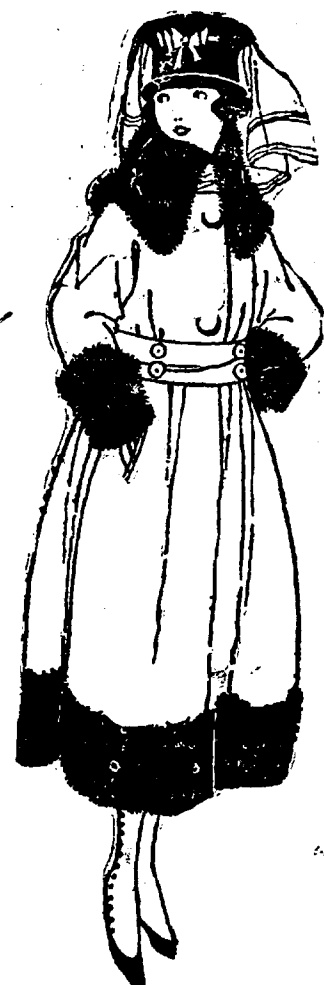

Robert Carter, charged with loitering, will be tried on Saturday.

HELPING TO WIN THE WAR

Article III—Advice to Americans Between the Ages of Sixteen and Twenty-One Years.

BY GEORGE ADE.
Prepared for the Indiana Council of Defense.

This is a letter to the fortunate ones who, ten years from now, will be enjoying the benefits of what all future histories will call the Great War.

You, (the girls of sixteen and slightly upward and the boys who are getting ready to vote) will know more about this war when your plump and middle-aged than any one can possibly know this year.

When the dust has cleared away and the large events of the war can be seen from a distance then you will understand that the issues involved had to be fought out, that the United States had to take part, that the task we are now undertaking had to be accomplished. Let us hope that each of you can say, twenty years from now, "I was young at the time but I knew what the war meant, and I helped."

Not all of the heroes are in the trenches. To prove that brave men remain at home, here am I, a one-hardened bachelor, venturing to give advice to young women, every one of whom knows all about the war or, at least, about one young man who has marched out to win the war.

No need to tell them to knit. They are knitting. Why whisper to them to beware of "slackers." The poor "slacker," already has felt the scorn of their glances. Perhaps some hints may be tabulated in the methodical style so dear to professors. Efficiency of soldiers at the front and in the training camps dependent upon:

(a) Physical welfare, resulting from comfortable garments and sensible attentions, provided by young women between the ages of 16 and 21.

(b) Mental calm, induced by the knowledge that all the girls at home will postpone definite arrangements until the soldiers come back.

(c) Spiritual exaltation, encouraged by the occasional receipt of letters from young ladies between the ages of 16 and 21.

From the above analysis it becomes evident that the successful prosecution of the war is not dependent upon the president and cabinet, or even upon the National Council of Defense, but upon Flora and Elsie and Agnes and Jessie. Don't let any one tell you that war is strictly a business proposition.

We can't win the war unless the bands play and the girls wave their handkerchiefs. Every selected man who starts to France must see himself as the hero of the play who steps in between the villain and the persecuted heroine and strikes the brute to the earth, saying, "Take that!" and "that!" and then bows to the applauding multitude.

The French weep a little and kiss one another on each cheek and sing the "Marseillaise" and then they are ready to capture some more trenches.

Repressed emotions sometimes turn sour. Don't be ashamed to let your enthusiasm float publicly to the breeze. You never saw a football team advance the ball unless it was getting encouragement from the girls on the side lines.

Now for the boys.

It has been carefully organized under government supervision. It has received the official endorsement of the president. The whole plan is working out successfully wherever it is understood.

The trouble is that some of the boys and some of the parents are still a little doubtful regarding enlistment because they don't know how much of an obligation is assumed.

Here is the plan in a nut shell: Thousands of enlisted and selected men have gone to the training camps. It may be that thousands more will go next year. These men are being called from factories and work shops and farms. They are being called from the streets and the homes. They are being called from the schools and the churches. They are being called from the very heart of the nation.

are to render full service to our faithful allies during the war. How can we fill the places of the young men who have gone away to fight? We must rely upon the boys who are old enough and husky enough to work, but who are still too young for military service.

So here is a trumpet call for city boys and town boys between the ages of 16 and 21.

Prove your patriotism and help your country by jumping in and doing the work of a soldier who has gone to the front.

The United States Boys' Working Reserve is not being organized for lads who have to work for a living.

Nearly every soldier now wearing a uniform could make more money at home.

You are not asked to work because you need the money. You are asked to work because your country needs your help and relies upon you to chuck aside false pride and join in the team work.

If your big brother can dig trenches surely you can plow corn.

Go to the recruiting office and enlist for the boys' working reserve. Then, when you are called upon, go and make good in the job assigned to you and win no medal and wear it and be proud of it.

When the government began to organize this voluntary service among boys, so as to meet the inevitable shortage of man-power, the skeptics and fault-finders got busy. They said that boys living in cities and towns never could be induced to work on farms, that farmers didn't want to have the town boys around because they would prove to be green and lazy or indifferent, and the whole thing was a fool contraption.

Doesn't your common sense and your knowledge of addition and subtraction tell you that if we suddenly take 1,000,000 or more men right out of the productive industries of this country, we must either find a million men to take their places or else go short on production?

Are we going to do as they have done in England—dress the women and girls in men's garments and put them to cleaning the streets and making explosives and wiping up locomotives in round houses and doing all the hard manual tasks? We mustn't come to that—not while we have on hand a whole army of young fellows between 16 and 21, nearly every one of whom has gone in for some kind of athletic sport and is physically able and would be as mad as a horse if you told him he was a mama's pet and not able to do a man's work.

The boys between 16 and 21 can and will supply the shortage of man-power. There will be a loud call for them in 1918. They will be the backbone of the nation.

QUEST CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

C. H. Worden and C. R. Lane
Address Noon Meeting at Commercial Club.

The Quest club held its regular meeting at the Commercial club Friday afternoon. The gathering was marked by its large attendance, seventy-five members gathering around the table. The meeting was to have been addressed by E. W. Puckett, but as he was unable to attend the keynote address was made by C. H. Worden, chairman of the Liberty Loan committee. He spoke upon the duty of the organization as individuals to support the new loan.

His talk was followed by a short address by C. R. Lane, chairman of the Liberty Loan publicity committee. The members of the Quest club enthusiastically pledged themselves to support the new campaign and to do everything possible individually. Four captains were named to work in connection with the campaign. The session ended with a short business meeting by the executive committee.

WRIGHT AIMS TO BE "HENRY FORD OF AIR"

Inventor Sees Transcontinental Air Highways After the War.

Special Dispatch from J. Herbert Duckworth, of Our New York Bureau, Dayton, O., Oct. 19.—Orville Wright may soon startle the world with a discovery almost as revolutionary as that with which he and his brother, Wilbur, amazed mankind in the first practical flying machine.

ORVILLE WRIGHT

In his experimental laboratory here in Dayton, Orville Wright is working hard to make his second great dream come true. He wants to see the airplane as serviceable and as cheap a vehicle as the humble flivver. He aims to be the "Henry Ford of the Air."

All this I gathered after a three-hour talk with Wright today. "What are you working on now?" I asked.

"I'm experimenting with wing models to increase the efficiency of plane surfaces." "Then there's room for improvement here?"

"Plenty. Big battleships don't interest me very much, except that I know they are needed to end the war, so we may tackle the airplane for the uses of peace."

"What is wanted is a comparatively low-powered machine, say of 100-horsepower, whose wing surfaces are so efficient and whose inherent stability is so high it won't require a big field to alight in."

"After the war, flying will become safe, popular and comparatively cheap."

"As soon as the war is over I expect to see the whole country mapped out with aerial highways. Along these routes, say every seven miles, there will be alighting stations and hangars. With these aerodromes as near to each other as this, it will always be easy for an aviator to make a safe landing in case of engine trouble."

"While flying one-half to one mile above the ground, a very modest altitude nowadays, it will be easy to glide to safety if you get stalled midway between stations."

"We already have an air route between here and Indianapolis, with aerodromes seven miles apart, and I am looking forward to the rapid extension of this system as soon as the war is over."

Others besides Orville Wright are preparing for the day when air highways will be as necessary to the commercial interests of the country as are the Lincoln and Dixie highways in the present age of the automobile.

The Aero club of America, to facilitate air travel, especially for manufacturers who are planning to deliver airplanes to the army aviation fields by air, has a committee mapping a great transcontinental route from New York to San Francisco.

To commemorate the signing of the $640,000,000 appropriation for aerodromes, and with the permission of the president, the great sky-road will be called the "Woodrow Wilson Aerial Highway."

HER HEART WOULD NOT BE DENIED ITS PRIZE

Dan Cupid Runs Blockade;
Mexican Love Halts at Naught.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 19.—Filibustering expeditions and full-fledged Mexican revolutions can't stop love. For instance, Miss Maria de la Luz Zubieta, 20 years old, called Mexico's most beautiful girl and daughter of the late Chief Justice Zubieta, of the supreme court of Mexico, came thousands of miles and risked bandit capture to wed Victor Jose Velasquez, 26. Besides, she gave up her country to wed an exile. Yea, out of the west rode young Lockhart's bride.

Velasquez is no piker himself when it comes to ancestry, even though he is an exile. How was he to know Carranza was going to win out? He might be holding a fat diplomatic job, such as he had in the days of old Porfirio Diaz, the dictator, had he picked the right fellow for his leader in one of those 22-caliber motion picture revolutions.

The birdgroom's father, General Velasquez, was minister of war under Porfirio Diaz, vice president of the republican party and director of military construction for the Mexican government. Young Velasquez was secretary of the Mexican legation in Paris and in Tokio, and is a graduate of the University of Paris.

PRUSSIAN PLANS OF DESTRUCTION FAIL

World's Commerce in Ten Years.

Christiana, Oct. 19.—The German plans for destroying the world's commerce have failed, says the Norwegian Shipping magazine, which adds that "there is not great danger of the disappearance of merchant ships from the seas by reason of torpedoing for at least ten years." The article is accompanied by a chart showing the curve of English and French losses for four months, March to June. "The allies have reason to be of good courage when they look on these results," says the writer, "and they may await the future U-boat war with confidence. The chart curves show favorable results for England, and this may be ascribed to the arming of merchant ships." He believes that the story of 1915-16 will be repeated, that "the U-boats will be crippled unless or until the central powers can find new inventions which will make them powerful enough to gain the upper hand again." "Another reason for this favorable result," says the writer, "is the fact that when the U-boat war started in March, Germany sent out every U-boat she could muster, good, bad and indifferent, and the English defense, which was ready, reaped a rich harvest and crippled the dangerous enemy for the ensuing months." Failure of the submarine war also is attributed in part to faulty construction of the latest German U-boat.

Let's All of Us Buy Liberty Bonds

Usually we devote this space to the merits of Hadley Furniture or the merits of the plan on which it is sold—but just now there is another subject that is even more essential to the welfare of each individual than the furnishing of his home. In common with other business men throughout the country we want to urge you to purchase Liberty Bonds. We do this in a spirit of patriotism, it is true—but it is also good business. Business men would hesitate to recommend Liberty Bonds as an investment if they were not investing in them themselves to the full extent of their ability—and if they did not realize that nothing could be more sound and more safe. Business men feel that it is essential for the country's prosperity, as well as for the country's protection to have every individual loan the government what he can. It is our duty, of course. We who stay at home should contribute in order to back up the lads who have donned khaki. But it is more than duty—it is our privilege—to be permitted to invest our savings in this manner. Let's all of us buy Liberty Bonds to the full extent of our abilities.

So far as natural obstacles are concerned, the most spectacular fighting is being done that of the Italians along the Austrian front. Here in the Alps General Cadorna's heroes have pressed forward or upward over such terrain as this, dragging their artillery and baggage with them. The photograph shows a field gun being hoisted up a mountain side by a small derrick. From shelf to shelf it is lifted step by step, soon to thunder against the Austrian defenses. Some of the soldiers have ridden on the gun half way up the cliff, and can be seen scrambling across to the rope ladder to climb up and help lift the piece of artillery.

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid." For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water" or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get Anuric (double strength) at the drug store. This is a wonderful cleanser of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will find that it is many times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

MANY OF OUR HOME STATE WOULD TESTIFY.

Logansport, Ind.—"It has been some time since I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was troubled with my stomach and I tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. I happened to get a book, telling about this medicine. I read it carefully and thought I would try it. I got six bottles for $5.00 and I could feel the change before I finished the first bottle. I took about four bottles and I know it helped me more than any other medicine. I am always glad to tell and help others by telling about this medicine. —A. B. WINDAM, 423 Howard St. All druggists. FRANCE IS FACING A GRAVE FOOD SHORTAGE

America Must Hasten to the Rescue With Shiploads of Wheat.

Washington, Oct. 19.—France faces a very serious food shortage in the near future unless America comes to the rescue with shiploads of wheat immediately, French officials declared here today.

The American government, the food administration points out, did its share in answering this call by requisitioning, October 15, all American steamships of 2,500 tons or over. The food administration feels it is now up to the 22,000,000 housewives of America to fill some of these ships with wheat by using a pound less wheat flour per week for every member of their households.

"The situation in France is worse than had been thought," said a food administration official today. "We should not wait for 'Conservation Week,' October 28 to November 4, to begin this saving. We should begin now.

"France certainly needs wheat at once. We hundred million Americans must make up from our own supply the wheat shortage of France and our other allies. There is a call for every one of us to do his utmost.

"Wheat, however, is only part of the problem. It is equally vital that we conserve also meat, fats and sugar. If each of us will eat an ounce less meat, a quarter ounce less fat, and an ounce less sugar a day, our allies won't go hungry.

"We must make up this shortage. No other country can do it.

"The situation in France today, according to figures given out at the office of French High Commissioner Henri Tardieu, is this:

"Normally, France produces 90,000,000 hundredweight of wheat. This year the production will not be more than 38,000,000 hundredweight. This shrinkage was caused by the transfer of 12,000,000 men and women into military and industrial war work. Fighting back the Germans, France has had little time for growing crops.

"As for the shipping, it has gone the same way. At the beginning of the war France had 2,000,000 tons of merchant bottoms. Five hundred thousand tons of that has been sunk by submarines. It has not been replaced, and there is no shipbuilding under way in France today because all the shipyards have for three years been turned into munitions factories."

Medicines That Aid Nature Most Effectual.

"As a general rule the medicines that aid Nature are most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids Nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. When you have need of such a medicine give it a trial. You will never regret it.—Advertisement.

MAYOR
MARIAN N O'BRIEN

(Special Letter.)
Moorehaven, Fla., Oct. 17.—Romance is getting breathless following Florida's first and America's only woman mayor, Major Marian Horwitz O'Brien.
The "O'Brien" has just been tacked on, formerly was the exclusive possession of the mayor's campaign manager, the political seer who guided her to victory—Capt. J. J. O'Brien, Florida national guard.
Hardly had the ink dried on the marriage certificate when the ex-campaign manager and head of Moorehaven's select council, kissed his chief executive goodbye and left for the battlefields of France.
That leaves Mayor-Major Marian with an unromantic difficulty in her hands—for she was elected mayor as a Horwitz, and now her name is O'Brien, so what shall she sign to city ordinances, and oh, my, it's an awful mess.
Mayor Marian was born a Newhall.

The Newhalls are quite some folk in Philadelphia, Pa., whence most of Moorehaven's inhabitants came to the everglades a few years ago. She married George Quintard Horwitz, who also was quite some folk. But she never lost her love of democracy, and when Mr. Horwitz died she interested herself in his property in Moorehaven and also in the manager of said property, whose Philadelphia ancestors are unknown to the Newhalls and the Horwitzes.
'Twas "Johnny" O'Brien's hunch that Marian Horwitz should run for mayor, and he placed the dashing widow in the mayor's chair almost against her will.
Success at the polls was followed by success in courtship, and now the former Mrs. Horwitz, leader in Philadelphia society, is:
Mayor of this new town.
Major on the governor's staff, and Moorehaven's first war bride.

An Instantaneous Wrinkle Remover

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers," that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a jiffy.
She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered sassafras from her nearest drug-store and dissolve it in half a pint of witch-hazel. Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day for a while. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkles show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly delightful and lends self-confidence in one's appearance. This harmless home remedy is used by thousands of women to obliterate the unwelcome traces of time.—Advertisement.

GERMANY NOW PARTLY DEPENDENT ON WOMEN

Female Labor Has Largely
in Kaiser's Land.

Rotterdam, Netherlands, Oct. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The German empire, to some extent, has become dependent upon women's labor, declares a German correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdam Courant. In the hospitals, at railroad station, in shops and in offices, even in the most responsible positions, the work is principally done by women. In even first-class restaurants girls and women have replaced the waiters. The traveler who enters a hotel encounters a porter in long skirts, who carries out his behests as quickly as before. Street traffic is largely in the hands of the women. Women conductors, drivers and inspectors are dressed in the uniform of their male colleagues but with skirt or bloomers.
Passengers meet with better treatment than was the case with the male staff. On the railroads women are serving in booking offices, as guards on the trains, or porters. Letters and telegrams are delivered by women and girls. Most of the few automobiles are driven by women.
But the main work of women is in the factories. The skilled work has now more and more passed into their hands, as well as the carrying of heavy loads. At the turning bench, at the furnaces, everywhere they are met with. Their wages at 7 or 8 marks a day are equal to men's earnings for like labor. They work in blue smock frock and bloomers with a sort of sailor's cap or cloth on their heads, with black hands and rolled-up sleeves; and in the meal hour they are more and more to be seen in the street, even with bare legs, for stockings are a superfluity in factories, at the furnaces and such like occupations.
The results of women's work in the mining industry are termed very satisfactory. The sorting of sweepings, old iron and brass, the unloading of freight cars, is performed by woman's hands and arms, and a newcomer is amazed at the way in which she clambers about and lifts shoulder loads. In agriculture women have always supplied auxiliary labor, but now also do the heavy work like mowing, plowing and threshing.
Dress has naturally been brought into accord with the new work. On the railroads, and partly on the street cars, skirts have been replaced by bloomers and gaiters, and beribboned and feathered hat or cap or headcloth. But there is a sailor's collar for the uniform jacket, and a flower in the button hole; the jacket is open at the neck, the cap is worn in slanting fashion, a watchchain is fastened on the breast, a bit of lace adorns the sleeves.

Mergentheim's—Open Saturday Night Until 10 o'Clock—Mergentheim's

outdoor sport is shrapnel hunting. Thousands have become addicted to the game. It begins some time between 8 and 11 in night. If you go out into the streets of London at that time—the chances are that certain bombing activities will have kept you indoors earlier—you will note strange groups prowling about over the sidewalks and pavements in the dim glow of the street lamps.

NEW OUTDOOR SPORT FOR LONDON PEOPLE
Shrapnel Hunting Attracts Hundreds to Streets After Air Raid.
By KENNETH W. FAYNE
London, Oct. 18.—London's latest

Here is a group of youngsters that ought to be home in bed—or in the cellars—walking about bent double, searching. An excited cry from one brings them all about him. There are exclamations, a scuffle, then the kids go on with their search.
In other places an officer on leave and his sweetheart are repeating this strange performance, or a group of girls in front of a boarding house door. Several American bluejackets will be seen searching under one lamp, and a number of Australian Tommies under another.
It is shrapnel fragments they're after. Almost any little blackened piece will do, but the man who finds a battered nosepiece of a shell is winning.
As soon as the clumping of the de-don with shrapnel, and the distant crash of raiders' bombs dies away, this curious spectacle is to be seen in almost every street, long before the special constable's bicycle through the hazy, moonlit highways, giving the word, "All clear."

The popularity of the new game indicates how little the morale of London has been affected by the moonlight air raids.
NEW OPTICAL GLASSES.
London, Oct. 18.—The committee for scientific and industrial research reports that three completely new kinds of optical glasses have been discovered by Professor Jackson. A research on light alloys such as aluminum, zinc and copper, will, it is stated, be of the utmost importance for the future of aeronautics.

FALL RAIN STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE
Many Fire Alarms and Halting of All Hotel Elevator Service.

The series of dashing showers, which drove Fort Wayne in doors, Thursday evening, carried with them the damaging properties of summer storms. There was sufficient wind and lightning in the storm, which had been advertised by weather experts for a snow flurry, to spread several hundred dollars worth of damage in the city.
Elevator service in all hotels was at a standstill, Thursday night, because lightning bolts hit the heavy electric of the Y. W. C. A. and North-during the night and on Friday all elevators were working smoothly.

Firemen were called out a half dozen times after night fall. Part of the summons were false alarms. Lightning wrecked the chimney and broke several windows in the home of Robert Weber, 212 Hoagland avenue, shortly after 5 o'clock. Firemen were called, but the downpour of rain had extinguished the blaze, which started in the roof, before the men arrived.
Breaking of two light wires on Victoria street and the accompanying illumination as the lines struck the ground, caused firemen to be summoned to that region, before 6 o'clock. The fireworks stopped when the lines were cut near the poles.
The driving rain defoliated nearly all shade trees of the city. Friday morning found heaps of leaves against the sides of houses and sewer drains choked by the leaves.

Women! Keep It On Dresser! Never Let Corns Ache Twice

Instantly! Few drops stop corn-soreness, then corns and calluses shrivel, loosen and lift out with fingers—No pain!

The world owes thanks to the genius in Cincinnati who discovered freezone. Tiny bottles of the magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents. You simply apply a few drops of this freezone upon a tender, aching corn or a hardened callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose and shriveled that you lift it off with the fingers. Not a bit of pain or soreness is felt when applying freezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the skin or flesh. For a few cents one can now get rid of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, as well as painful calluses on bottom of feet without any pain. Ladies! Keep it on the dresser.

FACTIONS IN CHINA DISPUTE AUTHORITY

Both Claim to Have Backing of Constitution of Republic.

Peking, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Constitutionality is the wall behind which contending factions in China are taking refuge. Premier Tuan Chi-Jui insists that the republic, which has re-established in Peking with Vice President Feng Kuo-Chang at its head, is the constitutional government of China, and that Li Yuan-Hung still is the president.

The so-called parliament at Canton, consisting of fifty or sixty members of the dissolved parliament, insists that it is the constitutional government of China, and that Li Yuan-Hung still is the president.

The constitutionalists, now active in South China, under the direction of Sun Yat-Sen, have contested every important change in the central government during the last few months, and denounced it as unconstitutional. They say Li Yuan-Hung had no right to dissolve parliament, and that there certainly is nothing in the Nanking provisional constitution which justified such action.

Consequently, according to their line of reasoning, Feng Kuo-Chang, is neither the legal president nor the legal acting president of China.

There is some doubt as to what Feng Kuo-Chang's own contention is as to his legal status. While he has permitted all foreign legations to be presented to him as president and signs official documents as president, he is represented to provincial authorities as being only acting president. It is believed that Feng Kuo-Chang is undoubtedly anxious to be elected president by a parliament legally constituted, or constituted as legally as it is possible to do so under the present unsettled conditions in China. He has held out against the plan of his cabinet to have a national council formed with five members from each province to act as a parliament.

Feng Kuo-Chang heads a de facto government which actually exists in Peking, and has the support of nineteen provinces and the recognition of all important foreign powers. Therefore, the efforts of the opposition in the south to oppose the Peking government and deny its legal existence, thus far seem futile.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

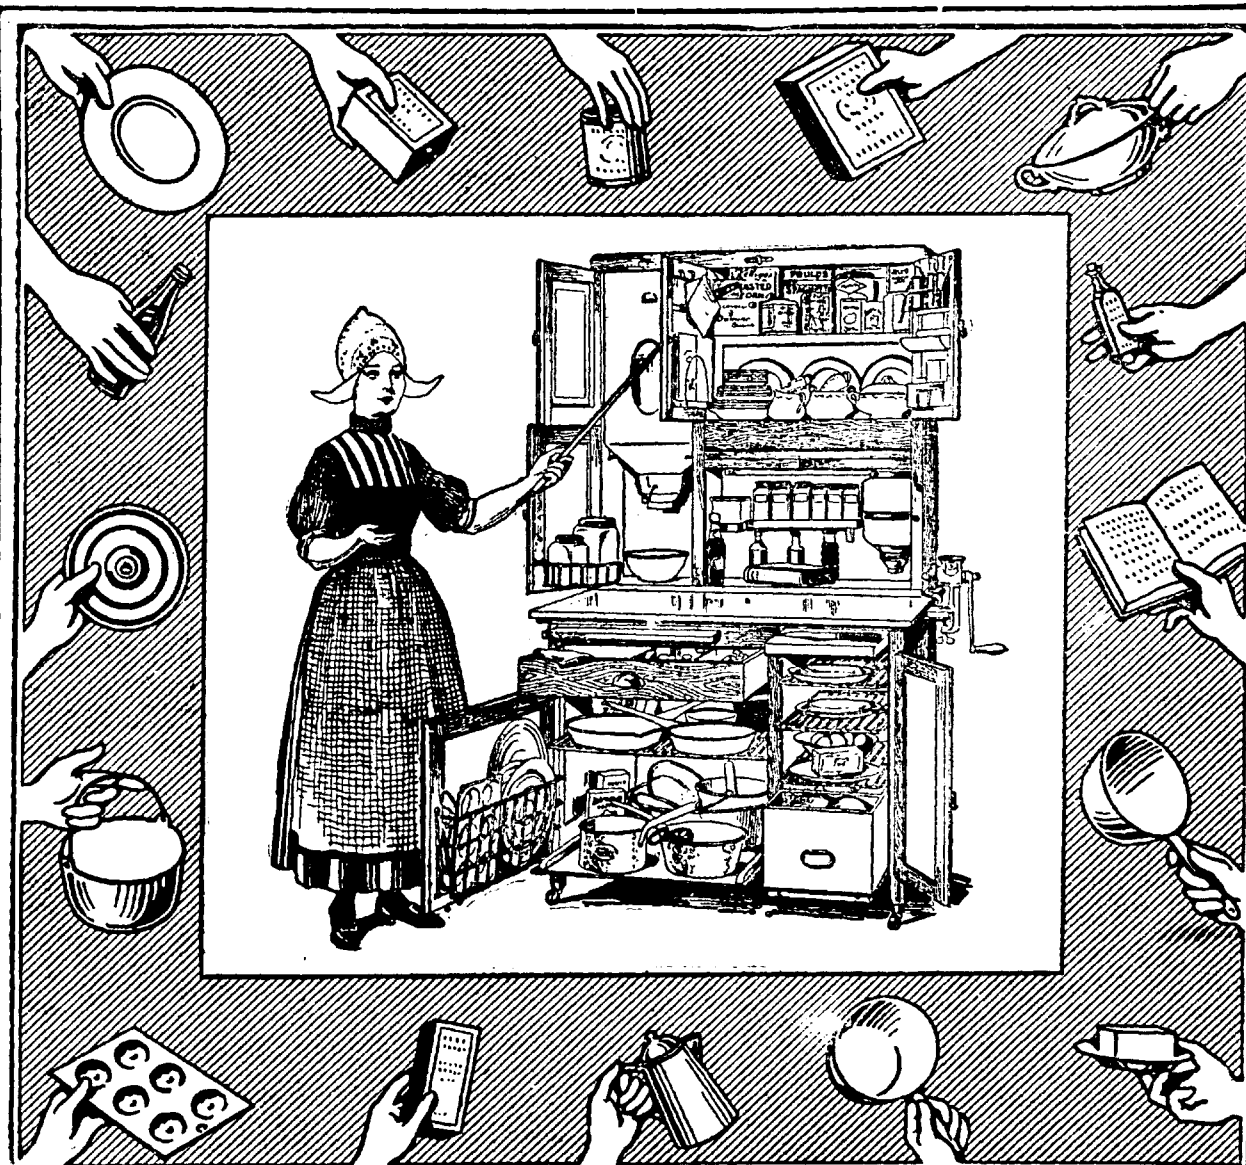

Says inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly—An experiment.

LIBERTY LOAN MOVIES

"Absolutely safe," said Mr. Farmer, as he bought a bond. To be continued tomorrow.

"DEAR,-Stop Your Dandruff by using Pompeian HAIR Massage."

"Dandruff has made your hair straggly, thin looking and lifeless. Your coat collar is always covered with ugly scales. Stop your Dandruff now. You can. Just look at my hair. The Dandruff is entirely gone and almost overnight Pompeian HAIR Massage made my hair attractive."

The success of Pompeian HAIR Massage is in its name—"Massage." It is a treatment, not merely a tonic. The massaging (rubbing) of the scalp wakes up the roots of the hair to new life. This massaging also opens the pores of the scalp to the wonderfully stimulating liquids in Pompeian HAIR Massage. Dandruff goes. Your hair will become and stay healthy, vigorous, attractive.

All that is needed is a little massaging once or twice a week. One application shows results. Your scalp will immediately feel clean and invigorated. In one month your Dandruff will be gone. Pompeian HAIR Massage is a clear amber liquid. Not oily. Not sticky. Very pleasant to use.

"Greatest treatment for Dandruff in the world," says J. A. Y. Chicago, Ill., "and I speak from experience. My hair before I started using it had gone beyond the ordinary stages of Dandruff and was covered with scales which embarrassed me greatly. I have introduced Pompeian HAIR Massage to my friends."

Practically every user says—Get a 25c, 50c or $1 bottle at the stores and say the same.

Have your barber every now and then apply a careful Pompeian HAIR Massage. Used in over 30,000 of the best barber shops from Maine to California.

TRAGEDY OF SERBIA ONE OF WAR'S WORST

Population is Terribly Reduced and Suffering is Intense.

London, Oct. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The situation in Serbia today is summed up in a communication received by the British socialist party from the executive committee of the Serbian socialist society.

"The Serbian population in the portions of our country occupied by Austria-Hungary, is now 2,218,000, according to official census figures published in the Official Journal at Belgrade. The population normally would have been 3,170,000. There is therefore, a reduction of 952,000, or 28 per cent. The male population has been reduced by 39 per cent. There are now in Serbia 144 women to 100 men."

"In the districts occupied by Bulgaria the reduction in population is 300,000."

"Dr. Otakar Ribar, the Austrian Reichsrath deputy, declared in the Vienna parliament, June 26: 'Serbia will be saved, but there will no longer be Serbia.' He said these words when protesting against the greatest crime committed in this war, the deportation of 30,000 Serbian women, children and men from the departments of Vranje, Nish and Pirot, and their internment in Asia Minor. Among these 30,000, there were 8,000 women and young girls delivered over to the Turks. Of these a great number committed suicide by throwing themselves out of the trains conveying them to Asia Minor."

"The deaths among war prisoners and those interned are put at from 60,000 to 80,000. After the retreat from Serbia and the reconstitution of the Serbian army, about 20 per cent. died at Corfu. Our losses on the Salonik front have been about 50 per cent. of the Serbian forces which have taken part in the operations of General Serrail's armies."

"Sixty thousand families in Serbia require succor this winter. They have no means of living except the little that we can send to them. Their sufferings during the approaching winter will be very severe."

Suffered Terribly From a Burning Sensation in His Stomach.

"Last summer I had a bad spell of indigestion that lasted about ten days. There was a terrible burning sensation and a good deal of gas in my stomach. I suffered terribly at times, being unable to get relief until I took a friend's advice and began using Chamberlain's Tablets. The relief from the first was very apparent, and by taking only half a bottle of them I was cured," writes G. F. Parkhurst, Cicero, N. Y.—Advertisement.

WARREN EDITOR STIRS UP HUNTINGTON COUNTY

Asks Why Election Boards Are Not Learning Status of Women.

etaci shrdlu taoi S-T-O hamt hof tmm
Huntington, Ind., Oct. 19.—Huntington county has been much awakened by an article appearing in the Warren Tribune, of which Monroe Wiley is editor. The Warren newspaper man seeks to learn why the election commissioners of the county have made no apparent effort to learn the exact status of women of the county for the coming elections of Warren, Huntington and Elkhart.

Lemons Do Whiten! Try This on Face, Neck, Arms, Hands

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of those lines of care; in fact, a skin eloquent of nature's purity and hands white, soft and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a white quartet pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost, and the grocer has the lemons.—Advertisement.

which was published Thursday afternoon, Monroe Wiley charges that unless the present suffrage law is held unconstitutional there are grounds for believing that women should have the ballot in the Huntington county contests.

The Warren editor quotes the view of the attorney general and other state officials, who hold that, under the present understanding of the woman suffrage law, the women can vote for all offices not created by the constitution. He cites the preparation being made in Allen county where women will vote in the election in every town.

Since Huntington and Warren are cities below the first and second class, the Warren men point out that under the present construction of the law the women of these cities, and of all other towns of the county, might be allowed to vote without registering.

Huntington county election boards have not let it be known if they have made any effort to learn the standing of women, Wiley states. He alleges that this may be due to neglect.

Monroe Wiley was a leader in the forces which successfully blocked a movement in the county seat town for removing the county jail, last spring, and for placing a hotel on the present desirable site of the county building.

Make Your Money Win the War!

OVER in France are thousands of Uncle Sam's Boys in Khaki, and hundreds of thousands more will soon be there. That's their place on the Battle Line. They are fighting for you.

You have not worked to the beat of drums. You have not "sought the great prize of death in battle." But you can help tremendously—now—and show the Boys in Khaki that you are fighting for them in the Fields, or in the Factory, just as they are fighting for you in the Trenches.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS. Enlist every dollar you can raise to fight alongside your sons, brothers and neighbors, who are bearing the brunt of your battle in France!

The greatest service your dollars can render is but little compared with that of the boys who wear Uncle Sam's uniform. They are staking their lives. But you, in buying Liberty Bonds, are taking no chance, for Liberty Bonds, bearing interest at four per cent, are the best and safest investment you can make.

The dollar in your pocket is no more sound than a Liberty Bond.

The Government is back of both. In fact, a Liberty Bond is even better than money, for money can never be worth more than one hundred cents on the dollar, while Liberty Bonds are just the same as cash and at the same time pay you $4 a year interest on every $100 Bond.

sion which will soon visit America.
The business circles of the empire attach great importance to this mission because it represents an intention on the part of Japan to adopt herself in a financial and economic way to the new conditions created by the war and by the entrance of the United States into the hostilities.

Baron Tanetaro Megato, one of Japan's leading financiers, who has designated by the cabinet as chief commissioner, will be accompanied to America by a staff of experts from various ministries and by four prominent men representing the leading business interests. In a general way, he says he wishes to develop a prac-business interests, whether they be in the United States, Japan or China.

licans Have Nominated
Their Tickets.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Grabill, Ind., Oct. 19.—Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming election and the local candidates for the town offices are busily engaged soliciting votes. A complete ticket has been nominated for both the democrats and republicans. The tickets are as follows:

Democratic ticket: Councilman First ward, C. O. Benjamin; councilman Second ward, Albert Egly; councilman Third ward, W. A. Frieze; marshal, Eric Seymour; town clerk, Dr. O. K. Hilly.

Republican ticket: Councilman First ward, David Grabill; councilman Second ward, Christian Shank; councilman Third ward, J. A. Klopfenstein; marshal, Jacob Conrad; town clerk, Homer Klopfenstein.

Grabill Minor Notes.

The Revs. Christian Egle and Jacob Schmucker, of Illinois, are spending a few days here in an evangelistic tour of the Mennonite churches of this district.

It is feared the people of this community will suffer from a coal famine the coming winter. The local coal dealers are unable to get shipments and already some of them are making arrangements to secure their winter's supply at Fort Wayne, hauling it in wagonloads.

D. N. Klopfenstein is having a very successful run this year in his cider mill. Judging from the wagonloads of apples coming to the mill it would seem there will be a very heavy yield this fall.

RETURNS FROM TRIP.
Alvin Kayser, traveling representative for the Evans Coal company, has returned to Fort Wayne after spending several weeks among the southern coal mines. He spent much of his time among the mountain folks and has many tales of quaint adventures to relate.

Cytisus proliferus, popularly known as "tagasaste," is a plant of ornamental value and a good stock forage plant too.

AFTER THE BATH

one feels greatly refreshed and invigorated. Have you stopped to consider what a real blessing a real, genuine, large porcelain bath tub is in the house? Just stop in our store and take a good look at one. You'll be astonished with their beauty and serviceability.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR AND STOP DANDRUFF

Hair Becomes Charming, Wavy,
Lustrous and Thick in Few Moments.

Every Bit of Dandruff Disappears
and Hair Stops
Coming Out.

For a few cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some of the new hair cream. It moistens a cloth with a little Dandrin and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those who have their hair neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Dandrin dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandrin from any drug store, or the counter and just try it. You will be amazed at the results.

PERSHING TAKES A LEAD IN SWATTING

Drillmasters Baking Bread and Expert Buyers Are Bossing Stevedores.

By C. C. LYON.
Daily Sentinel's Reporter With General Pershing's Army.

Somewhere in France, Oct. 19.—(Passed by the censor.)—Until the American military machine over here gets to running smoothly, like the French or the British, there are bound to be a good many misfits in high places.

One of the very biggest problems before General Pershing and his staff just now is to find the right men for the right jobs.

This, of course, can't be done in a day or a week or a month.

To illustrate my point:

The American bakery, which will ultimately have a daily output sufficient to supply the needs of a million soldiers, is now in charge of a regular army officer, a graduate of West Point, who rendered especially efficient services in Mexico with General Pershing. He is considered one of the best line officers in the entire army. Yet he is baking bread instead of training troops. All he knows about baking bread he learned from practical bakers in the army baking school.

One of the biggest machine shop experts in Pittsburgh came over here with a captain's commission in the reserve army, expecting to construct, equip and superintend an immense plant for the repair of trucks and automobiles. There was a hitch somewhere, and he is running an army grocery store.

One of the most prosperous merchants in New York, who probably knows as much about the buying of food supplies as any other man in America, felt the call of duty, left his own immense business interests on a few hours' notice and came over here to help out. He has been put to bossing stevedores in a big warehouse.

A Milwaukee man was commissioned because he is an expert in the handling and direction of motor trucks. But he's a quartermaster now, and the handling of auto trucks is in charge of an officer who knows as much about artillery as possibly any other man in the American army.

The apparent reason for these inconsistencies is that our small regular army, which is running this show over here, hasn't fully realized the immensity of the job.

It's a big jump from a peacetime army of a hundred thousand men to a wartime army of more than a million.

The experience of the British and French has been that "the army behind the lines" is largely a proposition for business men and technical experts, and not for soldiers whose training has been confined strictly to military tactics, strategy and direction of troops.

A regular army officer can't be expected to know as much about butchering hogs, or baking bread, or repairing auto trucks, or buying socks, as experts in these various lines. In the British and French armies these things are done by real butchers, bakers, mechanics and fabric experts.

Outside of army circles over here, it is the opinion of the well informed that ultimately the American army will have to come to the British and French systems.

This will mean that America will have to be more liberal in granting commissions to civilians whose services would be of inestimable value to the expeditionary force.

Also, there would have to be a casting aside of many unnecessary technicalities.

General Pershing has shown himself to be heartily in favor of efficiency above everything else. Every once in a while he brushes aside red tape to get what he wants.

OVER THE LINE.

Oldenzaan, Netherlands, Oct. 19.—A comic incident reported from the frontier involved a Russian prisoner-of-war who was on the point of stepping from German onto Netherlands soil when he was grasped by a German sentry. A wrestle ensued. The fugitive threw himself on the ground and lay with the upper part of his body in Holland and the other in German territory. A Dutch sentry rushed to the Russian's help, seized him by the arms and pulled. The German soldier pulled at the Russian's legs in the opposite direction. The Russian began to kick with the result that the Dutch frontier guardian was able to haul him out of the "danger zone."

Australia is experiencing difficulty in getting storage for its wheat.

The first bomb, which was dropped, narrowly missed the ship. The engines were stopped and the crew ordered into the boats. Four more bombs were dropped dangerously near the vessel. Before all those on board had entered the boats there was a panic, and the captain had to use his revolver to enforce discipline.

The ship's company, after remaining for about two hours in the boats, returned to their ships. Several hours later another airship appeared and hovered about the ship for a time, but departed without doing any harm.

LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE BRINGS GOAL NEAR

TWO BILLIONS WILL BE SUBSCRIBED BY END OF THIS WEEK

Saturday Night Set for the Attainment of That Figure and It Is Now Believed in Sight.

RETURNS SHOW EFFECT OF EFFORT

Washington, Oct. 19.—The Liberty Loan campaign continued its gains today and treasury officials announced that many estimates placed the total so far subscribed at about $1,750,000,000 and "within striking distance" of the $2,000,000,000 hoped for by Saturday night.

Unofficial figures made public by the department show that a minimum of $1,535,000,000 had been subscribed up to the close of business Wednesday night. The officials were optimistic that the $5,000,000,000 mark would be obtained at the close of the campaign October 27.

"More than $2,000,000,000 in subscriptions by Saturday night," today's announcement says, "is the rallying cry to liberty loan workers being schooled from coast to coast. Revelations that the combined totals of all districts are within striking distance of this mark—possibly up to $1,750,000,000—have given new courage to working committees and renewed their determination to attain the maximum of $5,000,000,000 by the close of the campaign Oct. 27."

"Many estimates placed the total for the country today at above $1,750,000,000. It may not have reached that point, but it certainly is well above $1,500,000,000. A carefully compiled total based on conservative estimates of sales yesterday and unofficially reported shows that a minimum of $1,535,000,000 has been established."

"Here are the unofficial figures: New York, $560,000,000; Chicago, $300,000,000; Cleveland, $115,000,000; Philadelphia, $115,000,000; Boston, $110,000,000; St. Louis, $80,000,000; Hammond, $75,000,000; Kansas City, $60,000; San Francisco, $50,000; Minneapolis, $45,000,000; Atlanta, $40,000; Dallas, $15,000,000."

SETTING UP ALIBI FOR BERNSTORFF IN BOLO PASHA AFFAIR

Amsterdam, Oct. 19.—Count von Bernstorff did not know Bolo Pasha, the Frenchman held as a spy in France, according to the Tageblatt. Discussing the Bolo affair, the newspaper says:

"In connection with the Bolo Pasha episode and the disclosures of Secretary Lansing concerning the part alleged to have been played by Ambassador von Bernstorff and Foreign Secretary von Jagow, we are informed by a competent source that the personality of Bolo Pasha was not known to von Bernstorff in Washington, inasmuch as the ambassador did not have recourse to sources in the United States which might have been at the disposal of official quarters here."

"It is also established that the name of Bolo Pasha was never made known to von Bernstorff and his banker intermediaries did not mention him. Consequently the passage in the alleged telegram published by Secretary Lansing in which von Jagow asked von Bernstorff 'What is new about Bolo?' is false."

"This warrants the obvious deduction regarding the trustworthiness of other details in this campaign."

FORT WAYNE MEN HUNT SCREECH OWL

Something New Takes the Place of Old Stunt of Hunting Snipe.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 19.—The hunting of snipe is passe with Bluffton Jokers and the hunting of screech owls is the rage. This stunt was brought into use at "Camp Baumgartner," two miles west of Linn Grove, where Bluffton men and their friends have been camping the last few days.

Dr. Miles F. Porter, Jr., and his brother, Charles Porter, of Fort Wayne, were the victims. Three times were the two young men led into the woods near the camp to shoot a screech owl, which they heard, and each time they returned without their game. Orin Baumgartner carried the lantern for them, but, of course, was not able to help them in their hunt.

It was after the third hunt through the woods and when all the campers were sitting around the fire, that Harry Starr, of this city, let out a "screech owl" call and the Fort Wayne visitors then tumbled.

Camp Baumgartner is located along the Wabash and is fitted up in fine shape for the fishermen. Dr. Miles Porter, sr., of Fort Wayne, was also a guest at the camp, along with 25 Bluffton men.

UP TO CONSUMER TO KEEP PRICES DOWN TO REASON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—Unreconcilable discrepancies between prevailing wholesale and retail prices on foodstuffs may be reduced materially if consumers bring sufficient pressure to bear, Food Administrator Hoover admitted in an announcement in the approaching end of the high price period. A gradual price decline is predicted between now and the end of the year. Inability of the food administration to act in the case of retailers doing a business of less than $100,000 a year, makes it impossible to control the great bulk of retailers.

Summary of the Day's War News

Russia's capital is soon to be removed to its ancient site at Moscow. The government's announcement of its decision to shift its activities from Petrograd assigned no reason for the change. The issuance simultaneously, however, of a statement that the civilian population of Revel, the Russian naval base on the Gulf of Finland, is being removed to the interior suggests that the decision was not influenced by the German threat against Petrograd now being developed in the naval and military operations in the Gulf of Riga and northward.

Previous suggestions that the removal of the government to Moscow was contemplated had reference not only to the military situation but to the assumption that the government might be freed to pursue its work in Moscow than in the present capital, where extremist influences are powerful and turbulence more difficult of suppression.

While the small fleet the Russians had in Riga waters apparently has been penned in by the Germans as a result of their land operations, on Oesel and Moon islands and the disposition of their superior naval forces as strategic points of the gulf, the main Russian fleet remains in the Gulf of Finland, through which runs the water route to Petrograd. There is apparently no intention of sending it out to engage the Germans although the men of the fleet are reported anxious to fight.

On the western fighting front the French have been engaged in some intensive operations in the Alsace region centering in the district south and southwest of Laon. Extensive raids have been carried out after the guns have prepared the way and several scores of prisoners have been brought in by the French infantrymen who likewise inflicted notable damage while they were within the German lines.

The activity of the German infantry along the French front was apparently confined last night to the Verdun region. Here another local attack was made on the French lines east of the Meuse which the French repulsed.

Field Marshal Haig's report from the Flanders front today gave little idea of what is occurring in this important fighting area. Only the activity of the German artillery at certain points was mentioned. Berlin's statement, however, indicates that an extremely severe bombardment is in progress in Flanders, the area where the big gun fire is intensive, taking in the front occupied by the French near Houtholst wood on the British left flank, as well as the lines to the south.

SUGAR FAMINE IN NEW YORK

RESTAURANTS CUT OUT SUGAR BOWL

Housewives Scour the Town Gathering Up Small Supplies.

New York, Oct. 19.—With wholesale sources of supply virtually shut off, and refiners unable to get the material, New York is threatened with a sugar famine. Many stores have been without sugar for several days and those dealers who have a supply on hand are limiting sales to a few pounds to each customer.

Alarmed at the scarcity many housewives went about the city buying a pound or two and carrying it home as fast as they could find it.

Prices have gone up and some sales as high as 15 cents a pound have been reported. Henry Moskowitz, the newly appointed city commissioner of mar-

PENNSY MEN GIVE $33,800

Splendid Showing is Made in Sale of Liberty Loan Bonds.

GENERAL ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES ALSO BUY

Wonderful Spirit of Patriotism Being Shown by Boys in the Shops.

The men of the Pennsylvania shops are setting a splendid example of patriotic loyalty at the very beginning of the second liberty loan campaign. Even now, with the start of the bond sale several days away, the purchases made by the men in the Fort Wayne shops begins to approach the total of the first sale. Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, in describing the enthusiastic response of the Pennsylvania men, said this morning:

"Up to last evening a total of $33,800 worth of liberty bonds had been purchased by a comparatively few of the men in our departments. When we consider that the entire amount of the last sale among our men amounted to $50,000, it is easy to see that we will far outstrip the former effort. Only 529 men represent the amount already subscribed. We have made arrangements this time, also, so that Allen county will get the credit for the sale of the bonds to the local men. We believe our organization is a good one for the conduct of the campaign. First we held meetings of the foremen, gang foremen and others. Yesterday, following the meeting addressed by S. M. Foster and Harry H. Hilgemann, the real work started. At 1 o'clock today a meeting was held at the east car shops, followed at 4:30 by a meeting of the day round house men and at 6 o'clock by a gathering of the night round house men. Every man is shown the advantages of owning a liberty bond. We have arranged for payments in ten installments, the payments on the new bonds not to start until the holders have paid for their former bond purchases. The payments will be deducted regularly from the wages of the men who buy the bonds. Every present holder is urged to invest again. The seventy-five men in the operating department of the road on the division between Gary and Bucyrus will be visited personally by two special representatives who started out today. Also, every agent and office employee along the road, as well as the telegraph operators, car inspectors, engineers, firemen, brakemen, signal repair men, signal maintainers and all others employed along the system."

Mr. Griest added that in some departments where the work is progressing, the response is 100 per cent strong.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company last week subscribed a total of $50,000,000 of liberty loan bonds. In order still further to help make the loan a success it sent out 1,000 salesmen to call on every one of its 160,000 employees.

GOVERNMENT TO BE SHIFTED TO ANCIENT SEAT

Menace of the German Advance Has Caused Decision to Abandon Petrograd as Capital

ROMANOFFS IN VERY HUMBLE ESTATE

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—The government has definitely determined to move to Moscow in the very near future.

The newspapers publish an official announcement that the evacuation of the fortified port of Revel on the Baltic at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland has begun.

The schools at Revel have been closed. The inhabitants of the city are being sent to the interior of Russia. Announcement that the government will move to Moscow was made today by M. Kishkin, minister of public welfare.

After the capture of Riga by the Germans preparations for removal of the government to Moscow were begun. The failure of the Germans to develop their offensive after taking Riga, as well as the approach of winter weather making open campaigning impracticable, relieves the fear for the safety of Petrograd for the near future. Last week announcement was made that the preparations for transferring the seat of government had been stopped, as there was no prospect that such action would be necessary, at least for some time. The new offensive operations by the Germans, resulting in the capture of Oesel and Moon islands and the threat of an invasion of Esthonia, again changed the situation, however, and may be responsible for the decision to remove the government to Moscow, the ancient capital.

The turbulent political conditions in Petrograd and the presence there of large numbers of extremists and agitators may also have influenced the cabinet.

Reval, a town of about 65,000, two hundred miles southwest of Petrograd, is a naval station and with Helsingfors and Hangö on the northern coast of the Gulf of Finland guards the approaches to the gulf. The landing of German forces on the Esthonian coast would menace this town from the rear.

Romanoffs use food cards.

Petrograd, Oct. 19.—The family of Nicholas Romanoff, former emperor of Russia, now procures its food supply by the use of cards. The authorities in the Tobolsk district are issuing food cards and the Romanoffs must obtain their food the same as other citizens.

Gen. Gurko in London.

London, Oct. 19.—Gen. Gurko, former commander on the Russian southwestern front, has arrived in England with his wife, on board a British ship. The correspondent of the Daily Express says:

A SUGAR FAMINE MAY INTERFERE WITH CHRISTMAS

Chicago, Oct. 19.—A nation-wide shortage of sugar which threatens to curtail the supply of candy for the Christmas holidays will be less felt in Chicago than elsewhere, according to wholesalers. The promise of relief for Chicago, it was stated today, is the result of a "gentlemen's agreement" between the western beet sugar manufacturers and wholesalers that this city shall be taken care of first.

Reports from various cities received here indicated that the meager supplies are held by retailers and that in many places dealers are refusing to sell more than one pound to a customer.

The sugar beet harvest is now under way in the west and the product will begin to be marketed about the last of next week. Chicago dealers expect to have shipments of the new sugar within ten days, but many sections of the country will get none of the new crop, it is said, for sixty days or more.

NO FURLONGS TO COME HOME TO VOTE

Men in Camp Taylor Will Not Take Part in Indiana City Elections.

Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., Oct. 18.

None of the soldiers of the national army, from Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, now in training at Camp Taylor, will be allowed furloughs to go to their homes to vote. Announcement to that effect has been made by the division staff of the 84th division, national army, in reply to numerous inquiries from politicians in all three states from which the men are drawn.

The letters on the subject were of three classes. One merely asked for information. Another group expressed a desire that the men be allowed to return, intimating they might "save the day," while the third group was from those who are anxious that the men not be allowed to return. Several writers asserted that the result of local elections hinged on whether or not soldiers returned to vote.

Colo. Laurence Hales, division chief of staff, said there was not the remotest chance of the men being granted furloughs to return to their homes to vote unless the war department issued special orders to that effect.

Officers believe that a few days absence from the camp would mean a setback of weeks in training and a long delay in getting the men ready for the front.

In Louisville 700 men at Camp Taylor, under normal conditions, would have voted. If all, or nearly all, were of one political party it can be seen what effect it would have on a close election.

From Indianapolis there will be about 2,000 voters at the camp on the date of the election, Nov. 6. Other cities in Indiana and the other two states where there will be municipal elections, have sent men in proportion to their populations, so the effect throughout will be about the same.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 21

THE TEMPLE REBUILT AND DEDICATED.

LESSON TEXT—Ezra 3:8-13; 6:14-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise.—Psalms 100:4.

The remnant which returned had now become settled in their new homes. As it would be a considerable time before the temple could be rebuilt, arrangement was made for the religious life as early as possible, as religion was the very heart of the nation's life. They first set up the altar of the God of Israel (3:1-3) and offered burnt offerings thereon. They next revived the annual festivals (3:4-7) which had a powerful, unifying influence upon them.

I. The Appointment of Officers to Set Forward the Work of the Lord's House (v. 8, 9). Overseers were needed to direct this great work. Rubbish needed to be cleared away so the building operations could begin; timber needed to be cut in the Lebanon forests and floated down to Joppa; stones needed to be cut from the quarries; intelligent and consecrated men were needed to direct this work, as it was needful that it be done with the utmost expedition. The Lord's house demands the most systematic adjustment of its labors. Mere zeal will not make up for lack of intelligence.

II. The Foundation of the Temple Laid (3:10-13). This was done amid great rejoicing. The consciousness that the Lord's house was taking shape, even though the mere foundations could be seen, provoked great enthusiasm on the part of the people. Musicians were appointed to furnish music while the work was being done. Under the influence of music men will do better work, armies will march and fight better when bands are playing. While there was great joy, there was also mingled sorrow. This was on the part of the elders who had seen the former temple. The meanness of the present temple in comparison with Solomon's temple caused their praise to be drowned with their sorrow. These people belonged to that class who think that nothing now is so good as in the former days. So completely were these voices commingled that the people could not discern the one from the other.

III. The Building of the Temple Delayed by Opposition. (Chapters 4 and 5). For a time matters went smoothly with them, but as soon as the work had taken such shape as to show that there was some prospect of success, the half-breed Samaritans began to oppose them. No vital work of God will be allowed to go on without opposition. Satan resents and bitterly opposes all inroads upon his kingdom. These Samaritans sought to frustrate this work of God by:

(1) An Alliance With the Jews (4:2, 3). They wanted to bring the work in harmony with their own religious practices, as God's pure worship would be a constant rebuke to them. This is ever the way of the world, to seek to effect a compromise with God's children; but God's call is separation. "Come out from among them" (2 Cor. 6:14-18). Nothing so weakens God's cause as worldly alliance and compromise. There is but one answer to be given to such an offer of compromise. "We have nothing to do with us in building a house unto our God." We are in the world, but not of the world.

(2) Weakening the Hands of the People (4:4). Doubtless this included the withdrawal of supplies, the spreading of dissension among the workmen, and the employment of counselors against them.

(3) Letters of Accusation to the Persian King (4:8, 7). So severe was this opposition that the building was delayed for a term of years. These counselors succeeded in creating doubt as to whether Cyrus had ever issued a decree for their return. This wicked opposition resulted in the undoing of the opposers, for search was made and a copy was found. Darius confirmed this by his own decree, and directed that aid be given from the royal treasury so that the house of God might be built.

IV. The Temple Completed and Dedicated (6:14-18). The Prophets Haggai and Zachariah now appear, and by warnings, exhortations and entreaties stir up the people so that the work goes forward to a successful completion. Without their aid probably the work would never have been completed. Human nature at times needs to be cheered and urged forward. These prophets did not themselves work in the building of the walls, yet their work was of even greater importance.

It is generally found that this is so with the religious leaders today. The words of cheer and encouragement of the Christian minister are needed daily for those who labor in the building of the Lord's house. Were it not for them many would give up the struggle. When the building was finished it was dedicated to God with great joy. This was possible because they had builded and finished their task according to the commandment of the God of Israel. The service of dedication was much after the order of that of Solomon's temple, only on a less magnificent scale.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1917.

A TARDY DENIAL.

In an affidavit Anselm Fuelber denies that at the Harmer school Cutshall meeting Monday night he used the language imputed to him in respect of the war. In affidavits four of the men present on that occasion—two of them candidates on the republican ticket and another a republican officeholder—affirm that Mr. Fuelber did not employ the words ascribed to him.

It has been charged that Mr. Fuelber said: "I am in favor of anything to get us out of this dilemma into which President Wilson has led us."

It should be borne in mind that the speech in question was delivered Monday night. The first publication of it was Tuesday morning. In its several editions of Tuesday The Sentinel carried editorial reference to the matter in form that was conspicuous and of tenor to arrest attention. On Wednesday morning there was further newspaper reference to what Mr. Fuelber is alleged to have said. The same day The Sentinel made further conspicuous editorial comment on the objectionable words it has been reported Mr. Fuelber had used.

It is not until Thursday that any attempt is made to refute the ascription of those words to Mr. Fuelber or to publish his denial or to furnish him the exoneration of the testimony of others. Thursday afternoon Mr. Fuelber came to The Sentinel editorial rooms and said he had "heard The Sentinel had printed something about his speech" on the day previous. A matter that for three days had been the town talk and the incitement to a furious indignation appeared to have but reached his ears, just as it appears to have just come to the attention of Mr. Cutshall and his campaign managers.

Why all this delay to deny and refute a charge and disclaim speech that if not falsely ascribed was dismaying and damning? If Mr. Fuelber did not give speech to the sentiments it has been charged he did he could have as readily have set himself right in the columns of this newspaper on Tuesday as he did on Thursday.

Was there fear that by denial offense would be given to the handful of men in Fort Wayne who would approve and applaud such a sentiment if it were uttered? Did Mr. Fuelber at first think that what he declares is a distortion of his words had made a hit that might very well be left to stand? Did Mr. Cutshall and Mr. Cutshall's managers in the campaign for three days hold the matter similarly in view?

It is a strange, suspicious and unaccountable tardiness that has marked the steps taken to deny the words imputed to Mr. Fuelber.

There is the appearance that it was thought the sentiment was a good thing to have been said even though it had not been uttered and that at first there was the purpose to let the thing stand as it had been stated and "get by" with it.

IT DOESN'T REACH.

In another column of this page space is given to a statement by Mr. W. S. Cutshall, republican candidate for mayor.

It will be observed that Mr. Cutshall has begun to thunder somewhat in the index.

It will not so greatly matter as to that, however, if he make out in it to do what it is required of him to do.

The theatrical indignation that has been written for Mr. Cutshall will not cause a great deal of excitement. His literary man is pulling old stuff for him, albeit arriving at the liar and knave stage of the game a bit prematurely.

Mr. Cutshall, nevertheless gets a step closer to what the loyal people of this city would have him say than he has made out to do on any occasion heretofore. But his declaration does not yet reach.

Are we "in bad" in the war, are we making strife wantonly and without warrant upon a government whose favor we should curry and whose mercy we should seek, or are we in a righteous war for the support of our national dignity, for the recognition of our national rights and for the security of our national future? What is Mr. Cutshall's view of the crisis as to those things?

In common we all honor the patriotism, the courage and the valor of Mr. Cutshall's father and uncles. They were good men and true and when duty called they answered. But Mr. Cutshall must speak for himself and we hope he yet will speak with certainty and fullness.

His patriotism has not been aspersed. He has not been "brutally insulted." Nor has he, we opine, spoken his last word upon this subject. It is an issue that cannot be dismissed until he has said as his opponent has said and as loyal citizens of this republic agree and proclaim that this war is a righteous war for the honor and safety of this beloved republic.

A half dozen words from Mr. Cutshall will dismiss the issue as a question in this municipal campaign and bring him and his opponent and the great masses of the parties of both of them wholly and heartily at one for the cause that is dearer to us all than victory at the polls or the possession of the offices.

Let Mr. Cutshall do that. Let him set his face fast and bravely against disloyalty and the support of disloyalists.

There is going to be no pussyfooting in this campaign for the favor and support of a few men whose hearts and hopes are fixed on the triumph of the Hohenzollern.

WHAT'S ON THE FLAG?

What poison has got on our flag that in this supreme crisis of the republic's life a republican candidate repulses it as an impertinence and indecency for him to uphold it before the people as the thing that next after the Almighty Father must be first in their devotions?

What ignominy has there come to be in talking during times like these of the great travail of the nation and the duty of all patriots in the stress that has come upon us?

In darkening hours when danger threatens and perils beset the way, the duty of leaders is to lead. The duty of those who would set themselves over us is to counsel us to our inescapable work, to encourage us to our sacred tasks.

Mr. Cutshall says he scorns to wrap himself in the flag. Well, let him then "uplift it high, unfurl it wide that all the world may know" that in this time, when the souls of men are at stake and the republic's very existence is at risk there are faithful hands to bear aloft the glorious ensign for whose honor a million of the nation's sons are in arms.

The republic's fate will not be much determined by what happens as to this municipal election. It will be determined by the spirit and devotion of its people.

Mr. Cutshall will not offend good taste, he will not offend propriety, he will not offend decency, he will not offend loyalty by taking Old Glory in his hands wherever he goes. He will offend no one save those in whose hearts is the poison of disloyalty.

The miners have been admonished that it is a case of produce coal or go to work for the government at thirty dollars a month. They may not like to do either, but there is no doubt which horn of the dilemma will be chosen by them. The country must have fuel and the miners must produce it from the mines. The question of fair wages is important, but it does not transcend the critical situation in which millions of people and even the government itself now faces.

Allen Born and the Liberty Bond

Never before in any connection have citizens of foreign birth or extraction been better organized than they are for the second Liberty Loan campaign. In Chicago alone the foreign-language division of Liberty Loan campaigners numbers more than 2,000, and committees are being organized in every one of the 500 counties of the seventh federal reserve district.

"The foreign division of the campaign workers," says Nels M. Hokanson, secretary of the foreign-language division of the Liberty Loan executive committee of the seventh federal reserve district, "will give such a good account of itself in the matter of rolling up subscriptions for Liberty bonds that the entire country will take its hat off to it. In all directions the enthusiasm and patriotism are pronounced, and the various nationalities will be solicited much more thoroughly than they were in the first campaign. On all sides there is a determination to prove that the foreign-born have the interests of the nation as much at heart as the native born. The fellow who came over and took out his papers wants to show that the American blood in him is just as patriotic as that in the veins of the chap who points with pride to the fact that his people drifted to these shores on the Mayflower."

THE TRANSFER CORNER

"Fare, please! All the glad ones, and the sad ones; all the good ones, and the bad ones—get on here!"

"GOODBY, SOLDIER!"
Let us don our soldier clothes, and forth to war be faring;
Roll the drums down the streets—our bugles sound, "Advance!"
Kit and khaki we'll put on, for sad and savage wearing—
Take warm things to wrap us in, some-bloody-where in France!

Let the great bells clang, and blow the whistles—we are going!
Sound the loud alarms, we are marching to our ears!
Sweethearts, let us have our kiss—ah, how your tears are flowing—
Christ, it's grand to be a man, and quickstep off to war!

Now, the preacher lifts his prayer, and mumbles to the Giver;
Thousands wave their hands to us, and see we nothing lack!
God! Their love and roses flow like some enchanted river—
Let us take full-joy in this, in case we can't come back!

"Goodby, soldier! Here's a kiss!" Ah, love, why are you weeping?
We are glad to go for you—we are the new world's breed;
Rise in us the hero-souls of soldiers who were sleeping—
Let your love go out to us to save us in our need!

"Goodby, soldier! Here's a kiss!" Ah, love, we'll take our fill—oh,
Think of us; we march away, where bullets dash like rain!
Should we fall the love of you must be our dying pillow—
Christ! This hour is worth it all, should we not come again!

So we don our soldier clothes, and forth to war be faring;
Roll the drums down the streets—our bugles sound, "Advance!"
Kit and khaki we'll put on for sad and savage wearing—
Though we fall like blades of grass, we'll pay our debt to France!

ON HIS WAY!

The Liberty Loan and the Farmer

BY HON. D. F. HOUSTON, Secretary of Agriculture.

It is every citizen's duty to purchase a Liberty Bond if he is in a position to do so. Every patriot will regard it as a privilege to participate in the Liberty Loan. He will thereby contribute directly and effectively to the successful prosecution of the war which Germany has forced upon us. It faces you and me. If we do not win this war we must prepare ourselves for grave changes in our institutions and to lead a different sort of life from that which we had planned to live—from that which our forefathers died to give us the right to live. We shall indefinitely face the interference of the Prussian autocracy or bear permanently the intolerable burdens of militarism. To win this war we must have both men and money. I know that every farmer wants to do all in his power for the nation in this day of trial. He will not only labor to produce the necessary foodstuffs but will also generously contribute of his means to make it possible for the men at the front to achieve victory. I am confident that the farmers of the land will not permit any other class to take the leadership in supporting the government in this crisis, financially or otherwise.

We are at war with Germany because Germany made war upon us, sank our ships, killed our citizens, and plotted against us while professing friendship. We are patient till offenses became so flagrant and insults so intolerable that it was merely a question whether we would admit we were no longer a free nation or accept the challenge of the war-mad hypocritical and mediaeval Prussian militarists. There was one choice we could not make—we were incapable of making. We could not "choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored and violated." We are defending our rights as a free nation. We are resolved that there shall be an end of brute force in international affairs. What Germany's victory would mean to the world is plain. There would be no right except might, no peace save at the price of humiliations too bitter to be borne. Small nations could not exist. There would be sanctity to a pledge, no solemnity to a covenant. With the dominance of Prussian militarism, the Anglo-Saxon struggle for free institutions and liberty, persisting from Runemede to Yorktown, with its Magna Carta, its bill of rights, and its Declaration of Independence, will have been in vain. It is to prevent this, to defend our rights and to make possible an orderly and just peace in the world that we are at war. The nation calls on its citizens for high and noble service. On some it calls for service in the field; on others for service at home; on all, it calls for financial support. I am confident that the farmers of the nation will eagerly respond to the call for subscriptions to the Liberty Loan.

STATEMENT BY MR. CUTSHALL.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:

I stated when I entered this campaign last spring that I intended to stick to the real issues and refuse to be diverted by the thrusting forward by my opponents of that which was alien to those issues. But right here and now, I want to depart from this policy long enough to cast the glove of challenge in the fact of any cowardly assassin of character who impugns my Americanism, my patriotism or my devotion to our common country in time of either peace or war. As I stated in my letter last week, I accepted without proof the loyalty of every candidate on both tickets and I hold it an insult to this community to assert even by ugly inference that any man could hold a place here on either ticket who is in the least lacking in loyalty or who is not heart and soul with his country in this war we have undertaken to preserve our free institutions. Any man who intimates that I, as mayor, would not give our soldiers every possible assistance to bring this war to a speedy and successful conclusion is a liar and a knave. I wish to make myself clear on this point, for I do not want to refer to it again during this campaign. My father and my uncles were soldiers of the union and I think the loyalty of the Cutshall family needs no defense. I trust you will pardon this personal allusion, but a righteous indignation has caused me to speak as I have spoken. And I regret the brutal insult to me that has forced it. I have too much self-respect and too much respect for the American flag to wrap that emblem about me as a garb for the campaign, and I would rather go down in defeat than appear in the attitude of seeking the support of those who have sons in our armies by conspicuously parading myself as a patriot. To my mind nothing is more disgusting than an attempt to capitalize loyalty or to seek public office by proclaiming oneself a patriot. Professional patriotism is demagoguery in its most objectionable form.

SHERMAN CUTSHALL.

(Chicago Tribune.)

South Germany is beginning to discover the immorality as well as the military utility of air attacks on open towns. The discovery comes curiously just at the moment when England has formally decided to make reprisals for the wanton bombing of London. Again the German mind shows itself.

Raids on London and the undefended inland cities of England have aroused no protest in Germany during more than three years. That hospitals and schools were destroyed, that the sick, the wounded, old men and women and young children were maimed and mutilated and killed called forth no expressions of disgust in Germany. The uselessness of such schrecklichkeit as a method war did not then occur to the subjects of the kaiser.

But now that British patience and long suffering in the face of wanton murder have been worn out Munich and the south German cities within flying range of the battle lines are suddenly prating of "the slaughter of defenseless persons." Can it be that an air attack as horrible only when German cities are the victims? Do Germans regard aerial onslaughts upon civilians strategically vain only when German civilians are involved? How do they justify their quiescent silence while England and France and Italy were the sufferers?

In no allied country were reprisals for air raids willingly undertaken. Not until further restraint appeared to be criminal neglect of peaceful people did the British and French governments seek protection for themselves by bombing German cities. The measure appears to have been immediately effective. Bombs stirred the slumbering German conscience. What a revelation of a people!

SIX MONTHS OF RECRUITING.

(Pittsburg Gazette.)

On figures for the regular army alone recruiting for the first six months of war has been satisfactory. Roughly it has averaged something well over an army division a month. On April 1 the army lacked 183,398 of the authorized war strength. This strength was reached more than a month ago and there is now an excess of 33,300 recruits.

Regular army figures do not tell the whole story. Sea forces and the National Guard, before its federalization, accepted more than 250,000 others and the grand total of accepted volunteers for land and sea establishments in the six months will approximate half a million when all returns are in. This does not include the thousands of men who have been and are now candidates for commissions at the officers' camps. The American spirit is still what it was.

PRIVILEGED SOLDIERS.

(Montana Record-Herald.)

The famous Russian "battalion of death," praised so highly outside of Russia, are being severely criticized by some of their fellow countrymen. The military section of the soldiers' and workmen's delegates has demanded the dissolution of these battalions.

"From the standpoint of principle," it is explained, "it is inadmissible that there should be in the army groups of privileged soldiers who arrogate to themselves the right to die for the liberty of the country, when that right belongs to all soldiers."

In other words, the men who take an oath to die fighting for Russia are taking an unfair advantage of the rest of the army. They are assuming a special privilege, and there must be no special privileges in the Russian democracy. What dying is to be done will be done by everybody on the same terms.

As long as there are thousands who insist on dying for Russia regardless of circumstances, and as long as the rest of the army indignantly refuses to let those thousands do more than their pro rata share of dying there's hope for Russia.

ARGENTINA ON THE FENCE.

(Springfield Republican.)

Argentina holds aloof from the pro-ally movement which has swept over most of Latin America, and a certain ill-temper which is to be noted is due to recognition of its isolated position. In the main this is a Latin-American question, and it is better for outsiders not to interfere, especially as a large part of the people or Argentina are out of sympathy with the attitude of their government. Whatever the German propaganda may have accomplished, it only needs enough rope to hang itself, as the Lunenburg affair illustrated.

FROM THE SENTINEL

PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Elizabeth Summers, who has been living near Monroeville, will move to this city this week and occupy a home on Colerick street.

The horse reported stolen from George Hoswell was found standing in front of the stable door. It indulged in a quiet runaway and went home. William J. Shane, the young man who fell from a scaffold yesterday, was unconscious nearly all night and his recovery is doubtful. He is being attended by Dr. George C. Stomen, who has hopes of his pulling the unfortunate man through.

Mrs. Joseph Storm, wife of the well-known Columbia street hardware merchant, met with a serious accident last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Storm had been out spending the evening and arriving home Mrs. Storm accidentally stepped into an open cellar door and fell a distance of some six or seven feet. She was seriously, but not dangerously hurt.

The housebreakers and forgers who have been operating in Fort Wayne for some weeks past, had a narrow escape from capture early this morning. At about the hour of 1 o'clock Charles Compas and C. W. Kerr, the Nickel Plate telegrapher, were returning to their home after having spent the evening at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Manning Smith, 353 East Wayne street. They had gone a half a block south on University street when they discovered two men in the alleyway between Wayne and Washington streets. The two men in the alley were either peeping into the window or were about to burglarize some residence in the neighborhood and the moment they saw Mr. Compas and Mr. Kerr they ran up the alley toward the east. Both gentlemen gave chase but the burglars were too swift for them. The neighborhood was aroused, however, and some ten or twelve determined men began a vigorous search for the fugitives, but no trace of them could be found.

ONE OF DEADLY CANNON CAVERNS IN PATH OF ITALY'S ADVANCING ARMY

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD ASKS WAR PATIENCE

Must Give Up Luxury for Aid of Soldiers and Freight.

An appeal for war-time forbearance from the public is made by the Pennsylvania railroad in a pamphlet issued at the main office and which reached Fort Wayne Thursday.

"In these trying months there will be belated trains and the embargo on certain shipments. We expect to do our best. The part of the public is patience. Patience is neither spectacular nor heroic, but it is mighty help in times like these."

The attempt of the railroad to explain to its patrons the exact status of war conditions is taken largely from an address by George W. Dixon, vice president in charge of Pennsylvania traffic, before the Pennsylvania Traffic club on October 8.

In his talk Mr. Dixon calls attention to the fact that luxury, one of the boons of the Pennsylvania road, must be surrendered until the war is over. "In the future, and as long as the war lasts, you may expect to see in our trains a smaller proportion of parlor, club and restaurant cars, and a greater proportion of day coaches. You will also see smaller trains and fewer of them, and the sight of people standing in cars will not be as rare as formerly," says Dixon.

"Soldiers First; You Second?" "To be perfectly plain about it, we have got to move the soldiers first and you second."

"We have already taken off more than 100 trains a day on our lines east of Pittsburgh, and in the future will have to take off still more. We have greatly reduced the number of restaurant cars which we operate, and have practically discontinued the use of more than one restaurant car in a train. We have cut down the number in many instances have been obliged to deplete trains of day coaches to provide for the transportation of troops. "By having our patrons ride in the ordinary coaches instead of parlor cars, by having them all the upper berths of sleepers instead of only the lowers, by asking them to wait a little while to get in the restaurant car, or perhaps get their meals at the station restaurant."

Instead of en route, we are able to carry more people to a train, and so reduce the number of train units which we have to operate to handle the traffic. This helps to relieve congestion of tracks and terminals, saves fuel, and releases locomotives for freight service and troop movements. Freight Has Right-of-Way.

"In these days freight must be moved. In the old days freight trains were side-tracked to permit fast passenger trains to pass them, or to allow passenger trains to make up speed if they were late. But now freight has the right-of-way, because national needs of the highest importance require it.

"So far as our internal needs go, the movement of foodstuffs and fuel to our great centers of population, and of raw materials to our centers of industry, must take precedence over all other forms of commercial traffic.

"In the conduct of the war, imperative necessity of the most urgent kind requires that all possible expedition and regularity shall be accorded to the transportation of munitions and army supplies for export, of materials and food for the cantonments, and of our soldiers to shipboard. These are the primary duties of the railroad, which must be performed ahead of all others.

"In everything we have done in the way of curtailing passenger service we have been guided by the desire to cause the traveling public as little discomfort as possible, consistent with doing all in our power to aid the government.

PASSENGER STATION DAMAGED BY TRAIN

Broken Wheel Derails Cars, Sending Them Against Building.

The brick passenger station of the Toledo division of the Pennsylvania at Marion, O., was in part demolished this morning when a number of cars crashed against it and knocked down the walls. Fortunately there were no persons in the part of the building wrecked and there were none injured. The train was a freight which was running at a good speed as it passed the station. A broken wheel caused a number of the cars to leave the rails and pile upon the passenger station and platform. The road was completely blocked and passenger trains had to make a detour of the scene.

AIRBRAKE TESTS.

Several Pennsylvania Company Men to Take Part Next Week.

The automatic airbrake tests being conducted at New York city by the railways will be managed next week by Pennsylvania men from the lines east and west of Pittsburgh. P. F. Smith, Jr., general motive power superintendent of the lines west of Pittsburgh; T. W. Demarest, motive power superintendent of the Northwest system; O. P. Reese, superintendent of motive power of the Central system, and Airbrake Instructor H. A. Burson, of this city, will be among those who will take part in the tests. These tests are of great importance because of the several vital questions involved.

ENGINEERING COMPANY HAS MANY ORDERS

Will Be Busy Rest of 1917 on Construction Contracts.

The Engineering company is one of Fort Wayne's busiest industrial plants, having orders for twenty-seven sterilizers and shakers combined, to be delivered this year. These machines are being turned out at the rate of one a week and will be shipped to all parts of the country, including several of the Pacific coast states. The firm also has many construction contracts which will keep a large force of men busy the greater part of the winter. At present they have the following contracts in the building line: Y. M. C. A. building at Anderson, Indiana, which is a $20,000 contract, the contract for the steel work for the new Tenth ward engine house, the Ross Manufacturing building at Bluffton, Indiana, a seventy foot guide derrick for the Perrine Armstrong company, the addition to the traction company power plant, new garage for the S. F. B. Co., and the alteration to be made in the Citizen Trust building at the corner of Calhoun and Main streets, formerly the Hamilton National Bank building.

GO EAST ON VACATION TRIP.

The Misses Sylvia Mulligan and Anna Scherzinger, of the meter department of the General Electric works, leave Sunday morning for a two weeks' vacation, which will be spent with friends in the east, including stops at Pittsburgh and New York.

BOWSER MILITARY CLUB AND DRUM CORPS

Will Turn Out in Saturday's Parade in Full Strength.

The Bowser Military club and the drum corps which have heretofore taken part in every patriotic celebration held in this city, will again show its loyalty by turning out in full strength in next Saturday's parade. The military club, which is considered by many people as one of the best drilled and neatest uniformed clubs of its kind in the city, will not doubt again create an impression on all who will witness the affair. The drum corps, an organization composed of employees of the big plant, which is very proficient in the art of drum beating, will do its share in making the occasion a military one.

HAVE NICE UNIFORMS NOW.

Detectives and Information Agent of G. E. All Dotted Up.

Elmer Hathaway Brown, of "When He's All Dotted Up" fame, has "nothing on" William Wurtle, chief of the fire department; William Garbhan, chief night detective; Paul Grimme, chief night detective; and Archie F. Rhodes, information clerk of the General Electric works. These gentlemen donned handsome uniforms this morning and were admired by all their comrades. The uniforms are constructed of fine blue cloth with brass buttons and lapel pieces indicating the department to which they belong. Each has a handsome blue cloth cap also, with a gilded band and the insignia of rank conspicuously displayed in front. Each man is of fine physique and the pretty uniform makes him even more pleasing to the eye that beholds him.

WAS PLEASANT EVENT.

It is estimated that during the evening over 200 people visited the ballroom of the Edison Lamp works on Holman and Clinton streets last night and the greater portion of the visitors remained and took part in the exceptionally fine dance and entertainment program. The affair was an advanced Halloween party and some of the decorations were of the character of those used Halloween night to give a weird appearance to the scene. It lacked the shining effect, however, there being nothing but sunshine and happiness in the hearts of the jolly crowd. The singing of some songs by Mr. Moellon was an appreciated and highly enjoyed feature of the entertainment. "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile," were finely rendered and called forth much applause. The entertainment was the annual affair given by the Volunteer Fire company of the works.

G. R. & I. SELLING BONDS.

The Liberty bond sale on the G. R. & I. road was inaugurated this morning and promises to bring good results. Trainmaster F. S. Fox has charge of conductors and brakemen, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lophore has charge of the engineers and firemen, Division Engineer R. G. Jones is looking after the maintenance of way department, and Division Operator J. F. Betts is taking care of the telegraph and telephone departments. The employees of the company are responding to the cause with even more enthusiasm than they did during the prior bond campaign, which was a most creditable showing.

VISITING THEIR SOLDIER SON.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan left at noon today for Norfolk, Va., where their son, George Sullivan, is a member of the hospital corps in the training camp. Mr. Sullivan expects to be absent a week, and Mrs. Sullivan will be gone a month or longer. She will visit Washington, Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia, where relatives reside, before returning home. James Sullivan is a boilermaker at the Wabash shops.

GOES FROM PENNSY TO C. E.

R. K. Flowers, for the past nine and a half years connected with the Pennsylvania as a clerk in the office of H. L. Bley, general yardmaster, has resigned his position and has accepted employment in the production department of the General Electric works. Mr. Flower's former associates and many friends are united in their wishes for his success in his new field of endeavor.

SURPRISES HIS FATHER.

Grover Scheid, general foreman of the G. R. & I. shops at Grand Rapids, Mich., yesterday surprised his father, P. J. Scheid, general foreman of the Pennsylvania car machine shop. Mr. Scheid, sr., who was 70 years of age yesterday, will, as stated in these columns some time ago, be placed on the honor roll of Pennsylvania employees, on the first of next month.

HAD A TOE CRUSHED.

Abie Hostetter, who has charge of one of the freight elevators in building No. 26 of the General Electric works, suffered an injury last evening which will keep him from his duties for several days. A piece of metal fell from a truck on the elevator and crushed one of his toes.

MR. FURGE RETURNS.

J. C. Furge, who was temporarily called to Pittsburgh by W. L. Wilt, head of the motive power accounting system of the Pennsylvania lines west, has returned here to resume his old duties in the office of General Car Inspector Red. Mr. Furge was at Pittsburgh about a month.

his duties at the car shops this morning.

W. S. Speer and O. O. Fell, passenger firemen on the Pennsylvania, have returned to their duties after being off sick for the last week.

E. Timmis, boilermaker of the Pennsylvania, who wrenched his back while at work yesterday, was absent from his duties this morning.

Pennsylvania Lineman Frank Sweet resumed his work this morning after being on the sick list for the past four days.

L. A. Linker, machine operator at the Pennsylvania planing mill, is off duty due to an injury to one of his eyes.

Jake Braun, sweeper at the Pennsylvania planing mill, injured one of his fingers yesterday while pushing a truck loaded with lumber.

C. N. Brentlinger, chief clerk of motive power of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, is in Chicago on business for the department today.

Miss Carmelia Shuler, stenographer for W. H. Fell, of the induction motor stock department of the General Electric works, reported for work this morning. She was sick a day or two.

John Gatter, an erector for the S. F. Bowser company, is in the city spending several days which time he is putting in visiting old friends and acquaintances.

W. D. Black, general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific, with headquarters in Chicago, was a caller at the Nickel Plate ticket office yesterday on business for his road.

C. E. Miles, chief clerk in the machinery production department of the General Electric works, appeared at his office this morning for the first time this week. He had been sick.

C. H. Rodenbeck, car builder of the Pennsylvania and a member of the Western division wreck crew, is unable to perform his duties on account of sickness.

After a year's absence on account of poor health, Pearl Turner has returned to resume work as a brakeman on the Pennsylvania road. He is a member of Fort Wayne Lodge, No. 134, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

R. E. Kooker, train inspector of the Pennsylvania, became ill yesterday while at work and returned to his room.

and later was taken to Garrett, Ind., the home of his parents. His condition was considered serious.

George L. Bundy, engineer in charge of the building of the Bowser office building being constructed by the Westinghouse Church Kerr and Co., with headquarters in New York city, was in this city on a business visit yesterday.

James A. Foster, foreman of the Pennsylvania airbrake driver department, has gone to Pittsburgh to attend the funeral of a relative. F. Schilla has been appointed to take charge of his duties in this department in his absence.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to express our thanks and kindness during the death of our dear wife and mother. We wish also to extend our thanks to our friends and neighbors and the Electric works, Fleming's department, Ladies and Knights of the Maccohees for their beautiful floral tributes and to Rev. E. W. Averill for his words of comfort.

PLENTY OF MONEY, BUT CANNOT OBTAIN GOODS

Holland Has Grown Fat and Rich from the War, Yet
is Suffering.

The Hague, Netherlands, Sept. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The position of Holland is beginning to show an uncomfortable resemblance to that of Midas, at whose touch everything turned into gold. Instead of the urgently needed goods, more and more gold, not to mention $200,000,000 worth of credit paper, has been sent to Holland by her belligerent neighbors.

This is far more than she can employ, with the result that the gold stocks of the Netherlands bank have quadrupled since the outbreak of war, amounting now to some $265,000,000. This means that the central bank's directly callable liabilities in the form of banknotes and current account balances, are backed by gold to the extent of 77 per cent, which compares with only 17 per cent in Germany.

"But of what use our big gold reserves," Hollanders are beginning to ask, "if our productive capacity is being more and more reduced, ever more businesses are being brought to entire or partial standstill for lack of raw materials or coal, workmen dismissed, the supply of foodstuffs cut off, and our colonies, one of the nation's mainstays, likewise hard pressed by the prevailing circumstances?"

If he need further evidence that the world has turned upside down, the Hollander may find it in the curious fact that his normally much-coveted gold is declined with thanks in Sweden, whose gold exports to Spain are impossible on account of the obstacles in the way of shipment. The unpleasant result is that the Swedish exchange has risen. Holland's exports thither are too small to balance her imports from Sweden. Nothing would appear more logical than to pay in gold for the excess imports, but the Swedish bank refuses to accept it.

From practically the commencement of the war the Swedish government has taken the standpoint that it wants goods paid for in goods, the population needing foodstuffs and other necessities rather than gold. Hollanders are beginning to keenly feel the strange limitations which has been placed on the powers of gold.

Holland's national debt, which stood at $440,000,000 before the war, has nearly doubled in the past three years. The added burden amounts to date to $326,000,000. It is expected to go on mounting so long as the war continues, and an army of some quarter of a million has to be kept on a war footing as well as big sums spent on the provision of cheap food and other necessities for the people.

WHAT RUSSELL FOUND WHILE A GUEST IN WINTER PALACE

Suite Occupied by American
Commissioner to Russia
Showed for What Ends
Backs of the Serfs Were Broken With Toil.

CHARLES EDWARD RUSSELL.

The suites of apartments at the winter palace, Petrograd, usually consist of bedroom, dining room, drawing room (or something of the kind), parlor, and a bathroom with defective plumbing.

Three of us were assigned to one of these suites on the third floor.

It was a dwelling place grand, gloomy and peculiar. I do not know the name of the former inhabitant, but it was evidently a woman because the bedroom contained five chiffoniers, three bureaus, two dressing tables, and mirrors in which you could not only see if your hat was on straight, but if your back hair was done up en regle and au fait. There were many other things of which I did not know the names or the uses—but evidently designed to please the gentler sex; also there was a strong odor of patchouli that I could have gladly passed up.

In the entry near this room was a huge double chest of shallow drawers reaching to the ceiling with a ladder provided to get at the upper shelves. Each drawer bore a written label and I was assured that each had been dedicated to a separate costume of the fair inhabitant, most of them for court use. When I heard that I thought of the folk at home and made a note of the number of shelves. There were 18 in each pile. This eminent person, whoever she was, had 36 costumes going at once, to say nothing of the mysteries of the chiffoniers and things. It must have taken considerable peasants' sweat to pay for this branch of the show.

The bath room had a brick stove or oven about six feet high, six feet long and five feet wide. It had doors that opened in the corridor outside so that every morning some high private in the rear ranks of the army of servants could come along and light the fire and heat the water without disturbing the occupant.

On the other side of the hall was another set of apartments for the persons that used to wait on the occupant of this. I was told there were also kitchens and pantries and that sort of thing; and that each inhabitant of the imperial outfit of parasites had his or her own cooks and other servants. All of which I should think might be of considerable interest to the farmers and workmen that paid for it.

There was one great window in the bedroom and two great windows in each of the other rooms, and you couldn't have opened any of them with a jimmy, reminding one sharply of a Pullman sleeping car window at home. They were double windows, each immovable and caulked around every crack with much ancient putty. But in each there was a small hinged pane giving in the outside window and those together were supposed to furnish the ventilation. It was rather a violent supposition in July, but of course there is the Russian winter to be accounted with, and after you have had one good taste of that you do not wonder at any defenses that are set up against it.

All of the rooms except the bedroom were hung with great paintings, a few bad and some astonishingly good, the works of Russian artists. The drawing room had a magnificent great writing desk in the center of it and a lounge or couch about the size of a baseball diamond, marvelously upholstered and adorned.

But it was in the parlor of the suite that money had been spent through a hose. I have never seen elsewhere so many absolutely useless objects gathered under one roof. It looked like a kind of museum of insane devices.

In one corner stood a kind of glass vase or Babylonian tower of glass vases, ten feet high. At the top was a thing like a gigantic glass goblet nearly three feet in diameter and more than two feet high. This was supported by a strong glass column that expanded below into another bowl something like a colossal champagne glass. Then there was another glass column and a great glass bulb. And so on to the ground I brought to the spot to view this singular contraption more than one expert in the recondite and the strange, but not one of them could suggest what it might be for or what possible use it served in the corner of that parlor or could serve anywhere—unless men should grow to be 50 feet high. The bowls and columns were highly decorated with gold and colored glass but that fact didn't contribute to the solution of the mystery.

There was also in this room an appalling glass table or something of the kind, about three and a half feet high and four feet in circumference. At least it looked like a table but might have been something else. You never can tell about things in a madhouse. The top of it was hollowed out like a huge shallow bowl and the legs and sides and top were covered with gold filigree in intricate patterns. The thing stood on three rather slender supports and it always looked as if it

WHAT MUNICIPALITIES OF AMERICA MAY FACE

War Lessons to U. S.
City Governments.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—In a verbal message to United States mayors, Mayor Thomas L. Church, of Toronto, today told what Uncle Sam's entrance into the war may be expected to mean to American cities. He knows. For three years he has been mayor of Toronto and president of the Union of Canadian Municipalities. The points he emphasizes are:

The municipality in war time must cease spending money except for necessities.

It should not add to its bonded debt, except for revenue-producing works.

It should employ men who return from the battle front.

Any entertaining the city does as a whole should be in behalf of the soldiers.

Provision must be made for rendering aid to soldiers' dependents, without overlapping.

Every civic department must expect the war will increase its work tenfold.

The United States, Mayor Church points out, is not yet confronted by the problem of providing for returned soldiers—one of the largest tasks imposed on Canadian cities—but it ultimately will be encountered and the time to solve it is now. His message hits home because Toronto, which has furnished more men and money for the allies' cause than any other city in British overseas dominions, is more typically American than any other Canadian center.

"Chief among the lessons Toronto has learned," said Mayor Church, "is that in wartime the municipality should spend money only for necessities, not adding to its bonded debt except for revenue-producing works. For example, Toronto is building Toronto harbor at a cost of $20,000,000. The harbor commissioners, at huge expense, are reclaiming large tracts of land for factory purposes. We are expending $2,500,000 on a steel viaduct. Our new Union station is costing us $5,000,000 with an added estimated cost of $15,000,000 for a six-track viaduct.

"These works have not been halted. But we have found it inadvisable to go on with unnecessary local improvements, such as sidewalk and road-building. Labor is high. After the war it will be cheap.

"Furthermore, there will be thousands of men coming back from the trenches after the conflict who must be given employment. As a result, Toronto has appointed a commission of five, consisting of two controllers, the city treasurer, the commissioner of works and myself, to report on preparing Toronto to meet conditions after the war. This commission is meeting weekly.

"All public positions should be given only to returned soldiers. Those occupying public positions who have failed to do their duty during the war should vacate them at the war's conclusion, if they have been eligible to do so. By resolution of council, is engaging no one except returned soldiers.

"In the important problem of looking after soldiers' dependents there should be no overlapping efforts. We have a patriotic fund bureau, a volunteer organization, and also a city bureau. The city pays $1,000 to the dependents of every soldier killed in the war who is a bonafide resident of Toronto. Ten-year debentures enable us to do this, for, though we try to pay as we go, we feel that posterity should pay some of the bills.

"War triples the work of a city's police department. The Toronto department has been cut from 900 men to a little over 450 men. The absent members have gone to the war.

"Our larger cities in winter become the training camps for soldiers. The city gives city property free to the government for use in housing soldiers, and the city's own car lines here in Toronto, since the war started, have allowed returned soldiers to ride free.

"Each returned soldier should be exempt from business assessment and income tax for two or three years after the war, and while on active service, if he is unable to pay his municipal taxes, he should be given time until after the war. While this depicts municipal revenues, the deficiency can be capitalized with short-term bonds of five or ten years. Many of our returned heroes are in arrears of taxes on their homes. Toronto has given them time in which to pay."

found everything up to the standard which I had anticipated.

"Standing on an oak table in the mignonette and roses. After having duly appreciated this most unexpected corner, I inquired where the flowers had come from the utterly ruined vil-to explore. Sure enough, between piles of bricks, shell holes, dirt and a lily would waft its delicious scent

A GREAT CHANGE ENTERS INTO LIFE OF STOREKEEPER

A certain unassuming gentleman in this city who happens to be a prominent dealer in furniture and who up to a few weeks ago had become a recluse because of his physical condition tells this remarkable and most interesting tale:

"For a number of years," he said, "I have been so closely confined to my business working zealously to make my store representative in every respect that wear and tear finally got me, my face became drawn and haggard and my disposition seemed to urge people to evade me. It was then that I began to despise my own company. My bookkeeper who has been with me a long time one day suggested that I needed a rest and that my nerves required attention. She told me that her father had been in the state of health which I was experiencing and that he had taken Phosphated Iron. 'Look at him now,' she said. 'He works ten hours a day and appears to be the happiest man in the world which he believes he is, he says.' 'All this happened less than a month ago. I followed the advice and look at me now. Back in the harness with a smile all the while. I am feeling more fit than ever. When I see a tired looking face the name of Phosphated Iron immediately comes to my mind. I am convinced that it is converting many a worn out body into a life rich in thought, ambition and enthusiasm.'"

Special Notice—To insure physicians and patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put up in capsules only do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets, insist on the genuine in capsules only.

NEW LAW COMPLETES EMBARGO ON GERMANY

Trading With Enemy Act to Stop Supplies from Western Hemisphere.

By GILSON GARDNER.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—The "trading with the enemy" act promises to prove useful in cutting off from Germany and her allies, South American war supplies they obtained from friendly European neutrals.

The embargo on exports from this country could not do this alone," explained Vance McCormick, chairman of the new board created to carry this act into effect. "That law checks the flow of supplies directly from the United States. There was a continuous flow of munitions, food and money from South and Central American countries where Germany had well established and prosperous commercial connections to European neutrals and, through these countries, to Germany.

"The trading with the enemy" law does not give the United States power to stop directly the export of these commodities from those countries, but it does give the United States power to limit it. Any German firms in these southern countries, wishing to do business with the United States will have to show such business is not going to aid Germany directly or indirectly. The law gives us power to license trading or to refuse such license.

"Many such concerns depend on the United States entirely for coal. By refusing them coal we can shut off their trade with neutrals that supply Germany. We can shut off profits which go to Germany, and we can dry up credits which Germany has in these South and Central American countries.

"We have no desire to interfere with legitimate trade between this country and our southern neighbors. We shall be glad to supply coal for the 46 German ships seized by Brazil if these ships are used to help our commerce and that of the allies; otherwise, we will keep our coal."

A large number of important medical preparations will be made available by the act. American patents have been used by German chemists to withhold from general use several of the most important remedies known to the medical world. This act enables the government to wipe out these patent monopolies and permit the manufacture of these compounds in American laboratories.

The formula known as "Salvarsan," a specific for the blood contamination known as the plague of all armies, and in peace time affecting the nation to the extent of six per cent. of its population, is one of the patent rights which will be the first to be wiped out. The anti-pyren fever remedies also will be released for use.

The "trading with the enemy" act will be far reaching. Each case will have to be judged by itself. If there is a reciprocal advantage to be had by the United States for licensing and permitting the operation of some foreign corporation, a license will be granted. Even a German firm in Chile or Argentina, for example, might be supplying the United States with some commodity necessary to the manufacture of munitions, and this firm would be given a license to continue its American connection. Unless, however, some good reason can be shown, all these corporations will be refused licenses and a stringent trade embargo will be put into effect against business concerns whose profits go directly or indirectly to Germany.

FRENCH FISHERMEN SAVED BY AMERICANS

Set Adrift by German Submarine, were Fired Upon by U. S. Patrol.

Base American Flotilla in British Waters, Sept. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Four French fishermen who comprised the whole crew of their fishing boat, Quatre Freres (Four Brothers), were landed here the other day by one of the American destroyers. The Quatre Freres, after being stripped of everything of value by the Germans, including the catch of mackerel, the fishermen's money and food supplies, was sent to the bottom by bombs from a submarine. The four Frenchmen were left to their fate, 150 miles from land, in a small open boat barely large enough to hold them all.

After rowing for several hours a breeze came up and the fishermen hoisted a sail, which spotted on the horizon by their American rescuers was thought to be a submarine and was fired upon. The marksmanship of the Americans was bad this time and the frightened Frenchmen hastily hauled down their sail and waved a white cloth. Half an hour later they were safely on board the American destroyer where they were given welcome in the form of a good meal and dry clothing. They could not speak a word of English but one of the American officers knew some French and they got along handsomely.

Ashore here the wife of a British sea captain acted as interpreter. She had lived in France and Belgium for many years and speaks French fluently. She had the fishermen at her house for tea.

Describing their treatment on board, the American destroyer, one of the fishermen said:

"My, but those Americans made a great fuss over us. When we sat down to eat we had about ten of them waiting on us. I guess they were trying to show us how glad they were that they hadn't hit us. We will never forget their kindness."

When the Brittany fishermen of the type familiar in moving pictures, were set ashore at this village, they stood on the pier and gave three cheers for the Americans. "Vive la Amerique," they shouted as the blue-jackets waved farewells with their caps.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

It is not only the serious diseases that so often start with a cold that make a cold the most dangerous of the minor ailments, but the fact that when a child has a cold he is much more likely to contract germ diseases such as scarlet fever and diphtheria. For this reason every cold should be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has gained a wide reputation for its quick cures of bad colds. You will look a long time before you find a better preparation for that disease.—Advertisement.

EGG PACKERS BAWL FOR AID

Want Government to Make Eggs Army Ration to Give Relief.

VASTLY OVERDID SUMMER BUY-UP

Surplus of Eggs in Hand and No Demand for the Iced Supply.

New York, Oct. 19.—The use of cold storage eggs as army rations will be suggested to the government, it was learned here today, by representatives of the butter and egg exchange of Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and New York, and the mercantile exchange of New York.

A committee consisting of one member each of these markets, plans to go to Washington with the further suggestion that the federal food officials fix a price which would be on the basis of cost, plus 10 per cent. Chicago packers are said to have millions of cold storage eggs for which there is no demand because the supply today greatly exceeds that which existed at the time the eggs were put aside. The holdings are said to be 13.2 per cent. greater than a year ago and the market value is considerably less than when they were put in storage. Wholesalers are said to be facing millions of dollars in losses, unless cost plus 10 per cent. is fixed arbitrarily by the government. It was pointed out today that action making these eggs an army ration would take care of the over-supply.

MUCH OVERDONE.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 19.—Great interest was felt here in the meeting of representatives of various egg boards, including Chicago, to interest the government in a surplus of eggs on which holders are said to face a loss. John Loyett, speaking for the Chicago butter and egg board, said that this committee was scheduled to meet with Food Administrator Hoover at Washington this afternoon. The peculiar interest here was due to the fact that the local butter and egg board yesterday gave out a statement which was accepted as prophetic of still higher prices to the consumer. "This statement said that there were now enough eggs in store to give one egg to each person on every sixth day for the next six months. The statement said there were here ready for shipment abroad, sixty cars of eggs at forty-one cents a dozen, f. o. b. Chicago."

Mr. Loyett said these figures were not meant as an alarm as they showed a normal condition of supply. He was asked concerning the 13.2 per cent surplus over last year as reported from New York, and said: "Egg packers expected to be called upon to ship great quantities of eggs to Europe, but there has not been transportation for them. The packers are not trying to have the government pull their chests out of the fire. Eggs are now relatively cheaper than meat, and they are making the suggestion of an egg ration for that reason."

Although hens were reported laying patriotically during the summer, prices remained at or over the high level of the winter, and this at the time was said to be due to the supplies going into storage. It is now said the storage end was overdone and unless the government makes a ration the speculators in the aggregate will lose millions of dollars.

MILITARY NEWS

RED CROSS KNITTERS

THANKED FOR WORK

Letter from General Mann, Chief of "Rainbow" Division Received.

A letter was received some time ago by Mayor Hoesy telling of the lack of sweaters and other knitted goods by the Indiana soldiers stationed at Camp Mills, and the mayor turned over the letter to the Red Cross, who had none of these goods on hand at the time. The Red Cross knitters allied with the Navy league knitters and made up as many sweaters, etc., as they could and sent them post haste to the soldiers.

Mrs. Fred E. Hoffman, of the Navy league, is in receipt of the following letter, thanking the patriotic women of Fort Wayne for their ready response:

Headquarters, 42nd Division, Camp Albert Mills, N. Y., October 12, 1917.

"Dear Mrs. Hoffman: The following letter, thanking the patriotic women of Fort Wayne for their ready response:

"General Mann wishes me to thank you for the wonderful box of knitted articles you have sent to the men of this division. By hasty count, the following number of articles were found: Fifty-one sweaters, 73 mufflers, 45 wristlets (pairs), 11 helmets and ten pairs of socks. Coming from Indiana, we will send them to the Indiana artillery, and I assure you of their deep appreciation for each and every article."

"Very truly yours,
JOHN E. COULTER, Captain.
Cavalry, U. S. A."

"Aide-de-camp on staff of Major General William A. Mann."

A large amount of tin foil has been turned over to the Red Cross and it is very acceptable since it can be sold for 35 cents a pound and the money is turned over to the work. The chapter is in need of a desk and anyone who has one they could loan, even for a short time, would confer a great favor on the local workers if they would notify the headquarters.

The packing boxes used in the shipment of the Christmas parcels were made by the boys of the high school manual training class. Those assisting Prof. H. Purfield were Maurice Hermann, William Hale, Conrad Scott, Herbert Weckman and Carl Willy.

Will Visit Son. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sullivan, 308 Montgomery street, left Friday to visit with their son, George Sullivan, who is at Norfolk, Virginia, where he is in training in the hospital corps.

Engineers Wanted. The recruiting station has received an announcement that applicants are wanted for the Thirtieth engineers stationed at Washington, D. C. Men experienced as chemists, gas workers, steamfitters, mechanics, gas engineers, blacksmiths, plumbers, fire fighters and acid workers are desired at once. This is an excellent division for men experienced in any of these lines for they will see early service in France.

Colored Men Called. A call has been issued for colored men to enlist in the service corps of battalion engineers. This is the best opportunity the colored men have had during the war for only a few divisions have been opened to them. These units will be stationed as follows: 505th and 506th engineers at Camp Lee, Pittsburg, Va.; 507th at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.; 508th at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.; and the 509th engineers at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Tex.

Previous Service Men. Men who have seen previous service in the United States army can be assured of non-commissioned officership on re-enlistment. This is an excellent opportunity to those who have been members of the regular army to get back in the harness.

Coast Artillery Open. The coast artillery, which has been closed since May 6, has been opened again. This division filled in one month when it was opened before, and it will be to everyone's advantage who desires to get into this department to not hesitate.

MUST KILL DOG. Mrs. J. W. Lane, 735 Poplar avenue, reported to police Friday, that a dog belonging to the Blumhagen family, 2619 Indiana avenue, bit her on the leg when she was passing the Blumhagen home, several days ago. She asked that the animal be killed. A formal notice to have the canine disposed with during the next two days was given.

RELATIVES NAMES OMITTED.

In the Sentinel's account of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Mulligan, 536 East Lewis street, the name of one brother and two nieces who survive were omitted through an error on the part of The Sentinel. The brother is Patrick J. Sullivan and the nieces are Ella Morris and Marie Holloway, all of Fort Wayne.

A PLACE FOR EVERYBODY.

To meet the demands of many who are not connected with organizations which will participate in tomorrow's parade, but who want to march, Chairman E. C. Miller states that a special division will form at 2 o'clock at the corner of Jefferson and Harrison streets. This gives an opportunity to all to get in line.

CUT AVENUE THROUGH HEART OF ORCHARD

Trees Are Small and Food Administrator Tolan Gives Consent.

City workmen are cutting a street through the heart of a young orchard in order to extend Boerger avenue, from Piqua avenue to Calhoun street. Several young trees are being cut away in running the street.

Advice of City Sealer Tolan, deputy food administrator, was asked in the matter of destroying the trees. The trees are too young to bear fruit and yet too large to transplant with any promise of success. The food officer decided that since the trees are young and the roadway is a much needed improvement that the work could continue.

It is expected that a passable driveway will be laid between Piqua and Calhoun by the end of next week.

TONS OF LEAVES.

City Workmen Will Haul Foliage to Homes.

Workmen for the city are engaged in hauling tons and tons of water-soaked leaves from city streets. The storm of Thursday night brought down heaps of the leaves. Sewers are choked with them.

Property owners are notified that they can have any amount of the leaves, which make excellent garden fertilizer, by notifying Street Superintendent Strodel through the board of works office.

The sewer between Davis street and Runion avenue is being cleaned this week.

AL J. FRUIT ACCEPTS POSITION WITH OIL CO.

Civil Engineer With Northern Indiana Traction Since 1914.

Allen J. Fruit, employed with the Northern Indiana Traction company since his graduation from Purdue university, in the spring of 1914, has resigned as assistant engineer in the office of H. B. Northward, to accept a position as chief engineer for Cosden & Co., oil refiners, of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Fruit will leave Monday to take up his new duties.

Fruit will be remembered as the engineer who had charge of the field work in the building of the Wildcat bridge on the Fort Wayne-Lafayette division of the traction company. This bridge marked a new era in bridge construction, as it was the first attempt in its line. The bridge was shoved in place on new construction work without stopping traffic. The shifting of the 337,000 pound structure from the temporary pilings to its new position took only two hours, the work being done by hydraulic jacks. Fruit is now engaged in the field construction of the new addition at the power house.

RUNAWAY TEAM DASHES THROUGH NOON CROWD

William Ferris is Thrown from Wagon and Seriously Injured.

A team of horses belonging to William Ferris became frightened at the corner of Wayne and Barr streets at noon Thursday and started a mad rush down West Wayne street, causing considerable excitement.

Mr. Ferris was thrown from his wagon and painfully injured, receiving a compound fracture of the knee and bruises on the arm. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital in the police ambulance. Internal injuries are feared.

The team continued its mad run on Wayne street crossing Calhoun street and succeeding in clearing a large number of automobiles that were lined on both sides of the thoroughfare until Harrison street was reached when an automobile was hit and slightly damaged. The horses did not slacken their speed, however, later hitting a buggy, but doing no damage.

The team came to a stop at Fulton street and a passerby tied them to a post. The wagon was but little harmed and the harness was only broken in a few places.

Ferris lives six miles out on the Decatur road, and had unloaded a load of oats at the Berghoff brewery. He was on his way to the business part of the city when the runaway occurred.

Members of Ben Hur court, No. 15, will take part in the Liberty Loan parade, Saturday. The degree team will be in full paraphernalia the same as on Lexington day. All members are requested to be on hand.

Denonstation of the Wonderful

FLORENCE HOT BLAST HEATER

And the Searchlight Baseburner for Hard Coal

Beginning Tomorrow, Saturday Noon } In Front of Our East } Continuing Until 10 p. m.
Berry Street Entrance

All Fort Wayne is invited to witness Mr. Howard's remarkable demonstration of his two wonderful stoves. Mr. Howard, who is the greatest authority on combustion devices in the country today, will conduct this practical demonstration along purely educative lines, seeking to enlighten his auditors as to the true merits and demerits of various stoves and illustrating in vivid manner the broad differentiation between the so-called "Base Burners" and "Hot Blast Heaters" and the highly specialized Searchlight Base Burner and Florence Hot Blast Heater.

He will explain and prove by actual test that the Florence Hot Blast Heater is the only absolute smoke, soot and gas-consuming stove in the world. Furthermore, Mr. Howard will demonstrate fully why the fundamental principles of most base burners and hot blast heaters are wrong, being purely imitations of the various J. B. Howard devices.

Mr. Howard, who is known as "The Stove Wizard," is a man of dynamic energy and great personal magnetism. His lectures are full of sound logic and sane reasoning and he never fails to impress his listeners through the force of his arguments and by the appeal of his unique personality. To the person who is considering the purchase of a stove this demonstration will prove profoundly interesting, while to others Mr. Howard's lecture will prove most entertaining and instructive.

The Florence: Nemesis of Jack Frost

With wintry days coming on at a rapid pace, the thoughts naturally turn to warmth and comfort in the home. No need to worry about your heating troubles further, however, if you own a FLORENCE HOT BLAST HEATER. The Florence ends stove troubles forever and besides insuring you a warm "comfy" house during wintry weather, it cuts a generous slice off your coal bills. Mr. Howard will explain the various features of the FLORENCE in his sidewalk demonstration today. Do not fail to hear him.

The Florence Idea Eliminates Puffing

During his demonstration Mr. Howard will explain fully and prove by an actual "live fire test" how the FLORENCE eliminates the "puffing" nuisance. If you have ever used Hot Blast Heaters of certain makes you will know that it was no uncommon experience to come home and find that the door of the stove had been "puffed open" and dirty black soot blown all over the house.

Fort Wayne Outfitters Co.

129 EAST BERRY STREET. 726-728 CLINTON STREET.
Opposite Postoffice Corner.

Holds Fire Perfectly Over Night

The FLORENCE will positively hold fire over night. Just fill the firepot of the stove when you go to bed and in the morning you will discover the same even temperature that existed when you retired.

The Florence Means More Heat and Less Fuel

You can heat a five or six-room house all winter long for very little with the FLORENCE and use a very cheap grade of coal. And furthermore, no matter how cheap the grade of fuel used, the FLORENCE keeps clean. This is because it can burn hard or soft coal siftings, dust, slack, coke, sawdust or rubbish. Mr. Howard proves this by actual test in his demonstration today.

WHITLEY COUNTY COUPLE ARE LONG MARRIED

Relatives Help Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfangle Celebrate Golden Anniversary.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 19.—Fifty relatives gather Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfangle, of Jefferson township, and assisted them in the celebration of their fiftieth or golden wedding anniversary. The aged couple received several nice presents and the children presented them with a rocking chair each. Frederick Wolfangle and Miss Lizzie Hipp were wedded fifty years ago, Wednesday, at Ashland, Ohio, coming to the farm on which they now live, immediately after the ceremony. The Wolfangles are parents of the following living children: Ira of Union township, Charles of Jefferson township, Homer of Benton, Mrs. W. A. Plummer at home, Miss Rebecca at Logansport, Mrs. S. T. Granger and Mrs. Fred Deal of Fort Wayne.

Columbia City Brief Notes.

Charles Cornelius and Alvin Sneeney, of Richland township, were caught with a net on Wilson lake Tuesday afternoon. It has been learned, and taken by Fish Cop Rigney to the nearest justice, where they paid $10.00 each.

Mrs. George Pontius and daughter, Mary, left by auto Thursday morning for Louisville, Ky., where they will remain indefinitely and be near their son and brother, Lieut. Thomas T. Pontius.

The funeral of Samuel Lewis, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lehman, of Huntington, who accidentally killed himself while playing with his father's revolver, Wednesday noon, occurred Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, of this city. Rev. H. B. Leonard officiating. Interment was made in South Park.

Ben F. Brenneman is recovering nicely from his operation for bladder trouble at Hope hospital, and the feared cancer or other malignant trouble cannot be found.

The banks of Columbia City have come forth with a patriotic offer to assist small bond buyers, having them pay $5 down and the balance in installments.

The officers of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school gave a humorous play, "Hiring the Church Chorister," Thursday evening, the members of the Sunday school and the friends of the church being invited.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. William C. Dilts, of this city—a baby boy, Ernest Verlin.

J. M. Carver, who was recently wedded, was the victim of a bunch of rowdy kids ranging between 9 and 12 years of age, Wednesday night, who stoned his home and raised a disturbance about the home. Mr. Carver says he will make it hot for the young fellows if they appear again.

Through Attorneys Gates & White-leather, Maggie Seery, now a resident of Whitley county, has brought suit for divorce from Jefferson Seery, on the grounds of non-support and failure to provide.

De Loos N. Fahl, a farmer of Noble county, and Miss Ida Brenninger, housekeeper for several years for the late Benjamin F. Cooper, were granted a marriage license by County Clerk Plattner, Thursday.

Homer E. Coolman, a mason by trade and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Coolman, of Jefferson township, and Miss Celestia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sheets, were wedded Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Rev. White of the Simons church. They will reside with the groom's parents.

Ford Fleck, son of Supt. A. R. Fleck, is quite ill of tonsillitis.

Mrs. G. B. Widdfield left Wednesday for Columbus, O., and Richmond, Va., to spend several days visiting relatives.

For another time is it emphatically stated for the benefit of Whitley county residents that the following rumors are absolutely false: That the government will seize canned fruits and vegetables for government use. The truth is that the government will take over a large amount of the produce of large canneries, and for that reason housewives are urged to lessen the domestic drain upon canneries by doing as much of their own canning as possible. Neither do soldiers have to buy the knitted wearing apparel made by the knitters over the United States, who turn their work into the Red Cross depots, to be distributed among the soldiers free.

CAR WRECKS WAGON.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 19.—Curt Lesh and his father-in-law, John Crum, escaped serious injury when a wagon in which they were riding was struck by a Wabash Valley Interurban car and demolished. The two men were hauling cinders and the team stalled directly on the tracks of the traction company. Mr. Crum ran ahead and tried to flag the car, but was unsuccessful, and the car crashed into the wagon, completely demolishing it. Lesh jumped and was uninjured. Both horses were somewhat skinned, but were otherwise uninjured.

Government May Furnish Cars to Stimulate Early Movement of New Corn.

No new corn was received at the city scales Friday and only one load of old corn was bought, this bringing $1.75 a bushel. Twenty-eight loads of hay were bought at $18.00@20.00 a ton; twelve loads of oats brought 58¢@60 cents a bushel. The city scales will close Saturday at 1 o'clock on account of the Liberty Loan parade.

The food commission is making an effort to get lower prices for corn, mainly to stimulate feeding and breeding of live stock and also to keep wheat out of the feeding class. It is thought that the government may furnish a number of cars to stimulate the movement of new corn and oats so that it can not be accumulated in the country elevators. The purpose of this step is to get new corn in competition with old as soon as possible.

ORDERS ARE GIVEN TO POLICE OFFICERS

Entire Force Will Be on Duty During Big Liberty Loan Parade.

Chief of Police Lenz has issued the following order relating to the duty of all officers during the Liberty Loan demonstration Saturday afternoon:

The following streets will be kept open and no automobiles or other vehicles allowed to park thereon from 12 o'clock noon until after the parade is over.

Berry street, from Calhoun street to Fairfield avenue; Harrison street, from Main street to Jefferson street; Wayne street, from Calhoun street to Ewing street; Washington street, from Calhoun street to Ewing street; Court street, from Main street to Berry street.

The speaker's stand will be placed, if the weather permits, on the south side of the court house on Berry street, and you will, therefore, arrange to not allow automobiles or other vehicles to be parked between Calhoun street and Clinton street on Berry street during the course of this entertainment. Place officers at the various corners in places that automobiles or other vehicles may not be permitted thereon.

On account of not having sufficient officers to protect all these corners that I have been asked to protect, we will arrange to have one sergeant and possibly six patrolmen lead the procession. All other officers will be stationed by the captain and lieutenant at various corners in order that no vehicle may go through or park in such places and such streets that I have designated above for no parking.

All officers will be on duty until the performances are over or have been released by either the captain or sergeants.

When His Landlady Marries Another.

Fred Kline, aged 34 years, rooming at the home of Mrs. Frank Gunz, 1102 Hayden street, severely wounded himself in an attempt at suicide Friday afternoon. Kline had been rooming at the Gunz home ever since his arrival from Flint, Mich., about a year ago. He professes himself to be very much in love with his landlady and at her marriage to Frank Gunz in August, threatened to shoot himself. He has repeated this threat at various times, and Mrs. Gunz became alarmed and hid the bullets to a revolver that was kept in the house.

Friday afternoon he returned from work at the Heaton coal yards. Finding the house looked he hunted about the neighborhood until he located Mrs. Gunz at the corner grocery. He requested her to come home with him. Upon arriving at the house he immediately proceeded upstairs, while Mrs. Gunz stayed in the kitchen. A short time afterward she heard a report, and going to the foot of the stairs she called. Kline came to the head of the stairs and with the remark, "Well it's all over," placed the gun to his shoulder and fired. Mrs. Gunz ran from the house and summoned help. Upon the arrival of neighbors Kline attempted to reach for the gun, but was intercepted. The wound is a slight one. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital.

The workmen, it was stated, would return to the potteries next Monday.

The chief complaint is in reference to payment for the removal of rock. The output of the operations is 2,500 tons a day. According to the men the company was given warning several days ago on what to expect in case of failure to adjust matters.

CANTONMENT WITHOUT COAL.

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 19.—Camp Grant this morning had only enough coal on hand to last twenty-four hours. Officers and men went out with wagons sweeping up the last particles of coal left on the ground by steam shovels on road rollers. CHANCE TO THINK ON DUTY OF DEFERENCE

Warm Advice to Receive
Due Consideration.

"Honor thy mother," was the subject of a scathing prelection delivered by Judge H. W. Kerr to Clarence Osterman, West Superior street, in the city court Friday morning.

"The young man who has no respect for his mother is worse than a brute," said the judge, in the course of his remarks to Osterman. "Ponder over these things. You are fined $25 and costs."

The fine, which totals $35, was affixed with the purpose of giving the youth, who is alleged to have mistreated his mother, a chance to ponder in isolation. It is expected that Osterman will spend several days at the county jail.

The weeping mother told that her son has called her vile names and threatened to harm her. The young man, who is well known in police court, has faced a like charge before.

Its a Long Way.

"Where is your home?" asked Judge Kerr, of Mike Miller, 27, who was taken from a Wabash freight train Thursday night.

"Hamburg, Germany," was the broken reply.

"You are a long way from home," was the court comment.

Miller told that he came to Fort Wayne from Mansfield, Ohio, where he had been working for several weeks. He registered for draft in Mansfield, but had lost his card, the young man told. He was bound into the custody of federal authorities in order that his conscription status may be properly investigated.

Other Police Court Cases.

The case of William Ward, Martin Roy and James Roy, all living at 1512 Fletcher avenue, and who claimed to have engaged in a combat on Thursday afternoon, will be tried on Saturday morning.

Charges of public intoxication are: Charles Baus, fined $5 and costs; Brisco Holmes, $5; Charles Harkner, $5; Edward Nelson, $1. Walter Helwig and Robert Clark were released.

Robert Carter, charged with loitering, will be tried on Saturday.

Young Men's suits, exclusive patterns and models, $20 and $25.

HELPING TO WIN THE WAR

Article III—Advice to Americans Between the Ages of Sixteen and Twenty-One Years.

BY GEORGE ADE.

Prepared for the Indiana Council of Defense.

This is a letter to the fortunate ones who, ten years from now, will be enjoying the benefits of what all future historians will call the Great War.

You (the girls of sweet sixteen and slightly upward and the boys who are getting ready to vote) will know more about this war when your plump and middle-aged than any one can possibly know this year.

When the dust has cleared away and the large events of the war can be seen from a distance then you will understand that the issues involved had to be fought out, that the United States had to take part, that the task we are now undertaking had to be accomplished.

Let us hope that each of you can say, twenty years from now, "I was young at the time but I know what the war meant, and I helped."

Not all of the heroes are in the trenches.

To prove that brave men remain at home, here am I, a case-hardened bachelor, venturing to give advice to young women, every one of whom knows all about the war or, at least, about one young man who has marched out to win the war.

No need to tell them to knit. They are knitting.

Why whisper to them to beware of "slackers." The poor "slacker," already has felt the scorn of their glances.

Perhaps some hints may be tabulated in the methodical style so dear to professors. Efficiency of soldiers at the front and in the training camps dependent upon:

(a) Physical welfare, resulting from comfortable garments and sensible attentions, provided by young women between the ages of 16 and 21.

(b) Mental calm, induced by the knowledge that all the girls at home will postpone definite arrangements until the soldiers come back.

(c) Spiritual exaltation, encouraged by the occasional receipt of letters from young ladies between the ages of 16 and 21.

From the above analysis it becomes evident that the successful prosecution of the war is not dependent upon the president and cabinet, or even upon the National Council of Defense, but upon Flora and Elsie and Agnes and Jessie.

Don't let any one tell you that war is strictly a business proposition.

We can't win the war unless the hands play and the girls wave their handkerchiefs. Every selected man who starts to France must see himself as the hero of the play who steps in between the villain and the persecuted heroine and strikes the brute to the earth, saying, "Take that! and that!" and then bows to the applauding multitude.

The French weep a little and kiss one another on each cheek and sing the "Marseillaise" and then they are ready to capture some more trenches.

Repressed emotions sometimes turn sour. Don't be ashamed to let your enthusiasm float publicly to the breeze.

You never saw a football team advance the ball unless it was getting encouragement from the girls on the side lines.

Now for the boys.

Perhaps you have heard about the working reserve.

It has been carefully organized under government supervision. It has received the official endorsement of the president. The whole plan is working out successfully wherever it is understood.

The trouble is that some of the boys and some of the parents are still a little doubtful regarding enlistment because they don't know how much of an obligation is assumed.

Here is the plan in a nut shell: Thousands of enlisted and selected men have gone to the training camps. It may be that thousands more will go next year. These men are being called from factories and work shops and farms. Every factory and every farm must continue production if we are to render full service to our faithful allies during the war. How can we fill the places of the young men who have gone away to fight? We must rely upon the boys who are old enough and husky enough to work, but who are still too young for military service.

So here is a trumpet call for city boys and town boys between the ages of 16 and 21.

Prove your patriotism and help your country by jumping in and doing the work of a soldier who has gone to the front.

The United States Boys' Working Reserve is not being organized for lads who have to work for a living.

Nearly every soldier now wearing a uniform could make more money at home.

You are not asked to work because you need the money. You are asked to work because your country needs your help and relies upon you to chuck aside false pride and join in the team work.

If your big brother can dig trenches surely you can plow corn.

Go to the recruiting office and enlist for the boys' working reserve. Then, when you are called upon, go and make good in the job assigned to you and win your medal and wear it and be proud of it.

When the government began to organize this voluntary service among boys, so as to meet the inevitable shortage of man-power, the skeptics and fault-finders got busy. They said that boys living in cities and towns never could be induced to work on farms, that farmers didn't want to have the town boys around because they would prove to be green and lazy or indifferent, and the whole thing was a fool contraption.

Doesn't your common sense and your knowledge of addition and subtraction tell you that if we suddenly take 1,000,000 or more men right out of the productive industries of this country, we must either find a million men to take their places or else go short on production?

Are we going to do as they have done in England—dress the women and girls in men's garments and put them to cleaning the streets and making explosives and wiping up locomotives in round houses and doing all the hard menial tasks? We mustn't come to that—not while we have on hand a whole army of young fellows between 16 and 21, nearly every one of whom has gone in for some kind of athletic sport and is physically able and would be as mad as a hornet if you told him he was a mama's pet and not able to do a man's work.

The boys between 16 and 21 can and will supply the shortage of man-power.

There will be a loud call for them in 1918 and they must answer the call.

There was a heavy downpour of rain. The barometer dropped still further and by noon the wind had reached a velocity of 130 miles an hour. Giant breakers came in from the sea.

Houses built to withstand the ordinary hurricane in the Caribbean were shaken to their foundations. Windows were shattered and doors and roofs were carried away. The streets and roads were flooded with water and filled with uprooted trees. One hundred and twenty houses were blown down and many more were damaged.

The wind abated after nightfall but it continued to rain almost incessantly for another 24 hours.

The shipping losses have not been estimated, but every vessel at anchor around the island was damaged. Thirteen vessels were driven ashore and two were turned upside down by the wind and water.

The island of Jamaica, which lies southeast of the island of Cayman, was struck by a hurricane on Sept. 23. Much damage was done to crops and buildings and nine persons were killed at Port Antonio.

press, who traveled on the same boat, says that the ship was lying at the entrance to the river outside the port of Archangel, awaiting orders to depart for England when late at night a tug stole silently alongside and two unidentified passengers walked up the companion ladder. They registered under assumed names and it was not until several days later that their identity was established by a few of the other passengers.

"How Gen. Gurko evaded his enemies at Petrograd," the correspondent says, "and reached Archangel. How he found friends and remained in retirement in Archangel must remain a secret."

Gen. Gurko told newspaper men last night that he was given permission to leave Russia as soon as possible after his release from imprisonment in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul.

"I was imprisoned," the general said, "because certain letters which I had written to the former emperor were cited as evidence of my ill-feeling toward the republic. After several months of confinement nothing was found to justify a trial and I was released. My intention is to remain in England until matters in Russia become more settled."

BOB FITZSIMMONS VERY ILL

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 19.—The condition of Robert Fitzsimmons, former champion heavyweight pugilist, who is ill of pneumonia at a hospital here, was still critical early today. It was said at the hospital that while there was practically no change in his condition during the night, little hope was held out for his recovery.

encouraging and indicate that the men who have been idle have decided that their best interests will be served by their return to work and they are gradually doing so. I have every reason to believe that Dr. Garfield is doing everything in his power to make prospective wages increase effective as early as possible, although he has made it clear to me that he does not propose to surrender to pressure brought to bear on him by the men discontinuing work, and I am satisfied that he will not allow wages increases to become effective until all of the men are back at work.

"I have hundreds of telegrams from local unions over the state pledging fidelity to the organization and to the government, which indicate the overwhelming majority of the members of the union are opposed to those who have suspended work."

May Force Conscription. "The serious feature about the whole matter is the fact that unless part of our membership now idle should decide to return to work, they will in all likelihood force the government to resort to industrial conscription. I propose to do everything in my power to protect our membership against this being done and I do not propose to allow a comparatively few thoughtless members of the organization to bring this condition upon the overwhelming majority who are performing their duty to the government by continuing at work. And in order that the conservative element may be protected against those who have suspended work I am today issuing telegraphic instructions to the effect that where men are not back to work by Monday their local charters will be revoked."

Miners were said to have reported in many mines in the state this morning ready for work.

RESUME NEGOTIATIONS.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 19.—Most of the 35,000 coal miners who were to have struck this morning in the southwestern field are today at work and representatives of the mine workers and operators have resumed negotiations in an effort to adjust their differences. It developed during the day that many miners' locals had failed to receive notification of the postponement of the strike. Reports were that thirty-five Kansas miners were idle today.

HOPE FOR EARLY SETTLEMENT.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 19.—Hope for the early settlement of the unauthorized strike of nearly 70,000 coal miners in Illinois, was held out today by Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Federation of Miners who said the men are beginning to realize the futility of trying to force Dr. Harry A. Garfield, national fuel administrator, to grant increased prices of coal at the mines.

Mr. Farrington is to meet pit committees of the miners in Springfield today and in a telegram to Dr. Garfield, he expressed the hope that the men would be back at work by next Monday.

"In the meantime, word was awaited from Washington for a decision by the national fuel administrator on the request of operators to raise the price of coal at the mines upon which depends an increase in the wages of the miners."

During the four days the miners have been on strike, a shortage of nearly 1,200,000 tons has been created which will be felt, according to dealers, as soon as present stocks are exhausted.

While federal administrators and miners' officials were redoubting their efforts to get the men back into the mines, hospitals and charitable institutions of this city are said to be facing a serious shortage.

J. P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and adviser of the national fuel administrator, has gone to his headquarters at Indianapolis in an attempt to induce the miners in Indiana and Ohio as well as Illinois to resume work.

DID NOT GO TO WORK.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 19.—While all news sources this morning indicated that the miners' walkout in this section was at an end, when the time came for the whistles to blow, this morning the situation was found to be entirely different.

No miners' train left Terre Haute this morning for the reason that no miners were on hand to go to work and the mine officials who use these trains were compelled to seek other means of transportation. It is estimated that 5,000 men are idle in the Terre Haute field. Not a wheel turned in the West Clinton, Inter State, Bogie, Bickett, Shirkie, Jackson Hill or Murphy mines and belated reports during the morning too, indicated that there was no work at the Grand, Clowley or Fayette mines. The officials of the miners' organization seem dazed by the situation. Twice they have said that the miners would be back in the mines on the following day, and twice their predictions have gone wrong. As the day progressed the determination on the part of the miners to stay out seemed to be more generally reflected in each group of men.

Secretary P. H. Penna, Indiana Operators' association, said: "The situation is much better. A good many mines resumed work with short forces today. In some of the mines usually employing 400 to 500 men the number working runs as low as five or ten or twenty. I look for the situation to work out by Monday."

At Clinton this morning a crowd of miners, said to represent the minority members who at last night's meeting voted against returning to work, stoned the miners' train as it waited at the station to haul the men to work. The demonstration deterred the other miners from going to work and the train was abandoned.

TWO MEETINGS FOR TONIGHT

Mr. Niezer addressed a large audience of voters in the Clay school Thursday evening. Others who spoke were H. L. Somers, Jacob Hartman, candidate for councilman at-large, and Hon. William S. O'Rourke.

Mr. Niezer spoke in part as follows: "The people of Fort Wayne believe in municipal ownership of utilities, as evidenced by their support of their municipal utilities; believing that the people are determined to not only preserve their municipal utilities, such as light and water, I have taken a firm stand for not only the preservation, but the development of these municipal properties."

The city of Fort Wayne has been fortunate in having a municipally owned electric light plant, as it has not only been the means of giving to the people a low rate for electricity, but has also been the means of giving to Fort Wayne prestige in the business world, in advance of other cities.

We must satisfy ourselves that the men who are to manage these important properties the next four years are men who are in sympathy with the development of these utilities. I have made it clear in my talks to the people that my opponent, Mr. Cutshall, has surrounded himself with an advisory committee in this campaign, which I find upon investigation that of sixty men on this advisory committee only seventeen are supporters of the city light plant. I further find that the corporation, of which Mr. Cutshall's official organ says he is the responsible head, is not a supporter of the city electric light plant. I believe that the first evidence of friendliness to our municipal electric light plant is to give it individual support. I have repeatedly stated that if Mr. Cutshall is elected mayor and made the manager of our city light plant, that it will not be in friendly hands, but on the contrary, it will be in the hands of his enemies, and as such, there is a possibility of wrecking our light plant to the extent that it will not serve the purpose for which it was built.

Mr. Cutshall's speaking manager, Mr. Fuchler, made the statement in an address at a Cutshall meeting the other night, that he thought the earnings and surplus of the electric light plant should be diverted for other purposes foreign to the electric light plant. This would be poor business management, and to my mind would be the first step in the wrecking of this magnificent public utility.

I have waited in vain to hear my opponent say something definite and constructive relative to our city light plant, but so far he has not considered the question of enough importance to come out and tell the people where he stands. He did say, however, in his key-note message, which was read by Mr. Robert Hanna, that he favored making the municipal light plant more popular. Does he mean more popular with the traction company? I call upon him to make some explanation of his attitude toward the electric light plant.

The great importance of our municipal water plant deserves the earnest solicitation of our next mayor. This municipal property has proven a great asset to our citizens. The people are furnished with pure and wholesome water at the minimum rate of $4.00 per year; while other cities, such as Indianapolis, which has a private corporation furnishing water to the citizens, charge a minimum meter rate of $16.50. Furthermore, I am informed that the city of Indianapolis pays to this private water corporation $45.00 per year for each hydrant in the city, and also charges for all drinking fountains in public places. These figures show conclusively that the municipally owned water plant such as Fort Wayne has, is a great asset, and a money saver to the taxpayers.

Our water supply will have to be increased as our city grows, and it will be my object as candidate to give to the people of Fort Wayne a pure and adequate water supply.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

Two meetings were held by the republicans Thursday evening, at the Hoagland and Russell schools. Mr. Cutshall spoke at both places. Those who spoke at the Hoagland school were William E. Clapham, David Fogg, Prof. F. M. Price, J. Frank Mungovan and Ben Bennett. Speakers at the Russell school were Lew P. Sharp, Jacob Hill and E. M. Buchanan.

kets, planned to meet with refiners, wholesalers and retailers today in an effort to arrive at some solution of the problem.

Meanwhile householders have been urged by the commissioner to practice rigid economy in the sugar supply. Many restaurants already have abolished the sugar bowl and customers are served on a lump apiece.

The coal shortage is also causing concern. The real trouble, however, according to one of the largest coal companies, is that there is an unequal distribution on the part of wholesalers and retailers which has led to larger dealers and customers to lay in larger supplies than are actually needed.

It was said by this company that New York city's supply of coal exceeds last year's by 220,000 tons.

BIG PARADE ON SATURDAY

Grand Marshal A. G. Emrick, with his deputies, Frank Martin, Herman Nollberg, Henry Myers, E. G. Hoffman, A. G. Borgman, Frank Cutshall, Gerald McKinnie, Paul Glick, Eugene Fitch, Captain John Schaefer, Frank Schaefer, John Edwards and Ben Ankenbruck, have their plans well in hand, and if the street pageant of tomorrow moves as smoothly as the great liberty parade of last spring it will stand out as Fort Wayne's premier demonstration of patriotism.

The societies, organizations and factories are now well organized for the parade, and the schools will naturally fall into their places. The Concordia cadets and their band will make a notable showing, and the women, with their usual show of patriotic spirit, will not fall behind in their representation in the line of march.

A. J. Randall, in charge of the public school division; John J. Wolf, who will direct the Catholic schools division, and W. C. Dickmeyer, who is arranging the plans of the Lutheran schools, report everything in readiness for the school representation.

A Public Character.

John Barrett is the director general of the Pan-American Union in Washington, D. C. This is the official international organization of the twenty-one American republics—the United States and its twenty sister American republics of Central and South America. As such he has the distinction of being the only internationally elected officer in the world, and, therefore, speaks from the standpoint of the entire western hemisphere.

Since the war began Mr. Barrett has been largely responsible for the development of public sentiment throughout all Central and South America in support of the United States and the allies, and in response to the urgent request of Secretary McAdoo he is assisting in the liberty loan campaign throughout the central west.

Mr. Barrett's entire public life has been devoted to international affairs. He has served as United States minister in Asia and after that as United States minister to Panama and Colombia and United States ambassador to the Argentine republic in South America. He was also the delegate of the United States to the Pan-American congress in Mexico, secretary-general of the Pan-American congress in Washington and commissioner-general to foreign nations for the St. Louis World's Exposition. Although his official duties keep him in Chicago and therefore he is in a sense belongs to the central west. For the last ten years he has devoted his energies to building up closer relations of commerce and friendship between the United States and its sister American republics. One year ago he also made a special visit to the European battle front and personally made the entire distance of the trenches in France from the English channel to Switzerland. He has also recently visited the principal army cantonnements in the United States and just before leaving for the west opened the officers' and soldiers' liberty loan movement in an address before the great officers' reserve camp at Ft. Meyer, Va., near Washington.

FARMERS COMING.

A special invitation has been issued to farmers of the county to take part in Saturday's demonstration. A form letter has been mailed to the liberty loan leaders in each township with the appeal to "pass the word along."

The letter which has gone out to every part of Allen county follows: "There will be a liberty loan parade held in Fort Wayne Saturday afternoon, October 20, 1917. You are one of the organizers in your township and we insist that you see everyone in your neighborhood personally, and insist that they be present and participate in the parade."

"Each township will be furnished with a large banner containing its name and motto. Boost this parade and make your township turn out the largest delegation in it."

"Parade starts at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, October 20, 1917. Everybody meet at liberty loan headquarters, 118 East Berry street, at 1 o'clock p. m., where you will receive your township banner. Bring your flag along."

BACK FROM TRENCHES.

J. D. Plafitt, one of the speakers for the great demonstration, is back from the trenches. He belongs to the Royal Canadian Legion. He was engaged in the fighting at the Somme and in the Ypres sector and back of Bapaume.

He is on leave because of trench fever, which threatened his life. Before he returns he is anxious to tell the Americans about the situation in the front line and the worth of an American dollar.

HAS GERMAN PARENTAGE.

F. J. Koehler is a German born American. He delivers his address to German-Americans. He gives the German viewpoint and expresses America's ideal. He is a forceful speaker.

"If you don't like it here, go back," is one of his statements.

Members of the women's Liberty loan organization have made every effort to post Allen county on the value of the great loan. More than 2,000 colored posters have been put out by the women. Literature has been put into the hands of school children.

On Friday morning a corps of young women placed the big "Women help win the war" posters in windows of business houses. The girls who carried on the posting campaign are: Misses Josephine Henderson, Connie Bogart, Marjory Erick, Marjory Rohan, Thelma Bell, Violet Lambert, Helen Cavalier and Philis Potter.

HOW TO HANDLE ORGANIZATION.

Many inquiries are coming into the Liberty loan headquarters asking how best to organize the forces in a manufacturing institution, wholesale house or other place of employment of groups of men. The following information addressed to executive heads will be found helpful:

ADVICE TO EMPLOYERS.

Call your men together and explain to them just what a United States government bond of the second Liberty loan of 1917 is. Tell them how it is secured by the entire wealth of the United States. Tell them how the interest is paid. Explain that a Liberty bond is as good as cash any time they want to sell it or borrow money on it. Explain how the present Liberty bonds may be exchanged for future bonds in case a later issue should bear a higher rate of interest.

Arrange to have your firm subscribe for all the Liberty bonds your employees can buy and formulate a plan to collect small weekly or monthly payments from the men who invested by deducting a pre-arranged amount from their pay.

Get in touch with your banker and arrange for the bank to carry the bonds for your employees. All Fort Wayne banks have perfected plans to sell Liberty bonds in this way.

Conduct a systematic campaign among your employees to show them the necessity of distributing Liberty bonds as widely as possible. Instill in them the desire to become partners in this great government of ours by buying U. S. government bonds of the second Liberty loan of 1917.

UTILITIES SALESMEN TO HELP.

At a meeting of the executive heads of the Indiana Gas and Electric company the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Tracting company and the city lighting plant, it was decided to "turn loose" on the Liberty loan canvass all of the salesmen employed by these three public utility institutions for the period of the sale.

"HENRY FORD OF AIR"

Inventor Sees Transcontinental Air Highways After the War.

Special Dispatch from J. Herbert Duckworth, of Our New York Bureau, Dayton, O., Oct. 19.—Orville Wright may soon startle the world with a discovery almost as revolutionary as that with which he and his brother, Wilbur, amazed mankind—the first practical flying machine.

ORVILLE WRIGHT

In his experimental laboratory here in Dayton, Orville Wright is working hard to make his second great dream come true. He wants to see the airplane as serviceable and as cheap a vehicle as the humble fly.

All this I gathered after a three-hour talk with Wright today. "What are you working on now?" I asked.

"I'm experimenting with wing models to increase the efficiency of plane surfaces."

Then there's room for improvement here? "Plenty. Big battleplanes don't interest me very much, except that I know they are needed to end the war, so we may tackle the airplane for the uses of peace."

"What is wanted is a comparatively low-powered machine, say of 100-horsepower, whose wing surfaces are so efficient and whose inherent stability is so high it won't require a big field to alight in."

"After the war, flying will become safe, popular and comparatively cheap."

"As soon as the war is over I expect to see the whole country mapped out with aerial highways. Along these routes, say every seven miles, there will be alighting stations and hangars. With these aerodromes as near to each other as this, it will always be easy for an aviator to make a safe landing in case of engine trouble."

"While flying one-half to one mile above the ground, a very modest altitude nowadays, it will be easy to glide to safety if you get stalled midway between stations."

"We already have an air route between here and Indianapolis, with air-dromes seven miles apart, and I am looking forward to the rapid extension of this system as soon as the war is over."

"Others besides Orville Wright are preparing for the day when air highways will be as necessary to the commercial interests of the country as are the Lincoln and Dixie highways in the present age of the automobile."

The Aero club of America, to facilitate air travel, especially for manufacturers who are planning to deliver airplanes to the army aviation fields by air, has a committee mapping a great transcontinental route from New York to San Francisco.

To commemorate the signing of the $640,000,000 appropriation for aeronautics, and with the permission of the president, the great sky-road will be called the "Woodrow Wilson Aerial Highway."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high on the north Atlantic coast, and another high area reaches from the north Pacific states southward to Texas; it is low in northern sections, and a low that is centered in Ontario extends southward to Georgia. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred along the northern border, and also over an extended area from the great lakes southward to the Gulf coast, with heavy falls at several stations in this area. The temperature has risen in the St. Lawrence valley, Atlantic states, northern Rocky mountain region and in the north Pacific states, but in the central sections between the Rockies and the Ohio river, and from the lake region southward to the Gulf coast the weather is decidedly colder, with freezing temperatures reaching southward to central Texas.

HER HEART WOULD NOT BE DENIED ITS PRIZE

Dan Cupid Runs Blockade;
Mexican Love Halts at Naught.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 19.—Filibustering expeditions and full-fledged Mexican revolutions can't stop love. For instance, Miss Maria de la Luz Zubietta, 20 years old, called Mexico's most beautiful girl and daughter of the late Chief Justice Zubietta, of the supreme court of Mexico, came thousands of miles and risked bandit capture to wed Victor Jose Velasquez, 26. Besides, she gave up her country to wed an exile. Yea, out of the west rode young Lochinvar's bride. Velasquez is no piker himself when it comes to ancestry, even though he is an exile. How was he to know Carranza was going to win out? He might be holding a fat diplomatic job, such as he had in the days of old Porfirio Diaz, the dictator, had he picked the right fellow for his leader in one of those 23-caliber motion picture revolutions. The bridegroom's father, General Velasquez, was minister of war under Porfirio Diaz, vice president of the republican party and director of military construction for the Mexican government. Young Velasquez was secretary of the Mexican legation in Paris and in Tokio, and is a graduate of the University of Paris.

Mrs. Victor J. Velasquez and Her Expatriated Husband.

This machine has been conveniently located on second floor and starting today will be in charge of an instructor who will be on hand to show you how to register your vote.

Of course this service is free and it is every woman's duty, who expects to vote this fall to understand thoroughly the mechanical part of doing so.

PRUSSIAN PLANS OF DESTRUCTION FAIL

Germany Cannot Destroy the World's Commerce in Ten Years.

Christiana, Oct. 19.—The German plans for destroying the world's commerce have failed, says the Norwegian Shipping magazine, which adds that "there is not great danger of the disappearance of merchant ships from the seas by reason of torpedoing for at least ten years."

The article is accompanied by a chart showing the curve of English and French losses for four months, March to June. "The allies have reason to be of good courage when they look on these results," says the writer, "and they may await the future U-boat war with confidence. The chart curves show favorable results for England, and this may be ascribed to the arming of merchant ships." He believes that the story of 1915-16 will be repeated, that "the U-boats will be crippled unless or until the central powers can find new inventions which will make them powerful enough to gain the upper hand again."

"Another reason for this favorable result," says the writer, "is the fact that when the U-boat war started in March, Germany sent out every U-boat she could muster, good, bad and indifferent, and the English defense, which was ready, reaped a rich harvest and crippled the dangerous enemy for the ensuing months." Failure of the submarine war also is attributed in part to faulty construction of the latest German U-boat.

IN TRAINING TO TAKE A HEARTY PUNCH AT THE PRUSSAINS WHEN THEY GET ON THE OTHER SIDE

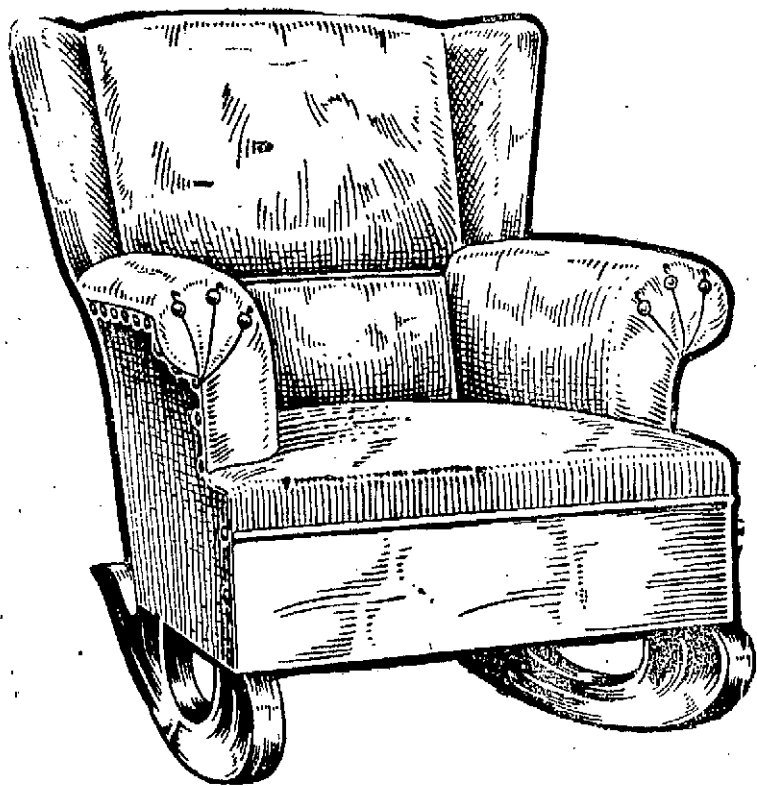

Here is a group of selective service men in one of the great cantonments engaged in what the men themselves claim is the most interesting thing they do. They spear straw dummies with their bayonets and long for the hastening of the day when they can try out their newly acquired ability on the Hun.

Let's All of Us Buy Liberty Bonds

Usually we devote this space to the merits of Hadley Furniture or the merits of the plan on which it is sold—but just now there is another subject that is even more essential to the welfare of each individual than the furnishing of his home. In common with other business men throughout the country we want to urge you to purchase Liberty Bonds. We do this in a spirit of patriotism, it is true—but it is also good business. Business men would hesitate to recommend Liberty Bonds as an investment if they were not investing in them themselves to the full extent of their ability—and if they did not realize that nothing could be more sound and more safe. Business men feel that it is essential for the country's prosperity, as well as for the country's protection to have every individual loan the government what he can. It is our duty, of course. We who stay at home should contribute in order to back up the lads who have donned khaki. But it is more than duty—it is our privilege—to be permitted to invest our savings in this manner. Let's all of us buy Liberty Bonds to the full extent of our abilities.

NUXATED IRON

Dr. James Louis Brown, for three years Assistant Professor New York Homeopathic Medical College says: "There is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to get youthful strength and power into the veins of the weak, run-down, infirm or aged. To be absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original package. Because Nuxated Iron increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous run-down folks 100% in two weeks time in many instances. Prepared by J. L. Brown."

OVER THE ALPS LIES AUSTRIA

So far as natural obstacles are concerned, the most spectacular fighting of the war has been that of the Italians along the Austrian front. Here in the Alps General Cadorna's heroes have pressed forward or upward over such terrain as this, dragging their artillery and baggage with them. The photograph shows a field gun being hoisted up a mountain side by a small derrick. From shelf to shelf it is lifted step by step, soon to thunder against the Austrian defenses. Some of the soldiers have ridden on the gun half way up the cliff, and can be seen scrambling across to the rope ladder to climb up and help lift the piece of artillery.

FRANCE IS FACING A GRAVE FOOD SHORTAGE

America Must Hasten to the Rescue With Shiploads of Wheat.

Washington, Oct. 13.—France faces a very serious food shortage in the near future unless America comes to the rescue with shiploads of wheat immediately, French officials declared here today.

The American government, the food administration points out, did its share in answering this call by requisitioning, October 15, all American steamships of 2,500 tons or over. The food administration feels it is now up to the 22,000,000 housewives of America to fill some of these ships with wheat by using a pound less wheat flour per week for every member of their households.

"The situation in France is worse than had been thought," said a food administration official today. "We should not wait for 'Conservation Week,' October 23, to November 4, to begin this saving. We should begin now.

"France certainly needs wheat at once. We hundred million Americans must make up from our short supply the wheat shortage of France and our other allies. There is a call for every one of us to do his utmost.

"Wheat, however, is only part of the problem. It is equally vital that we conserve also meat, fats and sugar. If each of us will eat an ounce less meat, a quarter ounce less fat, and an ounce less sugar a day, our allies won't go hungry.

"We must make up this shortage. No other country can do it.

"The situation in France today, according to figures given out at the office of French High Commissioner Henri Tardieu, is this:

"Normally, France produces 30,000,000 hundredweight of wheat. This year the production will not be more than 25,000,000 hundredweight. This shrinkage was caused by the transfer of 12,000,000 men and women into military and industrial war work. Fighting back the Germans, France has had little time for growing crops.

"As for the shipping, it has gone the same way. At the beginning of the war France had 2,000,000 tons of merchant bottoms. Five hundred thousand tons of that has been sunk by submarines. It has not been replaced, and there is no shipbuilding under way in France today because all the shipyards have for three years been turned into munitions factories."

Medicines That Aid Nature Most Effectual.

As a general rule the medicines that aid Nature are most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids Nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. When you have need of such a medicine give it a trial. You will never regret it.—Advertisement.

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid."

For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, swelling "water," or uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, got Anuric (double strength) at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it, send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will find that it is many times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

MANY OF OUR HOME STATE WOULD TESTIFY.

Logansport, Ind.—"It has been some time since I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was troubled with my stomach and I tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. I happened to get a book, telling about this medicine. I read it carefully and thought I would try it. I got six bottles for $5.00 and I could feel the change before I finished the first bottle. I took about four bottles and I know it helped me more than any other medicine. I am always glad to tell and help others by telling about this medicine."

(Special Letter.)
Moorehaven, Fla., Oct. 17.—Romance is getting breathless following Florida's first and America's only woman mayor—Major Marian Horwitz O'Brien.
The "O'Brien" has just been tacked on. It formerly was the exclusive possession of the mayor's campaign manager, the political seer who guided her to victory—Capt. J. J. O'Brien, Florida national guard.
Hardly had the ink dried on the marriage certificate when the ex-campaign manager and head of Moorehaven's select council, kissed his chief executive goodbye and left for the battlefields of France. That leaves Mayor-Major Marian with an unromantic difficulty in her hands—she was elected mayor as a Horwitz, and now her name is O'Brien, so what shall she sign to city ordinances, and oh, my, it's an awful mess.
Mayor Marian was born a Newhall.

The Newhalls are quite some folk in Philadelphia, Pa., whence most of Moorehaven's inhabitants came to the everglades a few years ago. She married George Quintard Horwitz, who also was quite some folk. But she never lost her love of democracy, and when Mr. Horwitz died she interested herself in his property in Moorehaven and also in the manager of said property, whose Philadelphia ancestors are unknown to the Newhalls and the Horwitzes.
"Twas "Johnny" O'Brien's hunch that Marian Horwitz should run for mayor, and he placed the dashing widow in the mayor's chair almost against her will.
Success at the polls was followed by success in courtship, and now the former Mrs. Horwitz, leader in Philadelphia society, is:
Mayor of this new town.

An Instantaneous Wrinkle Remover

The average woman is always surprised to learn, after experimenting with all sorts of patent so-called "wrinkle removers," that the most effective remedy in the world is a simple face wash which she can make herself at home in a jiffy.
She has only to get an ounce of pure powdered sorbelle from her nearest druggist and dissolve it in half a pint of witch hazel. Apply this refreshing solution to the face every day for a while. The result is charming—marvelous. Even after the very first treatment the wrinkles show less plainly and the face has a nice, firm, comfortable feeling that is thoroughly delightful and lends self-confidence in one's appearance. This harmless home remedy is used by thousands of women to obliterate the unweelcome traces of time.—Advertisement.

NEW OUTDOOR SPORT FOR LONDON PEOPLE

Shrapnel Hunting Attracts Hundreds to Streets After Air Raid.

By KENNETH W. PAYNE.
London, Oct. 19.—London's latest

outdoor sport is shrapnel hunting. Thousands have become addicted to the game. It begins some time between 9 and 11 in night. If you go out into the streets of London at that time—the chances are that certain bombing activities will have kept you indoors earlier—you will note strange groups prowling about over the sidewalks and pavements in the dim glow of the street lamps.

Here is a group of youngsters that ought to be home in bed—or in the cellar—walking about bent double, searching. An excited cry from one brings them all about him. There are exclamations, a scuffle, then the kids go on with their search.

In other places an officer on leave and his sweetheart are repeating this strange performance, or a group of girls in front of a boarding house door. Several American bluejackets will be seen searching under one lamp, and a number of Australian Tommies under another.

It is shrapnel fragments they're after. Almost any little blackened piece will do, but the man who finds a battered nosepiece of a shell is winner.

As soon as the thumping of the defense guns, which has sprinkled London with shrapnel, and the distant crash of raiders' bombs dies away, this curious spectacle is to be seen in almost every street, long before the special constable's bicycle through the hazy, moonlit highways, giving the word, "All clear."

The popularity of the new game indicates how little the morale of London has been affected by the moonlight air raids.

NEW OPTICAL GLASSES.

London, Oct. 19.—The committee for scientific and industrial research reports that three completely new kinds of optical glasses have been discovered by Professor Jackson. A research on light alloys such as aluminum, zinc and copper, will, it is stated, be of the utmost importance for the future of aeronautics.

FALL RAIN STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Many Fire Alarms and Halting of All Hotel Elevator Service.

The series of dashing showers, which drove Fort Wayne in doors, Thursday evening, carried with them the damaging properties of summer storms. There was sufficient wind and lightning in the storm, which had been advertised by weather experts for a snow flurry, to spread several hundred dollars worth of damage in the city.

Elevator service in all hotels was at a standstill, Thursday night, because lightning bolts hit the heavy circuit of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company plant. The burned out coils were replaced during the night and on Friday all elevators were working smoothly.

Firemen were called out a half dozen times after night fall. Part of the summons were false alarms. Lightning wrecked the chimney and broke several windows in the home of Robert Weber, 212 Highland avenue, shortly after 5 o'clock. Firemen were called, but the downpour of rain had extinguished the blaze, which started in the roof, before the men arrived. Breaking of two light wires on Victoria street and the accompanying illumination as the lines struck the ground, caused firemen to be summoned to that region, before 6 o'clock. The fireworks stopped when the lines were cut near the poles.

The driving rain defoliated nearly all shade trees of the city. Friday morning found heaps of leaves against the sides of houses and sewer drains choked by the leaves.

believed that Feng Kuo-Chang is undoubtedly anxious to be elected president by a parliament legally constituted, or constituted as legally as it is possible to do so under the present unsettled conditions in China. He has held out against the plan of his cabinet to have a national council formed with five members from each province to act as a parliament.

Feng Kuo-Chang heads a de facto government which actually exists in Peking, and has the support of nineteen provinces and the recognition of all important foreign powers. Therefore, the efforts of the opposition in the south to oppose the Peking govern-far seem futile.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside.
This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day-by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash the stomach, liver kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.—Advertisement.

FACTIONS IN CHINA DISPUTE AUTHORITY

Both Claim to Have Backing of Constitution of Republic.

Peking, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Constitutionalists in the wall behind which contending factions in China are taking refuge. Premier Tuan Chi-Jui insists that the republic, which has re-established in Peking with Vice President Feng Kuo-Chang at its head, is the constitutional government of China.

The so-called parliament at Canton, consisting of fifty or sixty members of the dissolved parliament, insists that it is the constitutional government of China, and that Li Yuan-Hung still is the president.

The constitutionalists, now active in South China, under the direction of Sun Yat-Sen, have contested every important change in the central government during the last few months, and denounced it as unconstitutional.
They say Li Yuan-Hung had no right to dissolve parliament, and that there certainly is nothing in the Nanking provisional constitution which justified such action.

Consequently, according to their line of reasoning, Feng Kuo-Chang is neither the legal president nor the legal acting president of China.

There is some doubt as to what Feng Kuo-Chang's own contention is as to his legal status. While he has permitted all foreign legations to be presented to him as president and signs official documents as president, he is

"DEAR,-Stop Your Dandruff by using Pompeian HAIR Massage."

"Dandruff has made your hair straggly, thin looking and lifeless. Your coat collar is always covered with ugly scales. Stop your Dandruff now. You can. Just look at my hair. The Dandruff is entirely gone and almost overnight Pompeian HAIR Massage made my hair attractive."

The success of Pompeian HAIR Massage is in its name—"Massage." It is a treatment, not merely a tonic. The massaging (rubbing) of the scalp wakes up the roots of the hair to new life. This massaging also opens the pores of the scalp to the wonderfully stimulating liquids in Pompeian HAIR Massage. Dandruff goes. Your hair will become and stay healthy, vigorous, attractive. All that is needed is a little massaging once or twice a week. One application shows results. Your scalp will immediately feel clean and invigorated. In one month your Dandruff will be gone. Pompeian HAIR Massage is a clear amber liquid. Not oily. Not sticky. Very pleasant to use.

"Greatest treatment for Dandruff in the world," says J. A. Y. Chicago, Ill., "and I speak from experience. My hair before I started using it had gone beyond the ordinary stages of Dandruff and was covered with scales which embarrassed me greatly. I have introduced Pompeian HAIR Massage to my friends."

Practically every user says— "one bottle shows actual results. Get a 25c, 50c or $1 bottle at the stores and say the same."

Have your barber every now and then apply a careful Pompeian HAIR Massage. Used in over 30,000 of the best barber shops from Maine to California.

TRAGEDY OF SERBIA ONE OF WAR'S WORST

Population is Terribly Reduced and Suffering is Intense.

London, Oct. 19.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The situation in Serbia today is summed up in a communication received by the British socialist party from the executive committee of the Serbian socialists. It says:

"The Serbian population in the portions of our country occupied by Austria-Hungary, is now 2,218,000, according to official census figures published in the Official Journal at Belgrade. The population normally would have been 3,170,000. There is, therefore, a reduction of 952,000, or 28 per cent. The male population has been reduced by 38 per cent. There are now in Serbia 144 women to 100 men."

"In the districts occupied by Bulgaria, the reduction in population is 300,000."

"Dr. Otakar Ribar, the Austrian Reichsrath deputy, declared in the Vienna parliament, June 26: 'Serbia will be saved, but there will no longer be Serbs.' He said these words when protesting against the greatest crime committed in this war, the deportation of 30,000 Serbian women, children and men from the departments of Vranje, Nish and Pirot, and their internment in Asia Minor. Among these 30,000, there were 8,000 women and young girls delivered over to the Turks. Of these a great number committed suicide by throwing themselves out of the trains conveying them to Asia Minor."

"The deaths among war prisoners and those interned are put at from 60,000 to 80,000. After the retreat from Serbia and the reconstitution of the Serbian army, about 20 per cent. died at Corfu. Our losses on the Saloniki front have been about 50 per cent. of the Serbian forces which have taken part in the operations of General Serrail's armies."

"Sixty thousand families in Serbia require succor this winter. They have no means of living except the little that we can send to them. Their sufferings during the approaching winter will be very severe."

Suffered Terribly From a Burning Sensation in His Stomach.

"Last summer I had a bad spell of indigestion that lasted about ten days. There was a terrible burning sensation and a good deal of gas in my stomach. I suffered terribly at times, being unable to get relief until I took a friend's advice and began using Chamberlain's Tablets. The relief from the first was very apparent, and by taking only half a bottle of them I was cured," writes G. F. Parkhurst, Cicero, N. Y.—Advertisement.

WARREN EDITOR STIRS UP HUNTINGTON COUNTY

Asks Why Election Boards Are Not Learning Status of Women.

etiol shrdlu tso f-o hant hof tmme Huntington, Ind., Oct. 19.—Huntington county has been much awakened by an article appearing in the Warren Tribune, of which Monroe Wiley is editor. The Warren newspaper man seeks to learn why the election commissioners of the county have made no apparent effort to learn the exact status of women of the county for the coming elections of Warren, Markle and Huntington. Through his columns of his paper,

Lemons Do Whiten! Try This on Face, Neck, Arms, Hands

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of those lines of care; in fact, a skin eloquent of nature's purity and hands white, soft and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost, and the grocer has the lemons—Advertisement.

which was published Thursday afternoon, Monroe Wiley charges that unless the present suffrage law is held unconstitutional there are grounds for believing that women should have the ballot in the Huntington county contests.

The Warren editor quotes the view of the attorney general and other state officials, who hold that, under the present understanding of the woman suffrage law, the women can vote for all offices not created by the constitution. He cites the preparation being made in Allen county where women will vote in the election in every town.

Since Huntington and Warren are cities below the first and second classes, the Warren man point out that under the present construction of the law the women of these cities, and of all other towns of the county, might be allowed to vote without registering. Huntington county election boards have not let it be known if they have made any effort to learn the standing of women, Wiley states. He alleges that this may be due to neglect.

Monroe Wiley was a leader in the forces which successfully blocked a movement in the county seat town for removing the county jail, last spring, and for placing a hotel on the present desirable site of the county building.

Uncle Sam Asks You to Buy Liberty Bonds

THE flag you love—Old Glory—now so proudly flying over our boys in France, is the flag behind every Liberty Bond. You couldn't go with the "boys in khaki," but your son, your brother, your neighbor's boy, your son's chum—they are all going "over there." And with them goes "Old Glory"—the Flag Behind Liberty Bonds. Back "Old Glory" with your dollars—buy U. S. Government 4% Liberty Bonds NOW! Help the Salesmen, Bankers and Business Men by placing your order immediately. Then get ten of your friends to do the same.

You probably bought a Liberty Bond, or several of them, when the First Liberty Loan was so splendidly over-subscribed. You took a few of your dollars out of the bank and loaned them to Uncle Sam. It's up to you to do more now. Your country needs to have you buy Liberty Bonds until it actually hurts!

Uncle Sam is not asking you to donate your dollars but he is giving you an opportunity to buy U. S. Government 4% Liberty Bonds on installments and you cannot secure a better investment. By so doing you become a partner in this great government of ours. Every man, woman and child should buy at least one Bond.

Enlist every dollar you can. Buy Liberty Bonds to your very limit. Then, after this world war is over, with "Old Glory"—the Flag Behind Liberty Bonds—victorious and unstained as of yore, you can look every returning defender of the Flag in the eye and say:

"I couldn't go with you—but I did the next best thing—I bought all the Liberty Bonds I could afford—as the best investment possible. I also helped sell every member of my family and at least ten of my neighbors."

Mary and her royal husband

William of Orange ascended the English throne in 1688. They brought from Holland much of their quaint and beautiful furniture which the English workmen were quick to copy. A new style was developed that became known as William and Mary. The great popularity of this style is due entirely to its simplicity and gracefulness. Year after year its popularity grows with people of good taste. This furniture never grows tiresome. We are showing some wonderful values in complete suites. Better see these.

Make Your Money Win the War!

OVER in France are thousands of Uncle Sam's Boys in Khaki, and hundreds of thousands more will soon be there. That's their place on the Battle Line. They are fighting for you.

You have not worked to the beat of drums. You have not "sought the great prize of death in battle." But you can help tremendously—now—and show the Boys in Khaki that you are fighting for them in the Fields, or in the Factory, just as they are fighting for you in the Trenches.

BUY LIBERTY BONDS. Enlist every dollar you can raise to fight alongside your sons, brothers and neighbors, who are bearing the brunt of your battle in France!

The greatest service your dollars can render is but little compared with that of the boys who wear Uncle Sam's uniform. They are staking their lives. But you, in buying Liberty Bonds, are taking no chance, for Liberty Bonds, bearing interest at four per cent, are the best and safest investment you can make.

The dollar in your pocket is no more sound than a Liberty Bond.

The Government is back of both. In fact, a Liberty Bond is even better than money, for money can never be worth more than one hundred cents on the dollar, while Liberty Bonds are just the same as cash and at the same time pay you $4 a year interest on every $100 Bond.

How and Where to Buy U. S. Government Liberty Bonds!

Your banker will handle your purchase of Liberty Bonds without commission. He, and all the other Bankers and Bond Salesmen of this country, are nobly doing their part to make the Second Liberty Loan even more of a success than the First. But they can't do it without your help.

Liberty Bond Facts

1. Are U. S. Government Bonds.
2. Bear 4 per cent interest.
3. Exempt from normal tax.
4. Sold on installments. $2 down on each $100 of Bonds purchased; $18 Nov. 15, 1917; $40 Dec. 15, 1917; $40 Jan. 15, 1918.
5. Convertible if later bonds bear higher interest rate.
6. Mature Nov. 15, 1942 but may be redeemed by Government on and after Nov. 15, 1927.
7. Are transferable and can readily be converted into cash at any time.
8. Place your order now through your Banker, Bond Salesman, Postmaster or Department Store—and get 10 others to do the same.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY

YOUR HAIR AND

STOP DANDRUFF

Hair Becomes Charming, Wavy,
Lustrous and Thick in Few Moments.

and Hair Stops
Coming Out.

For a few cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Orland Brown has just returned from a ten days' visit with relatives at Lima, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bowman received a letter from their son, Clifford, at Camp Zachary Taylor, giving a good description of their camp life and ends by saying that he is very glad that he is there for he is sure that he is going to like it.

Mrs. Joseph Hathaway is planning to make a sale of all her household goods in the near future.

Joseph Morris entertained a bunch of Fort Wayne high school students at his home on Wednesday evening. They all enjoyed a good time and the good supper prepared for them.

RED TAPE IN ARMY ABROAD

Old System Makes It Difficult to Pick Right Men for Right Jobs.

PERSHING TAKES A LEAD IN SWATTING

By C. C. LYON.
Daily Sentinel's Reporter With General Pershing's Army.

Somewhere in France, Oct. 19.—(Passed by the censor.)—Until the American military machine over here gets to running smoothly, like the French or the British, there are bound to be a good many misfits in high places.

One of the very biggest problems before General Pershing and his staff just now is to find the right men for the right jobs.

This, of course, can't be done in a day or a week or a month.

To illustrate my point:

The American bakery, which will ultimately have a daily output sufficient to supply the needs of a million soldiers, is now in charge of a regular army officer, a graduate of West Point, who rendered especially efficient services in Mexico with General Pershing. He is considered one of the best line officers in the entire army. Yet he is baking bread instead of training troops. All he knows about baking bread he learned from practical bakers in the army baking school.

One of the biggest machine shop experts in Pittsburgh came over here with a captain's commission in the reserve army, expecting to construct, equip and superintend an immense plant for the repair of trucks and automobiles. There was a hitch somewhere, and he is running an army grocery store.

Ane of the most prosperous merchants in New York, who probably knows as much about the buying of food supplies as any other man in America, felt the call of duty, left his own immense business interests on a few hours' notice, and came over here to help out. He has been put to bossing stevedores in a big warehouse.

A Milwaukee man was commissioned because he is an expert in the handling and direction of motor trucks. But he's a quartermaster now, and the handling of auto trucks is in charge of an officer who knows as much about artillery as possibly any other man in the American army.

The apparent reason for these inconsistencies is that our small regular army, which is running this show over here, hasn't fully realized the immensity of the job.

It's a big jump from a peacetime army of a hundred thousand men to a wartime army of more than a million.

The experience of the British and French has been that "the army behind the lines" is largely a proposition for business men and technical experts, and not for soldiers whose training has been confined strictly to military tactics, strategy and direction of troops.

A regular army officer can't be expected to know as much about butchering cows, or baking bread, or repairing auto trucks, or buying socks, as experts in these various lines. In the British and French armies these things are done by real butchers, bakers, mechanics and fabric experts.

Outside of army circles over here, it is the opinion of the well informed that ultimately the American army will have to come to the British and French systems.

This will mean that America will have to be more liberal in granting commissions to civilians whose services would be of inestimable value to the expeditionary force.

Also, there would have to be a casting aside of many unnecessary technicalities.

OVER THE LINE.

Altenzaan, Netherlands, Oct. 19.—A comic incident reported from the frontier involved a Russian prisoner-of-war who was on the point of stepping from German onto Netherlands soil when he was grasped by a German sentry. A wrestle ensued. The fugitive threw himself on the ground and lay with the upper part of his body in Holland and the other in German territory. A Dutch sentry rushed to the Russian's help, seized him by the arms and pulled. The German soldier pulled at the Russian's legs in the opposite direction. The Russian began to kick with the result that the Dutch frontier guardian was able to haul him out of the "danger zone."

ZEPPELIN ATTACKS STEAMER.

Stockholm, Oct. 19.—The Swedish steamer Flandia, was attacked by a Zeppelin on its latest trip homeward.

The first bomb, which was dropped, narrowly missed the ship. The engines were stopped and the crew ordered into the boats. Four more bombs were dropped dangerously near the vessel. Before all those on board had entered the boats there was a panic, and the captain had to use his revolver to enforce discipline. The ship's company, after remaining for about two hours in the boats, returned to their ships. Several hours later another airship appeared and hovered about the ship for a time, but departed without doing any harm.
